NAMING THE FARM.

Too much cannot be said in favor of giving the homestead a name, by which it may become distinguished in the district or province in which it is situated, says the Farmers' Advocate. Most farmers who are breeding pure-bred stock have taken advantage of this idea, and there is no reason why others who are making special efforts in producing high-class products or to have their premises appear homelike should not do likewise. It will influence the boys and girls to think more of home, and will lead them to take a greater interest in making it appear beautiful. It costs nothing and can certainly do no harm, but will rather tend toward making the home more widely known, and, eventually, more valuable.

HERE IS A CHANCE.

The City Council and the Board of Trade might do worse than take the hint contained in the following extract from an article published in the Sherbrooke (Que.) Daily Record. The firm referred to has found it necessary to greatly extend its works and a site in this district would doubtless suit the ambition of the directors.

"During the past few years the business of the Jencks Machine Shop has increased to such an extent that expansion has become an absolute necessity. At present about four hundred and fifty hands are employed, and the shops as they now stand are too limited for their accommodation. It is believed that with the proposed increase in shop capacity, business would warrant the employment of six hundred hands. The idea of an Ontario location for the shops is not a new one with the company. The necessity for the extension of the works beyond the limits of the present shops, however, has again brought it into prominence and made it a matter for immediate consideration and decision. Some of the directors are of the opinion that the advantages of a location in, say, Niagara district, are such as to make the matter worthy of very serious consideration."

There is no rush on the part of the Liberal press to discuss the ease with which the Sullivans realized $9,000 within a few days on a Government land investment of $250. Conditions under which such things are possible are suspicious.

One thing about the Frank disaster makes it of particular interest to people in this part of the country. The Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor) some years ago did missionary work in this district, and, indeed, the scene of "The Sky Pilot" is laid in the foothills in which the ill-fated town of Frank is situated.

HAS A CLEAN RECORD.

Hamilton Spectator.

When one takes into consideration the fact that, ever since Gamey made the charge in the Legislature, the Government has had an army of detectives hunting up his record, and without result, one may be sure that Gamey is an exceptionally clean man.

MRS. GAMEY'S CONFIDENCE.

Montreal Conservator.

We had a pleasant call from Mrs. R. R. Gamey, who returned from Toronto yesterday. She had been in Toronto over a month—a month of that city's most exciting history—but notwithstanding the strain that must have been on her mind during that time, she has stood it remarkably well. All she asks for her husband is fair play, and if he gets that, she has the utmost confidence in his purpose, and his ability to come out on top.

CAPTIVE IN LONDON TOWN.

There comes a ghostly space
Twixt midnight and the dawn,
When from the heart of London Town
The lives of life are drawn.

What time, when spring is true,
The captives underground deep,
Beneath the stones of London Town
Grow troubled in their sleep.

And wake—mild, mellow, deck,
Brambles in bondage sore,
And grasses shut in London Town
A thousand years and more.

Yet, though, beneath the stones
They starve and overheat,
The countless feet pace London Town
Of men who hold them dead.

Like Samson, blind and scorned,
In pain their time they bide,
To seize the roots of London Town
And tumble down its pride.

Flow well by proof and sign,
By men unheard, unseen,
They know that far from London Town
The woods once more are green.

But theirs is still to wait,
Deaf to the myriad hum,
Beneath the stones of London Town
A spring that needs must come.

W. G. Cole, in The Spectator.

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly, tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Frank, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Walter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

His Son Andy.

Dr. Andrew J. McCosh was in his college days a famous athlete. He could run faster, kick a football further and jump higher than any man in Princeton. Publicly his father, President McCosh, took no notice of Andy's achievements. That he privately rejoiced in his son's prowess the students learned in this way:

Jimmy, as the president was familiarly called, though exceedingly courteous, was given to fits of abstraction in which he entirely forgot his surroundings.

Once at a reception in his home, apparently forgetful of all the world, he was pacing up and down the room with head bent and hands interlocked behind his back. Suddenly he walked up before a young lady and asked:

"How tall are ye?"

In an embarrassed way she replied, "Why, doctor, I'm—I'm 5 feet 2 inches."

"Me son Andy could jump over yer head," said the doctor and immediately resumed his walk.

Are Men Inquisitive?

At Eaton Hall in the days of the late Duke of Westminster there stood on the mantelpiece of the principal guest chamber, dedicated to bachelor visitors, a clock of remarkable design. Below it was placed a card bearing the words, "Please do not touch." A famous politician who chanced to find himself an occupant of the room ventured to ask his noble host after dinner the reason of this prohibitory notice. "I have often contended with my daughters," replied the duke, "that women are more curious than men. To satisfy me of the contrary fact they have placed the clock to which you refer in the bachelors' room with the notice affixed to it. The result has been that every man, with one notable exception, who has occupied that room has asked me the reason of the notice." "And who, may I ask," rejoined the interested guest, "was the notable exception you mention?" "The late Mr. Fawcett, one time postmaster general," was the reply of the duke. "As you know, poor man, he was blind!"

The Stone Houses of Easter Island.

The remarkable stone houses of Easter Island are built against a terrace of earth, or rock, which in some cases forms the back wall of the dwelling. They are built of small slabs of stratified basaltic rock, piled together without cement.

No regularity of plan is shown in the construction of a majority of them. The average measurement is as follows: Height from floor to ceiling, 4 feet 6 inches; thickness of walls, 4 feet 10 inches; width of rooms, 4 feet 6 inches; length of rooms, 12 feet 9 inches; average size of doorways, height, 20 inches; width, 19 inches.

SCROFULA.

"Scattered consumption" is a good way of describing this disease. It is in fact a real consumption of the little glands under the skin.

Scott's Emulsion cures it. Scott's Emulsion is good for all kinds of consumption but especially good for scrofula.

It heals the sores—but doesn't stop there for the weakness and loss of flesh is the worst part of scrofula.

Scott's Emulsion feeds and strengthens scrofulous children.

Recognized Him.

A professor in the Harvard Law school has a memory which plays him false on all matters except points of law. He cannot remember his men. When the school opened last fall a student who prides himself on his reputation with the instructors and makes himself felt by wise questions in the classroom approached the professor and held out his hand.

The professor hesitated a moment over the man's name and finally got it out in triumph.

The student was highly elated and a few minutes after said with proud satisfaction to the professor's secretary:

"The old boy seems to be getting his memory back. He hesitated only a minute before he called me by name. Pretty good after a three months' vacation, isn't it?"

"Why," replied the secretary, "it's funny he hesitated when I had just told him your name. He saw you coming across the hall and asked me who you were."—Youth's Companion.

The Mistletoe Legend.

Here is the real historic reason for a very pretty custom that should never be allowed to die out. It is the good old Christmas custom of kissing a girl when you catch her under the mistletoe.

Here is the legend:

"Balder, the Scandinavian god of poetry and eloquence, was protected from the violence of his enemies by the promise of everything in earth, fire and water not to harm him.

"The mistletoe only had not been asked, and Loki, his enemy, discovered this, got another man to shoot him with an arrow formed of it. Then all the gods and goddesses mourned grievously, and at their urgent request Balder was restored to life, because he was greatly loved.

"So to the goddess of love the mistletoe was given to guard and keep, and every one passing underneath the bough she held kissed her as a sign that henceforth the branch was an emblem not of death, but of love."—Kansas City Independent.

A Play Within a Play.

Atkins Lawrence in recalling his appearances with Mary Anderson when she was a youthful aspirant for stellar honors in the east says: "I was getting a little stout in those days, even though I was a young fellow, and, as Claude Melnotte, I had a vest that I had supplied with three powerful buckles in the back. These I would draw as tightly as possible to make myself slim. One night I had just finished my description of my palace and knelt down to say, 'Likest thou the picture, Pauline?' when suddenly all three of the buckles gave way with a snap that set the people in the orchestra tittering. 'What's the matter, Atkins?' Mary Anderson said in a stage whisper. 'My vest buckles have broken,' I answered. 'That's all right,' she replied. 'I was afraid it was your suspenders.'"

The Principal Weapons of Death.

The fifteen principal causes of death, with the rate per 100,000, made public by the census bureau, are as follows: Pneumonia, 191.9; consumption, 191.5; heart disease, 134.1; diarrheal diseases, 85.1; kidney diseases, 83.7; apoplexy, 66.6; cancer, 60; old age, 54; bronchitis, 48.3; cholera infantum, 47.8; debility, 45.5; inflammation of the brain and meninges, 41.8; diphtheria, 34.4; typhoid, 33.8; and premature birth, 33.7. Death from all principal causes shows a decrease since 1890, the most notable being consumption, which shows a decrease of 54.9 per 100,000.—Dietetics and Hygienic Gazette.
