FAMINE AND REVOLUTION ARE RAMPANT IN GERMANY

Allies Asked For Aid—Belgian Advance Guards Enter Into Brussels Today

FAMINE RESPONSIBLE FOR HUN SURRENDER, SAYS HINDENBURG

"Germany's Army is at Your Mercy, Marshal" Were First Words of Plenipotentiaries to Foch; Disorders Continue Throughout Whole of Germany; Armistice Terms Being Carried Out

By Courier Leased Wire. PARIS, Nov. 16.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, in his message to the German army, said that the threat of famine caused the acceptance of the armistice, says Marcel Huysin of The Echo de Paris. "Although food difficulties played a part in the defeat of Germany, the determining cause of the German collapse was the fact that the enemy's army was on the brink of disaster. "The first words the German plenipotentiaries said to Marshal Foch were in substance: "Germany's army is at your mercy Marshal. Our reserves of men and munitions are completely exhausted, making it impossible for us to continue the war."

PARIS IN MUNICH

ZURICH, Nov. 16.—A dreadful panic developed at Munich on Monday, according to The Tageblatt of Stuttgart. Munich had been very calm, but suddenly all sorts of alarmist reports became current. Cries were raised in the streets of "The counter-revolution is coming," and "Here are the Prussians." Machine guns were posted on the street corners and began firing. For two days the greatest disorder prevailed throughout the city. Railroad trains and street cars stopped running, and telegraph and telephone communication was interrupted. Some semblance of order was finally restored yesterday.

LUDWIG IN SWITZERLAND

PARIS, Nov. 16.—King Ludwig III of Bavaria arrived at Roorschach, a town on the Swiss bank of Lake Constance, on Friday. He was taken there from Lindau, a town across the lake, in a Bavarian boat, according to a Zurich dispatch to The Petit Journal. An automobile from the German consulate at Zurich met him and took him to an undisclosed destination.

BELGIANS ENTER BRUSSELS

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(Bulletin)—By the Associated Press.—Belgian advance guards entered Brussels Saturday morning. The German troops, in accordance with the armistice, began moving out of the Belgian capital Friday, and are now nine miles away, according to the correspondent of Midi on the Belgian front.

SOLE APPEALS AGAIN

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Dr. Solf, the German foreign secretary, according to a German wireless message, has sent to United States Secretary of State Lansing referring to the article in the Anglo-Turkish armistice requiring German civilians to leave the Turkish Empire immediately and declaring that a literal fulfillment of the article "must cause severe hardships, especially to poor people, and appears unreasonable after the conclusion of a universal armistice."

The German foreign secretary adds that German hospitals and asylums for the blind and orphans, the orphan asylums caring principally for Armenian children, will be compelled to close, "thus causing new suffering among the Christian population."

The German government, Dr. Solf adds, requests that President Wilson intervene in favor of these German civilians being permitted to remain in Turkey.

Allies to Enter Bucharest.

Paris, Nov. 15.—The Allied forces are expected to enter Bucharest on Sunday, according to Jassy advices to L'Information. A triumphal reception has been prepared for them, it is said.

The Allies crossed the Danube on November 9 and easily overcame such resistance as was offered by German forces there. British troops have entered Constantza, a Roumanian seaport on the Black Sea, sixty miles southwest of the delta of the Danube. There was great enthusiasm among the people when the British arrived.

General Berthelot, who commanded the French armies fighting around Rethyma and later in the advance across the Alps, is now in Roumania.

Warship Torpedoed.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—The German warship Weisbaden refused to surrender to the revolutionists and tried to escape to neutral waters. She was pursued and torpedoed by revolutionary battleships and the entire crew of 300 men, including many cadets perished, according to The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin.

The Weisbaden, which is mentioned in the above, was supposed to have been sunk during the Jutland battle, May 31, June 1, 1916. She was a light cruiser of 3,800 tons and was built in 1914.

IN EX-KAISER WILLIAM'S PALMY DAYS IN 1909. The picture shows the former German Emperor being received at De Steeg, Holland, on a visit to Midachten Castle. The picture group shows Count Aldenburg-Bentnick, owner of the castle, with hat in hand. William is again a guest but under less auspicious circumstances, as a refugee from a nation's hate.

THE KAISER—THEN AND NOW

By Courier Leased Wire. Amsterdam, Holland, Nov. 15.—William Hohenzollern has not been interned by the Netherlands government, being regarded by it as a distinguished foreigner who has sought refuge in Holland, and has a claim to protection. He is now in a private house, free to go where he likes, but the fact that his safe actually has been interned restricts his movements.

Count von Bentnick, claimant of the former crown prince's title as the former emperor, had caused the soldiers when they abdicated. Nothing is known at the castle concerning the former emperor's future movements, or as to the whereabouts of the former empress.

The former emperor was seen to-day strolling about the castle grounds with Count von Bentnick and the count's son. He wore a gray military overcoat. This afternoon he was shown over the castle of Zuylenstein, a mile away, and the residence of Count von Bentnick's brother.

The members of the former emperor's household, surrendered their swords to Dutch officers. They previously had surrendered their other arms and today's formality completed the act of internment.

Crown Prince Intervene

London, Nov. 16.—Former Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany has been interned at the castle owned by his friend Count Albert von Bentnick at Swalmen, a town in the province of Limburg, Holland, according to an Amsterdam dispatch today to the Exchange Telegraph company. It is reported that his wife is with him.

Major McLean is Awarded the Military Cross

Major H. J. G. McLean, 10th Battalion, has been awarded the Military Cross for his services in the city to-day. The information is contained in a letter from Lieut. Dean M. Andrews, who was slightly decorated only a few weeks ago, to his father, Mr. W. N. Andrews.

Major McLean was appointed senior major of the 10th Battalion immediately upon its formation in November, 1915. He was formerly chief draughtsman at the Waterloo Engine Works. He is now attached to the 4th Battalion, as is Lieut. Andrews also.

With no more noise or formal ceremony than attended the ex-Kaiser's entrance into Holland, the honor flag was raised over the city to-day. The flag, which is the old Postoffice flag, and the huge banner of red and white, with its five blue bars, this morning proclaimed to thousands the news that Brantford had gone over the top in its Victory Loan campaign. South Downside and Paris have done likewise. Brantford and Paris, however, Brantford, has been awarded the Military Cross, according to news received in the city to-day. The information is contained in a letter from Lieut. Dean M. Andrews, who was slightly decorated only a few weeks ago, to his father, Mr. W. N. Andrews.

Major McLean was appointed senior major of the 10th Battalion immediately upon its formation in November, 1915. He was formerly chief draughtsman at the Waterloo Engine Works. He is now attached to the 4th Battalion, as is Lieut. Andrews also.

its objective of $280,000, and would probably raise $380,000 in all. Brantford telephoned that with a large list of applications now on their way to local headquarters, that township will be very near its full quota. Brantford and Oakland townships are also coming forward rapidly, and promise to be well in the running. The former municipality will receive a portion of the applications from the city factory employees, as a number of the latter live outside the city's limits. Brantford and Brant County are once more going to uphold the reputation they have so often and so creditably sustained in the past. It is impossible to give the exact figures, but no doubt can remain that city and county alike will go over the top by a very considerable sum. Many who have held back, until the last moment are now rushing to get in before the lists are closed. Fully appreciating the fact that they probably never again will they have the opportunity of acquiring securities of the Dominion of Canada on a 5% per cent. basis.

If you haven't bought yet, to-day is your last chance. All the banks of the city will be open until six o'clock, in order to facilitate payment, while the loan headquarters will be open until the early hours of the morning.

SUNDAY BULLETIN SERVICE ENDED

For the first time in over four years the Courier Leased wire service will be discontinued to-morrow (Sunday). The Courier has to thank large numbers of citizens for words of praise in connection with said bulletin.

MAJOR H. J. G. McLEAN, M.C.

DUNCAN GIVEN SENTENCE OF EIGHTEEN YEARS

Found Guilty of Manslaughter in Connection With Death of Isaacs GOES TO KINGSTON

The sentence of the court is that you shall be imprisoned in the Provincial Penitentiary for a period of eighteen years.

With unchanging countenance, his head bowed slightly forward, and his hands folded in front of him, George Duncan received the above sentence at the hands of Mr. Justice Lemox in the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon, after a verdict of manslaughter, with a recommendation for mercy, had been returned against him by the jury. Duncan gave evidence of no emotion by either word or sign as sentence was passed upon him, but Mrs. Duncan, who was seated among the spectators, burst into tears and had to be led from the court room, as her husband was escorted from the dock under the guard of two constables.

Jury Out Four Hours.

The jury's verdict was returned after between three and four hours' deliberation. Mr. Justice Lemox concluded his charge to the jury about twelve and they retired. At twenty minutes after three they returned to ask His Lordship what verdicts they were empowered to return. The judge explained that they must find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter, in which case the penalty must be death; they must find him guilty of manslaughter, or they might acquit him. The jury again retired, and at four o'clock sharp re-entered the room.

Duncan was pale and haggard and showed frequent signs of anxiety while the jury was out; he changed his position in the dock several times, and gave a sudden start as the jury returned for the second time. After the verdict was announced, he appeared to regain control over his emotions, and maintained an impassive bearing as the judge addressed him.

The Verdict.

The jury's verdict read: "We, the jury of the County of Brant, in the case of Rex versus Duncan do find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter, with a strong plea for mercy owing to the interference of the deceased Isaacs with the peace and happiness of the prisoner's home."

Defense's Plea.

His Lordship asked Mr. Kelly, counsel for the defence, if he had anything to say. Mr. Kelly stated that he wished to emphasize the possible insanity of the prisoner. He pointed out the fact that the prisoner had Indian blood in his veins, and the effect of liquor was to make him a fiercer than on his normal condition.

Judge's Address.

If an error were to be made in passing sentence on the prisoner, Mr. Justice Lemox expressed the opinion that it should be made on the side of leniency. One of the objects of the law is pointed out where capital punishment was not imposed, was to bring about the reformation of the criminal. No citizen should be allowed to take the law into his own hands. However aggravating the circumstances, legal redress was obtainable. He considered that the jury had taken an exceedingly lenient view of the case, and expressed pleasure that they had done so, believing that the ends of justice would be served without a verdict of murder. The prisoner had been aggravated to such an extent that his reason had been temporarily destroyed.

While willing to give a lenient consideration to the plea advanced by the counsel for the defence, and anxious to be as merciful as possible, His Lordship could not pass over the case without expressing his utter disapproval of the brutality with which Duncan had attacked Isaacs. No plea could be raised to justify his conduct; the assault seemed to have been deliberate, as adduced by the evidence of Duncan's having continued it after taking off his collar.

His Lordship asked the prisoner if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him. Mr. Kelly replied for his client in the negative. The judge then passed sentence of eighteen months. (Continued on Page 6).
