T. T. SHAW, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

Communication

Editor Reporter—I notice in your last week's issue a long letter setting forth the grievances of the boys of our village. I don't think it represents the situation fairly. We don't think the attitude of the great majority is at all unfriendly to the boys, but rather the opposite and as to the Council, the fact that they granted ten dollars towards securing a field for a sporting ground, does not bear out the statement of your correspondent. It is not my purpose to stand sponsor for the churches, but I believe they offer some inducements for young men to spend part of their time there. We believe on the whole, the young men and boys are well treated and have a large degree of liberty. They even are allowed to play ball on our main street and this and other privileges will be allowed if it is kept in proper bounds, but blocking the sidewalks and making it unpleasant for the public and residents, as referred to in Citizen's letter, will not be allowed. Also, massing in front of the Mission doors and climbing up in the windows is not creditable to those that do it and is not worthy of any defence and we hope the parties that condone those things are very few. It seems there are cranks in connection with every institution, moral cranks, sport cranks and other varieties. However, two or three cranks don't make a church: a few cranks don't constitute the whole citizenship of Athens and a few old cranks don't make up the young manhood and boyhood of our village. I believe the young men of our village on the whole are a good bunch and will compare favorably with that of any other place, also, the people that make up our population are second to none, cranks to the contrary however. Now, Mr Editor, it seems hard to reconcile people that hold extreme and opposite views and we hope that class will be less in evidence.

Fisher—Moore

The home of Mr and Mrs J. D. Wetherell, Lyndhurst, was the scene of a pretty June wedding at 8:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening when the marriage was solemnized by Miss Clara B. Moore, second daughter of Mr and Mrs W. P. Moore, to Dalton W. Fisher, of Regina, Sask, Rev J. A. Waddell officiating. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Mrs S. P. Moore, the bridal couple entered, unattended. The bride was wearing a pretty gown of ivory satin over which was worn a tulle veil, arranged as a Juliet cap, with sprays of oysters. She carried a bridal shower of pale pink carnations and fern.

When the dainty luncheon was finished, short speeches by a number of the guests were enjoyed by all. The bride received many valuable gifts which testified to the high esteem in which she was held by all who knew her.

Among the many gifts was a cabinet of cut glass from the staff of the Royal Bank of Regina, in whose service Miss Moore has been employed for the past four years.

The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver.

Mr and Mrs Fisher will spend a few days in Montreal before leaving for their home in Regina.

Hamilton—Windsor

At the Metropolitan church, Toronto on June 30th, the Rev John W. Aikens solemnized the marriage between Annie, youngest daughter of the late Robert Windsor and Mrs Windsor, of Stouffville, and Dr G. H. Ross Hamilton, formerly of Athens.

Dr and Mrs Hamilton left New York, July 3rd, on the Philadelphia, bound for Liverpool. Dr Hamilton has joined the Royal Army Medical Corps.

Pupils Race to Pay Salaries of School Teachers

Down in South Indian they have discovered a way to carry on the schools without the government grant, withheld because of non-compliance with regulations. South Indian was one of the places from which the government grant was withheld as the result of the Merchant report, so the French Separate School supporters who constitute most of the population of the place held a picnic on Wednesday to raise funds.

"It is a deplorable state of affairs," said Rev Father Raymond, of Castleman, in the course of a short address, "when we have to arrange foot races between our boys and girls in order to pay the teachers' salaries."

There were games and a band, and speeches by Messrs Racine of Castleman, McPhail of Russell, Merkle of Castleman, Emile Menard of Russell, and Dr Desrosiers of Castleman. Mr Menard talked about the religious and educational rights of the French in Ontario. He said the French were ready to make sacrifices for their language and were ready to fight to the end.

In Memory of Mrs. Glenn Sherman

'Twas a cold and dreary morning
On the third day of last May,
When Annie Yates' spirit
To its Father sped away.

Now her parents stood beside her
With their hearts so sick and sore,
But the Master took her to himself
And dear Annie was no more.

I hear a voice you cannot hear
Which says, I must not stay,
I see a hand you cannot see
Which beckons me away.

Dear husband, tell me who he is
And what he has to bring,
I want to see his face so much
And then her soul took wings.

Around the room the sculptor's child
Went wandering to and fro,
But Annie stood before her God
With garments white as snow.

Upon some pathway of your life
"Dear little Ann," He said,
"You'll surely see me face to face,"
And then her spirit fled.

Then ask not if she smiles or frowns
But take just what she brings,
Or she will slip away from you
Because her feet has wings.

Now Annie's soul has gone to rest,
Away from earthly care and pain;
Her Master called her spirit home,
We would not bring her back again.

We do not ask that she once more
Should bear the burden here below,
Nor pass again through toil and tears
But oh, dear Lord we miss her so.

We miss her ready sympathy
Her gentle hand, her kindly face,
Her goodness and her love to all,
There is no one can fill her place.

This dear, sweet soul has gone to rest,
Has gone to claim her just reward,
She knoweth now her heavenly peace,
She's with her Master, Friend and Lord.
