Cameron Coal Co. Has Not Elevated Price to Consumers.

RETURN FROM THE COAST.

(Tuesday's Daily)
Mr. A. Williamson Taylor of this city, and who was a resident of Victoria, B. C. for a number of years has returned from a visit to that city. He says the people of Victoria are greatly agitated over the prospect of connecting Vancouver Island with the mainland. The Victoria Board of Trade desire to promote the scheme as part of the National transcontinental railway policy. The people of the city believe that such an inducement should be made to railway companies to connect them to locate their terminals on Vancouver Island. There is a division of opinion as to the method of crossing the water stretches. The Colonist is supporting the proposal to bridge the water stretches, while the Times declares for a system of ferries whereby the trains can be carried across the entire distance of about 12 miles.

Mr. Taylor was interviewed by the Times as to the position the people of Edmonton would take in regard to the matter. Mr. Taylor assured the Times that the people of Edmonton were in favor of supporting the scheme of giving Victoria the location of the terminals of one of the transcontinental railways. Further, he states the plan to cross the water stretches by bridges to be too difficult to be feasible at the present time, involving as it does an expenditure of over $30,000,000, but pronounces it highly in favor of carrying the trains by ferry.

FROM DAY TO DAY.

(Tuesday's Daily)

CANADIAN NURSE AS LIEUTENANT.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 14—Miss Margaret McDonald, of Bailey's Brook, has been appointed to the permanent Army Medical service, with rank of lieutenant, and is notified to report for duty at the garrison hospital at Halifax. She is one of the Canadian nurses who went to South Africa, and she recently held an important position in the health department of the Ishmian Canal Commission at Panama.

A DARING ARTIST.

On the lonely Isle of Fueroen, in the Arctic ocean, perched on a gigantic rock, stands Anna Boberg's studio; the winter headquarters for this painted northern snows. There she has no companion except the island's lighthouse keeper, no means of escape except her tiny sail boat. But all of her time is not spent in this crag-bound home. She makes many excursions farther into the polar regions.

Clad in thick reindeer skin, paint box strapped to back, Sweden's greatest artist climbs the slippery white-capped peaks. In that sublime setting of Arctic splendor her skillful touch catches the palest effects of the long sun rays glinting across the glacial expanses. Sometimes the ice is so great she is compelled to bind her brushes to her numb hands.

Then when some glorious landscape tempts her to brave the stinging winds and ascend to some dangerous summit she has been known to remove her shoes and stockings and go barefoot on the hard crust of the snow in order to retain a footing, the weight of her feet melting the snow.

Once she slipped over a precipice above the seething sea. Fortunately, she landed in a small sheltered bay, and, as it was low tide, she escaped with a few bruises.

On some of her long expeditions she sleeps in the deserted huts of natives whom cold has driven farther south. Then her only fare is codfish, sea gull's eggs and black coffee. When walking becomes impossible she buckles on her long skis. When the wind blows savagely across the snow-covered wastes she straps on a large sail, and with skates on her feet, she bobs swiftly along. Her career as a painter—she is also talented as a poet—began fourteen years ago, when she and her husband, a famous architect, travelled to Lapland by way of the Lofoden Islands. The weird and mystic effects of sun, sky and snow so bewitched Mrs. Boberg that she determined to return some day and capture them on canvas. Her first studies were cartoons for tapestries. Then she attempted water colors, and finally announced that she was going to the north land to paint polar scenes.

She has succeeded not only in overcoming her relatives' objections in laying aside city habits of ease and comfort for the rude life of the Arctic wanderer, but in creating a new departure in the realm of landscapes by producing faithfully the atmosphere and the color of the wind-blown snows.

SPORT.

SENIORS.

The senior hockey team turned out in good form last night and put in the best practice so far. The team developed splendid speed last night and began to produce the article that looks like big league hockey.

Charlie Bloomfield, who arrived in the city Wednesday night, was in the lineup, and showed himself a good man with the stick. The team will have another practice on Monday before the Christmas game at Strathcona, when the team will be picked. "Oakey" Bush refereed the play last evening.

INTERMEDIATES.

In the practices of the intermediates last evening the old members of the team showed up well. Grady in goal was possibly the favorite. Others in the team are of the right stuff, but require more persistent training to get into condition. A large number turned out, and two different line-ups were put on the ice during the hour.

REVILLONS.

The Revillon hockey team will hold a practice tonight at the Thistle rink from 6:30 to 7:30. This is one of the strongest teams in the league. Charlie Bloomfield will be out with the team tonight. Bloomfield learned the game at Lakefield, and played part of last season with the Peterboro "Colts."
