U.S. Officials Await Austro-Hungarian Reply to Note

Washington, Sept. 10.—The news of Austro-Germany's reception of the American Note, requesting the recall of Ambassador Dumba is eagerly awaited here today in Government and diplomatic circles. Officials of the administration appeared optimistic in the belief that such summary action would not result in any international issue, while diplomatists close to the Austro-Hungarian Embassy were understood to believe that the Vienna Government immediately would comply with the request.

Diplomats in touch with the Vienna Embassy here thought today there was little doubt that Dumba would be immediately recalled. It was suggested that Baron von Swieclast, Counsellor of the Embassy, would be made Charge D'Affaires to remain until conclusion of the war.

In ordinary times the failure of a Government to send a successor to an Ambassador who had been recalled would indicate its displeasure over the request.

In this case, however, it was pointed out that the difficulties over sending a new envoy made a distinct difference.

Czar's Action Bespeaks Gravity of the Situation

Foes at Home More Than Those on Battle Field

FORCE CONCLUSION

Emperor Finds His Sovereignty Being Threatened by Enemies Within the Empire

London, Sept. 10.—Great concern is expressed by the morning over changes in the Russian higher command. It is considered natural, however, that at a time of such national gravity, the Czar should assume supreme command, as he is both temporal and spiritual head of the Empire in a way not easily understood in Western Europe.

As the Times editorial says, "If the Emperor takes the field in person it is to overcome at the same time the foes of Russia at home and the embattled foes who are striking at his sovereignty." The Czar's action reveals the gravity of the hour, says the Times. He typifies Russia more fully than any other European country is personified in its Sovereign. He is head of the Army and of the Church, the possessor supreme political power, and a living emblem of national resolve. His decision is worthy of a great sovereign with trusted military advisers at his side, and upon them will devolve the practical execution of his commands, but his instinct as a ruler may well prove sounder than any cautious calculations which might have withheld him from facing the political and military perils of the battlefield.

Such a monarch may well instill new confidence into his sorely tried troops and steel their hearts afresh for a victorious conflict with a redoubtable enemy. The Times military expert also applauds the Grand Duke's strategy in having reunited his Northern and central armies and successfully passed a moment of greatest danger. The correspondent says he cannot believe the removal of the Grand Duke implies any change in the conduct of the campaign. Russians can now carry on an orderly and quiet retreat, fight where they please and for as long as it pleases them, until the wet season imposes a halt on their enemy. The Petrograd correspondent of the Times thinks the appointment of General Pollmanoff, Minister of War, as Premier which will be announced soon points out that the imperial order coincides with the beginning of a solemn fast ordained by the Holy Synod, which adds solemnity to an historical event.

Other papers suggest the appointment of Grand Duke as Commander in Chief of the Caucasus implies a new vigorous offensive against Turkey.
