SOCIALISM VERSUS

(St. John, N. B., Standard.)

Syndicalism which toomed up in the recent coal strike in England, and in the Lourence strike in the United States, is meeting with strong opposition from the Social isis as altogether contrary to their plan or campaign. The con plast of poli cal power as the line o' er no nie revolution has been the undation upon which Socialist parties all over the world nave been built up. The Syndicalist theory, on the other hand, stand's for the capture of the industries of the earth by the working class acting through the unions. Not ballots, but the general strike, as the highest form of direct action, supplemented by such minor forms of warfare, as sabrtage and the hoycott are to overthrow the preiene social structure.

The Syndicalist philosophy of fireet action has recently the influence of the wife of a West-minster magistrate, Pagst was permitted to play before His Majesty.

The boy's achievements, chronicled in the newspapers, caught the eye of the terming, tell one master you were merming, tell one master you were menting tell one master you were the played the intermeze four hours yesterday. You want to get possession of the minstruments of production? You have to go is to declare that you have to go is to declare that you were. It the master protests, thave to do is to declare that you know the tetery in which you work. It the master protests, i ca him out. You say you don't be the find product of your toil? "Let the find product of your toil?" the time one work as you can be the time. You say the machinery ruins your health? Ruin the machinery for a while. You say you are treated like dut? "Put's me dut into the product." Against this beautifully simple ospel of force, as the New York it terms it, can be out the resolution and product of the constitution of the workmanship of Stradivarius, and the the workmanship of Stradivarius, and the two workmanship of Stradivarius, and the two workmanship of Stradivarius, and the most profession of the proformance Rubelik said to Paget, "You must let me give you a violin," and the boy, with eyes filled with tears, nodded his acceptance of the offer.

The little party went to a violin shop and after trying one or two lastruments. Rubelik selected for his profession with a strong and beautiful tone, upon which the youth played the intermeze once again, and again the little the praises of Rubelik. Instructions were given that a good studence, shall constitute a cause for xpusion from the ranks of the Socialist party.

Already the Syndicalist in ive-first played the barring the inscription: "To David Paget, with best wishes for his promising future, from Jan Kubelik, May 25, 1911."

Riding the South Sea Surf.
"I shall never forget the first big wave I caught out there in the deep water. I saw it coming, turned my back on it and paddled for dear life. Faster and faster my board went, un-til it seemed my arms would drop off. What was happening behind me I could not tell. One cannot look be-hind and paddle the windmill stroke. I heard the crest of the wave hissing and churning, and then my board was lifted and flung forward. I scarcely knew what happened the first half minute. Though I kept my eyes open, I could not see anything, for I was buried in the rushing white of the crest. But I did not mind. I was chiefly conscious of ecstatic bliss at having caught the wave. At the end of the half minute, however, I began to see things and to breathe. I saw that three feet of the nose of my board was clear out of water and riding on the air. I shifted my weight forward and made the nose come down. Then I lay, quite at rest in the midst of the wild movement, and watched the shore and the bathers on the beach grow distinct. I didn't cover quite a quarter of a mile on that wave, because to prevent the board from diving I shift-ed my weight back, but shifted it too far and fell down the rear slope of the
