

XII. BOOK OF PARADISE

195

Sunder, and with delighted eyes,
Heroes of every century
His comrades, roam broad Paradise,
Where beauty, ever springing new,
Waxes around him without end,
To glad a myriad; yea, and he
The little dog, companion true,
His master's footsteps may attend.*

* December 1814.