THE SCRIBES ARE AFTER CHOCOLATES

Well, there is going to be a baseball game on Thursday afternoon and it will be some game and well worth watching an afternoon off to witness. The members of "The Chocolate Soldier" company have accepted the offer of the Press Club to a duel, bats, ball and gloves being the weapons, 3.30 p. m. on Thursday the time and the battle field will be the Marathon grounds. Of course the newspaper boys have all the advantage, writing sporting events keeping a ball player in training, however, some of the fans in the ranks of "The Chocolate Soldier" read the sporting pages daily and at least two of them are known to have a bowing acquaintance with John J. McGraw and one of the girls has a friend who on one time rode on the same electric car with Ty Cobb. It is suspected also that there may be a ringer or two on the actors' team as a quiet tip has been passed around the Opera House that it will be perfectly safe to place a few bets on the Theatians. In fact, most of those on the inside know that the Scribes are in for a worse trimming than they received at the hands of the Revue company a short while ago. J. Frank Boyle has accepted the position of head coach on the base lines and will act also as field manager, when he hawks out the umpire, the latter party will surely know there is something doing and act accordingly. All the ladies of the company are going to attend and wear their best bits and tuckers for the occasion. It will be some day and event.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE BASEBALL

The Commercial and the Alerts went six innings in an exciting game on the East End League grounds last evening, the Commercial winning by a score of two to one. LATE "HAP" HOGAN'S CAREER

Columns could be filled with stories of Hap Hogan, late manager of the Venice Tigers and 'tis a pity they can't be gathered and preserved in a book. Poems, too, with the beloved manager of the Coast League Tigers have come until there seems no end, all testifying to the hold he had on the hearts of the fans. One of the tales, out of the ordinary, as Hogan is made the goat rather than the hero, is by Roscoe Fawcett, of Portland. It runs thus: Ivan Olson, former Portland shortstop, now with the Cincinnati Nationals, was the author of one joke on Hogan that Happy always remembered. Venice was playing Portland at the time—it was back in 1909. Ivan Olson was on short for Portland and Ote Johnson on third. Hogan had been riding Olson all afternoon until finally Ivan determined to silence him forever. When Hogan stalked up to the bat on his next turn around the batting order, Olson trotted over to third and held whispered consultation with Ote Johnson. Fans were puzzled, but only for one moment. Hogan hit the next pitched ball on the ground squarely into Olson's fingers. Instead of whipping it to first, Olson picked up the ball, deliberately spat on it, turned and tossed to third, and Johnson relayed across the diamond to first base. Hogan was not what you might call a gazelle on the paths and the ball beat him to the bag by 20 feet. Happy took the joke good-naturally, but his close friends say he never really got over it. Hogan's last appearance in actual play occurred on Saturday, May 8, at Los Angeles, and it was typically Hogan-esque. In the fourteenth inning of a sensational 2-2 game between those bitter rivals, Venice and Los Angeles, Hogan showed his nerve by inserting himself into the fray as a pinch hitter. Kane was on third, Berger on second and Wilhoit on first; in other words, the bases were loaded. Hap stuck around the home plate and kidded Southpaw Burns and the umpire until they counted stood three balls and two strikes. Everything hung on one pitch of the pill. It was a delicate situation, because if the next ball was wild Hogan would walk and force in a run. If it was a high bouncer down to Terry at short, he would hit it somewhere successfully. That is exactly what happened. Hogan ordered a general forward movement of all base runners. With the move of Burns' left flipper they were all off on the jump. Hap chopped a groove ball toward Terry and Terry caught it. Kane was already over the plate and Berger was within a few feet of it. Terry saw it was too late to throw home, so he tossed to first base. The two runs counted and won the game for Venice 4-2.

WHITE IS A GREAT DRAWING CARD

If Charlie White continues to flatten his opponents at his present rate it will not be long before the Chicago Lightweight is the greatest drawing card in the ring. White's decisive victory over Charlie Thomas of Philadelphia, in eight rounds at Boston Tuesday night was his fifth straight knockout. This is a feat entirely out of the ordinary in these days of no decision tappers. While none of White's victims was ranked among the first flight, all were men of considerable experience. Thomas in particular was well thought of, having captured the lightweight championship of France. He had met many of the best men of his class and never had failed to answer the gong for the last round. Apparently White is beginning to find himself at last. He always was a great hitter, but he was handicapped by his excessive caution. White prevented him from showing his real form and cost him a lot of prestige. In fact it cost him the championship when he met Willie Ritchie in that bout at Milwaukee. Early in the fray White planted his noted left hook between the then champion's eyes. The blow not only partly blinded Ritchie but dazed him so badly that he would have been an easy victim had White followed up his advantage. However, White hesitated and Ritchie recovered and finished strongly, although well beaten. White made the same mistake when he met Leach Cross at Madison Square Garden a few months ago. White, a harder and more accurate hitter and a better boxer, allowed the veteran to hold him even because he waited too long. It was only the dentist's grit and determination that enabled him to hold his own. However, and probably would have stopped Cross had he been more aggressive.

FEDS AND ORGANIZED BASEBALL

New York, June 15—The dove of peace slowly is descending and soon will rest on the baseball world. Sixty days more, and, if nothing unforeseen happens, the Feds and organized baseball will be taking a few inhalers from the same pipe of peace and buying each other champagne. There are some who still are skeptical about the probability of peace, but if they will only analyze the events that have transpired during the past six weeks they will not be skeptical any longer. With the exception of Benny Kauff, not one player has done any jumping either way since the season began. The Feds have not made a single effort to grab a ball player from organized baseball and the established organization has not tried to get back a single one of its jumpers. On the surface, the action of the National commission in returning Kauff to the Feds seems amazing. Even more amazing is the fact that it ordered the suspension for one year of Dick Kinsella, Giant scout, for inducing Kauff to jump. Fandom thought that Kinsella's achievement in capturing the greatest player the enemy should have won him a raise in pay. And that's what Kinsella would have received were these still wartime days. The reason why Kinsella was penalized is because unconsciously he almost caused a renewal of the warfare. About six weeks ago Ban Johnson "spilled the beans" in an interview given out in Boston. Later Johnson repudiated the interview. He realized afterward that the time wasn't ripe for breaking the news to the dear old public. Some weeks ago Garry Herrmann prepared the folks for what is coming by saying that if peace doesn't come soon some of the magnates will be ready to join the ranks of paupers. The national commission, it will be remembered, rejected the demands of the Baseball Players' Fraternity some weeks ago. They did it with much regret. They did it as if they didn't fear the fraternity—and they no longer do. A year or so ago they granted the bulk of the fraternity's demands. Why? Simply because they knew that the players would jump to the Feds if they didn't. But this year they rejected them because they knew the players couldn't jump to the Feds for the simple reason that the Fed's barred the Feds from taking them. Many clubs in organized baseball let out to the minors some promising recruits and some real stars simply because they couldn't keep those men on account of the player limit rule. Did the Feds try to grab any of them? No, they didn't. The baseball war is over; the details of peace and consolidation are being arranged now, along with August 1 or 15 the public will be permitted to come in on the "know."

RACE FOR THORNE CUP LAST EVENING

The motor boat race for the Thorne Cup by boats of the St. John Power Boat Club was held last evening and proved very interesting to a large number of spectators. The race was open to boats with canopy tops with glass fronts and any horse power. The class was from a buoy off the public wharf at Indian town to a buoy off Green Head and the course had to be done over twice. Five boats competed and the winner of the cup will not be decided for a couple of days when the time allowance will be figured out. On actual time, the White Heather finished first, the California, second and the Arcella, third. The winner of the race will receive the cup, the second boat a club burgee and the third boat five gallons of gasoline. A protest has been filed against the white Heather by the owners of the California on a classification claim and the result of the claim will be given out later by the racing committee. The following were the starters, with the time of the start, the first turn and the finish: Start—1st Turn Finish California.....7:21:45 7:46.....8:10.. White Heather.....7:22.....7:51.....8:20.. Arcella.....7:21:28 7:56.....8:21.. The officers of the day were: Commodore E. P. Gerow, J. C. Chesley, John Thomson, Howard Holder and George E. Day, Judges. Rear-Commodore F. C. Tapley, starter. The officials were carried over the course by Acting Fleet Captain McMullin on his yacht Clayola. The next race will be on Tuesday next for the Mooney Cup and the class of boats will be cabin cruisers, thirty-five feet and under and towing a tender. The course will be to Brandy Point and return.

THE MAINE ROAD BOOK. The New Brunswick Automobile Association has received the Maine Automobile Road Book for 1915, which was issued last week and is now being sent to members of the Maine Automobile Association and to tourists all over the United States. The new book is one of the finest that has been issued by any State association in the country. It contains 166 routes, covering every part of Maine and most of New Hampshire, much of Eastern Massachusetts, with the border routes in New Brunswick and the principal highway between the New England States and the city of Quebec. In addition the book contains the latest automobile facts about Maine, including those passed at the last session of the Legislature, which go into effect in July; the new fish and game laws of the State, the new forestry laws, rules for campers, a complete summary of notable facts about Maine, a list of the standard through routes of travel in the territory covered by the road book, including statements concerning some of the work which will be in progress during the summer, as well as the best ways to go from place to place; the new regulations for automobilists entering Canada, including the special war tax now in effect, and the announcement of the opening of Mount Desert Island to automobilists. The book this year has three new road maps, completely revised and redrawn and printed in colors, as a noteworthy feature of the volume. These include a general road map of all the automobile routes in the territory covered by the road book, a spokesman map showing the location of every sporting camp in Maine, together with the lakes, rivers and streams, and a Pine Tree Tour map. There are also city and other maps giving details about entering the cities and the best routes between points.
