NORTHERN GAMES.

The Seventh Annual Celebration
at Lucknow.

The New Grounds—The Games—The Tug of War—The Concert—Presentation to Mr. John Drungole.

Oh, Canada, Ho! ye woe!
Altho' we see no line
Within thy wide domain their beats
Nae truer heart than mine.
But when a day like this comes round,
Auld Scotia has her claims.
The thistle eye comes uppermost,
I'll gang tae see the games.

The above verse adorned the front page of the programme issued for the seventh annual celebration of the Northern Caledonian games which were held in Lucknow on Wednesday last, Sept. 14th, and when it is said that the patriotic sentiment therein contained filled thousands of hearts on the day of the great games, the truth is not erred from.

The Lucknow games have attained continental celebrity, and with just cause. When the size of the place in which they are held is taken into consideration, the success which has attended the holding of the games is truly marvellous. Fully 8,000 persons were present.

DESCRIPTION OF LUCKNOW.

The village of Lucknow is situated partially in each of the three Townships of Ashfield and West Wawanosh in Huron County, and Kinloss in Bruce County. We consider ourselves justified in referring to it as a village of Huron County. The pioneer of the place was Eli Stauffer, a German, whom some suppose to have been the first white man who ever crossed the Township of Kinloss, though we do not vouch for the correctness of this opinion. He purchased that portion of Kinloss on which the larger part of the village is built about the year 1850, and was followed in 1851 by Walter Armstrong, who settled in Wawanosh just east of the village site, while south-west, north-west, and respectively of what has grown to be the village Daniel Webster and family, Wm. James and David Henderson, and Roderick Goslar settled about 1853, the former in Ashfield, the others in Kinloss. Mr. Goslar, though by no means a young man when he settled here, continued to live where he originally located till April of 1879, when he died at the ripe old age of one hundred and three years, a circumstance which would justify the belief that the climate hereabouts is well calculated to promote longevity. In 1858 James Somerville, who had several years previously settled in the southern portion of Wawanosh, removed to the site of the village, which he purchased from Mr. Stauffer, and the same year erected the first mill in the Township of Kinloss, on the Nine-mile River, which flows through the place. The same year he surveyed the village, gave it the name of Lucknow, after the Indian city which was besieged by the Sepoys about that time, and named the streets after the British generals who distinguished themselves in that war. The next winter Mr. M. Campbell arrived and opened the first store. At this time also, viz., 1859, the Lucknow Post Office was established. Mr. Campbell being commissioned as Postmaster, a position which he has ever since retained. Railroad and mail facilities are supplied by the south extension of the Wellington, Grey & Bruce, and communication is maintained with Goderich, 22 miles south, and Walkerton 27 miles north by a daily mail stage.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PEOPLE
has been evidenced time and again in regard to the maintenance of the games. Donations have been liberally bestowed, by every one, when occasion required, and perhaps the most pleasing feature observable in the residents of the village is the fact that no national antipathy is exhibited to the annual gatherings by those who happen to be from other lands than Auld Scotia, but one and all unite to make the affair a complete success.

A NEW GROUND
has been purchased this year by the Society, which is superior to any location for the holding of Caledonian games, in any other section of Canada. It lies on the west side of the village, and comprises a portion of lot 12, con. 14, E. D., Ashfield. It contains about six acres, and was purchased from Mr. Robert Ellis for the sum of $600. The grounds are neatly fenced, and otherwise arranged, so as to make them suitable in every particular for the holding of the great annual celebration held here. At the south end of the ground is a hill, facing north, which rises to a height of 80 feet, nicely slanting, and capable of accommodating thousands of spectators. Facing the hill, and with a beautifully level arena between, is the grand stand, where at least 2,000 people can easily find seats, and it is not necessary to state that its capacity was thoroughly tested on Wednesday last. On the highest point of the hill stands a flag-pole 86 feet high, and from it the national flag of Canada floated over the spectators of, and participants in the games.

THE DECORATIONS,
in the shape of evergreens and bunting, which adorned the village, were of an exceedingly fine character, and showed conclusively that private as well as public exertion had been put forth, on the occasion.

THE CROWD
began to gather on Tuesday afternoon, the first contingent of athletes, consisting of E. W. Johnson, of Chicago, M. Campbell, of Toronto, and others having arrived by the 4 o'clock train. The night express added three full coaches of passengers to the number, who were met at the station by the members of the Lucknow Caledonian Society, and welcomed to the town. During the hours that followed a pleasant time was spent by all in renewing and further cementing the friendships of "auld lang syne" and many were loth to separate, even when the "wee aha' hour" was indicated by the hands of the clock.

WEDNESDAY MORNING
opened auspiciously, and competitors and others were early astir to welcome the day. At 9 a. m. a special from the north arrived crowded with visitors, and at 9:45 another train arrived from the south similarly weighed down with excursionists, all of whom at once proceeded to the different hotels. At 10:30 a procession was formed in front of the Caledonian Hall, and headed by the Teeswater band, proceeded to the grounds, where the business of the day was at once entered upon.

PROMINENT VISITORS.
Among those present were: George E. Casey, M.P., Fingal; Hon. R. M. Wells, M.P.P., Toronto; Wm. Lind, London; A. Shaw, Q.C., M.P., Walkerton; W. A. Maclean, Walkerton; C. Tait Scott, Wingham; Dr. Sippi, London; S. H. Mackintosh, Walkerton; Joseph Rosser, Reeve of Ailsa Craig; Ambrose R. Goodman, Parkhill; P. Corrigan, Holyrood; H. B. O'Connor, Teeswater; D. McNeill, Fingal; Geo. Swanson, George Park; E. Major, Goderich; J. Alexander, D. Scott, Finlay; S. Scott, Robert Laird, T. Ballantyne, Alex. Ross, James Young, and others. The commercial travellers were "thick as leaves in Vallambrosa," but in the multitude we managed to distinguish, J. D. Stewart, M. McFarlane, A. Urquhart, John Drungole, W. Peirson, D. McKenzie, Chas. Field, Goodman, M. Ball, Jas. Cormack, R. Howard, E. R. Chillas, W. Sanderson, H. Dallas, S. Munroe, Simpson.

THE ATHLETES.
A number of the most prominent athletes in Canada were present, and a brief description of a few of them may not be out of place.

E. W. JOHNSON
is a member of the Hamilton Society, is well known as a competitor at the Caledonian games throughout Canada, and is a closely-knit, spare man of about 29 years of age, 6 ft. 4 in. in height, and weighing on the ground to-day 170 lbs. He has trophies from contests in New York, Hamilton, Toronto, Lucknow, Chicago, Brussels, and other cities, and in towns where games have been held in the present and past years.

ARCHIBALD SCOTT
is a Huron county man, and has come to a front place during the past two years in the ranks of Canadian athletes. He was born in the township of Morris, near the village of Brussels (where he resides at present), and is now in his 26th year, stands 6 feet 3 in. high, and weighs in condition 165 lbs., and is a lithe, active well-shaped young fellow. Last year he succeeded in carrying off the heavy-weight championship of Huron and Bruce, and during the present year has covered himself with honors in Toronto, Chicago, Hamilton and other places.

M. MACDONALD,
of Toronto, is another young athlete who has come to the front during the past two years. He is a Huron county man, 5 feet 10 in. high, and measures 44 inches around the chest. He is a very powerfully built man, and is likely to take rank with the heavy athletes.

THE PIPERS.
There were ten pipers, the majority of whom had attended previous gatherings. But there was one present who attracted more than ordinary attention, in the person of Joseph Henry, of Renfrew, a veteran of the Indian mutiny, and the self-same piper who had played the pibroch of relief when Jessie Brown cried to the beleaguered at Lucknow, as if by inspiration, "Dinna ye hear it? It's the slogan o' the Highlander. The Campbells are comin'!" The old soldier, was warmly welcomed to the village, and his services were duly appreciated. As he stumped about on the wooden leg which had replaced the natural limb which he had left at Lucknow, while carrying despatches from Sir Henry Havelock to the Residency, none could help but admire the sturdy piper, who had fought and bled for his Queen and his country.

Among the other pipers were G. A. Smith, of Hamilton, whose excellent performance on the pipes at the annual games we have alluded to on a previous occasion; Duncan McKay, Kintail; Neil McIsaac, Buffalo; D. K. Anderson, Toronto; A. Finlayson, Lucknow; Capt. Currie, Ripley; M. McDonald, Kintail; Dr. McKay, Dunganon; T. Ballantyne, Brussels.

FORMALLY OPENING THE NEW GROUNDS.
About eleven o'clock Chief McCrimmon ascended to the platform and formally declared the new Caledonian ground to be open for the legitimate business of the day. The pipers then took position on the platform, and that music which is the joy of the life of the average Hielan' man floated out upon the air. The games were at once proceeded with, and the following is the

was held at the conclusion of the regular games and excited the most intense interest. The following are the names of the contestants on either side. Bruce—Peter Campbell, J. Fletcher, Alex. McAulay, Arch'd McAulay, H. Alexander, A. McDonald, M. Nicholson, Jos. Alexander, John Hayes, Wm. Taylor, Alex. Currie, captain. Huron—T. Thompson, S. Thompson, G. Hanna, A. McRae, D. Matheson, J. Matheson, S. Calbick, A. Morrison, W. Pierce, R. McFarlane, A. K. Cameron, Captain.

The men formed two and two, and paraded around the arena, led by respective pipers, and then proceeded to their places by the cable. The rope was then raised from the ground, the word, "Go," was given, and the "tug" began. In physique, the contending teams appeared to be about equally balanced, and the question with the majority of those present seemed to be, "Which side has the best staying power?" There was a sawing and a straining; for a time, neither seemed to give, and the lines from Homer came uppermost in the mind of the writer as he watched the contest: They tug, they sweat; but neither give nor yield. One foot one inch, of the contested field. However, there must come an end to everything, and the end came here. The weighty tones of Capt. Currie, as he lifted the refrain, "Yo, heave-ho!" eventually put regularly into the pulling of the men, and gradually they drew their opponents across the score. First tug for Bruce. The second tug looked at the start as if fortune was likely to smile upon the Huron team. They drew their opponents several feet toward the score, and had their pulling been marked with unity, they certainly would have been successful, but their captain failed in directing power, every man drew on the rope as best suited him, and they were brought on a run to the score. After Bruce had, as they affirmed, won the tug, they ceased their efforts, and Huron walked back with the cable. Huron thereupon claimed the second pull, but the claim was disallowed by the judges.

THE CONCERT
in the Skating Rink in the evening was well attended, not less than 1,200 people forming the audience. The programme was very long, and it was late before the close of the entertainment. We regret that want of space prevents us giving it the attention which it deserved. But we can state that the utmost satisfaction seemed to pervade the vast audience. Findlay McGregor, the Scottish vocalist, was one of the gems of attraction. So was Miss Cole, of Russelldale, a sweet-faced young lady, possessed of a very fine voice, and an evident knowledge of the mode of using it. Miss Delmont assisted Mr. McGregor in a number of pieces in a very nice manner, and also sang a couple of excellent solos. Gaelic songs were also sung by Mr. Delmont (evidently relished by the audience). The successful Highlanders and ladies regaled the assemblage with dancing, and last, but by no means least, Mr. John Drungole, with his excellent voice and unquestionable talent as a platform singer aided the Society's entertainment on the occasion. The prizes of the successful competitors were then presented, to the evident satisfaction of all; but perhaps the most pleasing feature of the evening's enjoyment was the presentation of two pieces of plate to Mr. John Drungole for his wife, accompanied by the following address, read by Chief McCrimmon: To John Drungole, Esq.

DEAR SIR,—The Caledonian Society of Lucknow, deeply improved with a sense of their obligation to you for the many valuable and varied services you have rendered them year after year, in the management of their public and private entertainments, the unselfish interest you have taken in everything that conduces to their welfare, the valuable and unsolicited assistance you have so kindly and cheerfully rendered at their various demonstrations and entertainments, the enthusiasm which you infuse in others, and with which you enter yourself into all their spirits and national passions, the substantial pecuniary aid which you have been the medium, through your commercial friends, of rendering them at their annual tournaments, but above all, the friendly and fraternal feeling which you have been so largely instrumental in establishing and sustaining between them and the other great branch of the Celtic race—the Irish nation; these and many other services which you have so kindly rendered so impress the society with a sense of their obligations to you, that they feel they would be lacking in that spirit of fraternal feeling that is so essential an element in their organization and constitution did they fail to recognise in some tangible form their appreciation of and gratitude to one who, although not of them, has done so much for them. They therefore, gladly avail themselves of this happy occasion—the inauguration of their new Caledonian Park—to present through you, to your esteemed partner in life, these articles of plate, as a slight token of their esteem for you personally and of their appreciation of the more valuable services you have rendered them. Trusting, that you and your amiable wife may long be spared to be useful members of society, a credit and honor to your many friends, and a joy and comfort to one another, is the earnest wish of the Caledonian Society of Lucknow.

D. A. McCORMACK, Chief.
L. C. MACINTYRE, Secy.
Geo. McHardy, Treas.

Mr. Drungole, in response to the address, made the following reply, and was applauded time and again during its delivery: The grand reception you have given me this evening in the eloquent address just read, and the beautiful presentation which through me you have given me, I cannot find words sufficiently strong to express the deep sense of pleasure I feel at being the recipient of such an honor. You speak of the obligations your Society is under for services rendered at your celebrations and assistance given at your games. All I have to say, Sir Chief, on this point, is, if I have been of any service to you, the work has been a labor of love without the desire of fee or reward. The motives which actuated me to work for your Society, and the history of the interest taken in your games is told in a few words. Six years ago I arrived in Lucknow on business, and seeing the town in holiday attire and large crowds on the streets, I was told that the annual games of the Lucknow Caledonian Society had been held that day. In the evening I was waited upon by a deputation inviting me to a supper to be given by the Society, and I availed myself of the kindly offer; and I was so struck by the kindness and attention displayed to the guests present by the members of your Society that a warm feeling sprang up in my breast, which has increased year by year, until I have to ask myself at the present time if I am a Scotchman or not. Your references to the fraternal feeling between the two great Celtic races, the Scotch and Irish, gives me great pleasure, and I am glad if I have assisted in producing that good feeling. But allow me, dear sir, to say that the great liberality displayed by you and your members, on all occasions, and at every opportunity, has done much to cement that feeling which should characterize our Canadian people. A union of races irrespective of creed or nationality, with but one view in mind, and that the building up of our grand Dominion into a vast and prosperous empire. Permit me, in conclusion, to thank you from the bottom of my heart for your kind remarks to Mrs. Drungole, and let me in her name, thank you again for the honor conferred upon us both this evening.

THE OFFICERS
of the Lucknow Caledonian Society are: D. A. McCORMACK, M.D., Chief; Jas. Findlater, 1st Chief; A. A. McPherson, 2nd Chief; Capt. John McPherson, 3rd Chief; J. S. Tennant, M.D., 4th Chief; Geo. McHardy, Treas.; L. C. Macintyre, Secy.; A. D. McKenzie, Asst. Secy.; D. E. Cameron, Corresponding Secretary; Thos. McDonald, Jas. Stevenson, Marshals; A. K. Cameron, John Stewart, Standard Bearer; J. D. Stewart, Bard; A. Finlayson, James McKay, Pipers; Games Managers—Jas. Findlater, A. McPherson, A. McCuaig.

COURTESIES.
The representatives of the London Advertiser, Free Press and the SIGNAL were kindly provided for by Mr. D. E. Cameron, who spared no effort to assist them in their work, or to add to the comfort of their surroundings.

The same courtesy was also extended to visitors by the officers and members of the Society, and, in fact, it can be said of Lucknow that the inhabitants seemed to vie one with the other in endeavoring to add to the pleasure of the visitors.

Five hundred extra copies of THE SIGNAL containing this report will be sent to Lucknow by the first mail. Everybody in Lucknow will read this week's SIGNAL. The enterprising advertisers whose announcements are to be seen in our first column, will have the attention of a large circle of readers, both local and foreign, this week.

THE SIGNAL will be sent to any address from now until 1st January, 1883, for one year's subscription—$1.50.

FIRE AT SALTPORE.—A fire of a most disastrous nature broke out in the brickery of Mr. Wells on the morning of Saturday last, by which the entire premises and contents were consumed. The alarm was at once given, and soon a number of neighbors were on the scene, who by their efforts, succeeded in hindering the flames from crossing the street and destroying other property. Mr. Wells is a heavy loser by the fire, as the building was estimated at $8,000, and the contents at $4,000, while the whole insurance amounts to only $4,000—$3,000 on the building in the Hartford Co., and $1,000 in the Etna. Mr. Wells had but recently purchased about $400 worth of hops, 1,000 bushels of barley, and 42,000 lbs. of malt, upon the latter of which he recently paid $425 duty. These together with wagons, buggies, and other goods have been entirely consumed.
