Sudden Death.

Mr. Jas. Walsh, of the upper part of the Southern Shore, died very suddenly on Thursday morning. He was at work fishing all day, and though tired, looked healthy and strong when he retired Wednesday night. Suddenly on Thursday morning he took a pain in the region of the heart and in a few moments expired. His friends were shocked as his death came so unexpectedly. Mr. Walsh was married and leaves a wife and two children to whom the Telegram extends its condolences.

Final Brigade Match.

To-morrow evening's football match between the C.L.B. and C.C.C. or the brigade championship is being eagerly looked forward to. Both teams have an equal number of points to their credit and their last meeting resulted in a draw. Friends and supporters of the Church Lads are expecting them to carry off the much coveted trophy, whilst Cadet backers are equally confident of their team winning. This will be the final brigade match for the season.

The Police Court.

Two drunks were fined $1.00 or 14 days. A laborer charged with being drunk and disorderly at the General Hospital was let go on paying costs. An assault case was postponed until Thursday. A drunk and disorderly was fined $5.00 or 14 days.

Broke Adrift.

Yesterday there was an unusually heavy fog on Quidi Vidi Lake and the race boat doctor, which was on the collar, a short distance from the C. L. B. Boat House, broke adrift and struck the wharf; as a result the rudder was smashed and the boat would possibly have driven ashore and been badly wrecked but for a boy, James Croft, who swam after it and with the assistance of a lad named Morgan succeeded in bringing the Doctor back to its former place of anchorage and moored it safely.

PEKING, To-day.
Volunteers, American, British, and other citizens are guarding the dispatches to the mountains at the town of Ku Ling where thousands of foreigners, mostly American and British women and children, have taken refuge from the heat of a Chinese summer month. A few American blue-jackets on the heights are maintaining signal communications with the States' gunboats, Helena, lying off the River at Fort Kiu Kiang. After a fortnight's rebellion, the Northern Government forces have been bitter fighting at three main points of contact namely, Shanghai, Kiu Kiang, and along the Tien Tsin Puttow railway. Whilst much ammunition has been expended by gun-firing which lasted for days there has been no decisive battle which foreigners believe essential. The Provisional President Yuan Shi Kals' success has British, German and American sympathy. The Yangtze Kiang ports as well as Peking, overwhelmingly favor President Yuan Shi Kals, while Japanese and Russians favor the Southerners.

SHANGHAI, To-day.
The landing of sailors from foreign warships in this city, greatly relieved foreigners and the better class of the Chinese country people returned home. The country district around Shanghai, presents a picture of desolation. Houses burned, crops ruined and rotting corpses are lying everywhere. Philanthropic institutions are caring for refugees in thousands now camping on the street.

Personal.

St. Lawrence arrived on the train yesterday to attend the sessions of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of B.A. and to conduct some business of his firm, W. Ashbourne's. He brought his son, Malcolm, along with him.
Mr. J. R. Roberts, the commission man, who was down to Labrador by the Kyle, arrived by that ship to-day.

Napoleon's Hat Sold.

A cosmopolitan crowd of buyers attended the sale of Napoleon relics at Sotheby's, in London, the other day, while duly authenticated they brought only $7,507.
Spink paid $1,750 for a portrait in oils of Napoleon by Rene-Theodore Berthou, a pupil of David; $950 for a colossal marble bust of Napoleon by Chaudet, sculptured by order of Napoleon, who presented it to his uncle, Cardinal Fesch; $450 for a marble bust of Napoleon as Emperor, and $435 for Napoleon's hat worn when he was First Consul, with an original document certifying its genuineness.
Permain paid $675 for Napoleon's gun, a flint-lock sporting rifle, which belonged for many years to Egge, the famous gun-maker, and $145 for an engraving, "Napoleon Premier, Empereur des Francais et Roi d'Italie," by Casanova, after P. Vandervall, in colors.
Some Nelson relics were offered, too. The christening shirt worn by Lord Nelson sold for $150. It was fully authenticated by Mrs. Garret, to whose husband it was given at the time of their marriage. He was nephew of Admiral Sir Robert Barlow, first cousin to Lady Nelson, the great admiral's sister-in-law.

Bargees To Stop Swearing.

"To swear like a bargee" is a synonym in England for the limit in cursing. Sixty-seven bargees who navigate the waterway connecting Sittingbourne with the River Medway mean to remove this reproach and have formed themselves into a brotherhood for this purpose. They are pledged to say prayers every day, to attend Divine service once every Sunday, and to "endeavor" not to swear.

The bargees say they can fulfill the first two promises with comparative ease, but will not venture beyond "endeavor" in regard to the third one. One of them said: "It will take a bit of getting used to, but like changing from language to a sudden, still, we are trying, but some of the boys hardly dare to open their mouths."

Finds Microbe of Rheumatism.

Paris, July 21.—An interesting communication has been made to the French Biological Society concerning the discovery of a scintillating microbe, not belonging to the vegetable kingdom, which is supposed to be the cause of rheumatism. These microbes, which are very visible under a very powerful microscope, are termed proteolaires and are invariably found in the blood of persons suffering from rheumatism.
While nothing definite has been said as yet concerning the discovery of these peculiar scintillating bacteria, there is every reason to believe that French medical science is on the verge of another scientific victory.

Striking Miners Dynamite Bridge.

Vancouver, July 23.—The Trent River Bridge, on the railway line between Cumberland and Union Bay, was blown up early this morning. Some of the piers were knocked out of position. Evidently quite a charge of dynamite had been used, for the bridge foundations were badly shaken. The bridge is owned by the Canadian Collieries Limited, which uses this railway line to move coal trains from Cumberland to tidewater at Union Bay. This is the second dynamiting of the same bridge, within a few months. The miners for months have been on strike.

Death Follows Tying With Pistols.

Halifax, July 23.—At Springhill Mines yesterday morning a boy about eight years old, son of John Booth, a miner at Springhill, went to the house of a married sister, a short distance from his home, accompanied by an older brother. In the absence of the sister the older boy went into room and got hold of a revolver that turned out to be loaded. After amusing himself with it he gave it to the younger boy, and in some way not exactly known it was discharged and the bullet entered the young boy's head, causing his death after a few hours.

Britain Wants Oil For Fuel.

Oil is Best for the Navy, But Harder to Obtain.

Washington, July 23.—The British Admiralty realizes that regarding the change from coal to oil it will be wise to go slow, inasmuch as England has practically a monopoly of the best naval coal, whereas in oil she is on equal terms with her rivals, if not handicapped by their closer proximity to the great fields of oil. England, it is believed, will be forced to adopt a definitely increased standard of seawater to protect her oil carrying fleet and unless some reliable and cheap method of distilling naval oil from England's coal is discovered, the navy must largely depend upon imported fuel which would be liable to capture. Germany, on the other hand, can get oil across her frontier from Roumania without risk. Oil is the naval fuel of the future. In equal weight it gives forty per cent. greater efficiency. With an internal combustion engine oil, merely as a motive force, becomes three or four times better than coal. Speed is more attainable, and far higher speeds are attained. There is economy in storage. An oil-driven craft has a far higher radius of action.

The process of re-coaling is abolished. Blockading vessels can keep their stations aloft. Oil bunkers can easily be replenished through a tube. Warships at sea can be fed directly from tank steamers. Fewer stokers are needed, and they work under less strain. Upon a given displacement oil means, for various reasons, greater gun-power, and also more rapid raising of steam, a swifter speed, and a wider radius of action. Yet there are fears that England may buy these advantages too dearly.

Conference of the Premiers.

Toronto, July 19.—The Prime Minister of Ontario and the Prime Minister of Quebec have issued a joint letter to the Prime Ministers of the various provinces calling an inter-provincial conference to be held in the city of Ottawa on October 20. In 1910 a conference was called at the request of the Maritime Provinces to consider a proposal to amend the British North America Act in regard to the representation of the Maritime Provinces in the Parliament of Canada.

This conference after some discussion was adjourned to a future date. The forthcoming conference is intended to afford an opportunity of proceeding with the business of the adjourned conference and also any other business that may be brought before it by the members.

The best cherry pies are made English fashion. Choose a deep, round pudding or baking dish, and line the sides only with pie crust. Put a custard cup in the centre, bottom upwards, and put in the fresh cherries, sprinkling liberally with sugar. Cover cup and cherries with pastry, rolled not too thin; place a pastry "rose" in the centre and baker. When served, the roses covering the cup should be cut out, the cup removed and rose replaced. The cup holds all the juice.
