

Barbers Itch Eczema

BARBERS' Itch is in reality a form of eczema. The delicate skin becomes irritated from shaving, a little infection gets in, and soon burning, stinging eczema is set up.

Fortunately, there is cure for Barbers' Itch and Eczema in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and once you have made the acquaintance of this soothing, healing ointment, you will always keep it on hand to apply after shaving. Not every time, but whenever there is roughness or irritation of the skin.

Mr. Chas. A. Durbury, Westford, Ont., states:—"While out in the Northwest I caught barbers' Itch, and anyone who has had it will admit that it is not at all pleasant. It began on my neck below the chin, and spread until I became alarmed. It itched so bad that I had to scratch it, and that only made it worse."

"A friend of mine told me to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I did so. The application of this ointment gave prompt relief to the itching, and it was not many weeks until I was entirely freed of this annoying ailment."

Some of the ingredients of Dr. Chase's Ointment are very expensive, and for this reason imitations and substitutes are offered because they afford greater profits to the dealer. They will only disappoint you. The genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment will positively cure.

THE BEAUTY SLEEP.

Night is the physiological time for beauty culture. It is the time for erasing the care lines of the day and making ready for rebuilding. It is the time for recuperation, of gaining strength, of repairing nerves. If you wish to rise with a sunshiny face, go to sleep with a mind free from in-harmony. Put away all envy, hatred and malice. Set yourself at peace with the world, yourself and your fellow men and women.

Take relaxation in simple exercises for tense muscles. Don't tumble into bed with the tired thought. You have to breathe whether you are tired or not. Twenty five deep breaths with quiet nerves, start the circulation and loosen the tension of body and mind. A warm bath will do as much good as an hour's sleep.

Brush your hair with long, even strokes, breathing rhythmically meanwhile, then massage the scalp. It will clear your head and take away that feeling of being "bound with bands" which is the sign of a tired brain. Sit before the mirror in a strong light and very carefully smooth out all lines of worry or petulance or unhappiness. Work over the lines about the eyes and across the brow with some simple lotion. Try this one:

Half an ounce each of lanoline and coconut oil, quarter ounce each of white wax and spermaceti, one ounce of oil of sweet almonds. Melt together and, while stirring, add half an ounce of orange flower water and a few drops of benzoin.

Household Notes.

If cereal is a regular breakfast dish let it be different every morning.

All dried vegetables must be stored where they are safe from moisture.

Mushroom can be dried as well as other vegetables, but must be dried fresh.

For young children the iron in vegetables is safer than the iron in meat.

In buying split peas always get those that have had their skins removed.

Keep a paper or pasteboard funnel with which to fill the coffee grinder.

Use light colored Manila paper to singe chickens and there will be no smoking.

When you eliminate one article of food remember to replace it with another.

A heavy meat salad should always be regarded as the main dish of a meal.

Put the garbage can on wooden casters and it will be found a saving of energy.

Children should be trained to be particular about washing their hands before meals.

Velour hats are trimmed with cross stitch.

A Strong Plea for the Regiment.

A Duty and Our Neglect of It.

August 31st, 1917.
Editor Evening Telegram.

In writing this letter I fully realize that I am handling no light task, but that, in itself, cannot deter me from the undertaking, so "quod scripsi, scripsi."

I have watched, as we all have who are interested in the great cause of Right battling for life against Might in bloody Europe, the doings of those splendid boys of ours in Gallipoli and France. How they have won honor upon honor and carried a thrill to the hearts of the whole Empire.

But now that we have shouted "Rule Britannia and sung God Save the King" (the occupation of "killing the Kaiser with our mouths" being still, however, a favorite one) what then? The 1st Nfld. Regiment is still in Flanders. The last casualty list, yet imperfect as I write, show the need of reinforcements for that regiment, and our answer last week was—three men!

There is, outside of St. John's, not the slightest attempt being made at recruiting. The Government declines to bring in any Selective Draft Bill, yet it has been proven beyond peradventure that recruiting is too spasmodic and uncertain to keep up the steady stream of recruits necessary to fill the gaps.

It is common knowledge that once before our Regiment came near having to be withdrawn and sent to do pioneer work, and it was no secret among the boys that mutiny was talked of in such an event. Ours is the responsibility of not keeping reserves supplied, and now that the new post of Minister of Militia has been created the responsibility rests with the Government. Why does not the St. John's press with all its power get into the game with the same vigor as that with which it would wage an election campaign? With the exception of the Telegram there has been a half-heartedness about its efforts. Why? Do the papers fear something, or what is the inexplicable reason they are neither cold nor hot? Hon. Mr. McGrath, that doughtiest of election fighters, where is his vigorous style in beating the recruiting drum? That master of vituperation, who flays his political adversaries so pitilessly—Hon. Mr. Coaker—where are his virile words; and why does one always miss seeing his name among the speakers at any patriotic function?

What did Sir Edward Morris mean when on his return from the Imperial Conference he told us that measures would be immediately taken to keep up the strength of the 1st Nfld. Regiment? Surely the appointment of Hon. Mr. Bennett to the war portfolio was not the "measure" he referred to. Is there a nigger in the wood pile, and why can't he be located?

It is argued by those who do not stop to think, and by some who do to escape responsibility, that the Selective Draft system would upset our fisheries and trade. Admitting it did—though not for a moment will I admit such—that is nothing to the use they would get if Germany won. But the Selective Draft does nothing of the kind. So far by recruiting enough men have been obtained to keep up the Regiment's strength. Selective Drafting does nothing more, but without fuss, with a tithe of the expense, it simply selects the men who can best be spared. Every place contributes its fair quota.

The recruiting system is ruining our Colony. There was always a scarcity of men with an average education, and these are the very fellows that first answer the recruiter's call, while the ignorant and vicious remain. Why kill off our culture first? The Selective Draft dislocates no service, it does not upset the country's trade a whit more—it is as much as the voluntary system. The country is ready—may waiting for it, "why is its chariot so long in coming?"

We have read recently some very enthusiastic speeches of gentlemen of the Honourable House of Assembly, who were so brave when there were only nine Councillors to face. With what virtuous wrath did they denounce the want of patriotism of those benighted nine! To find the money to finance the Regiment they were ready to make the trade pay to the uttermost farthing; but what of the men to keep that same Regiment to strength? Was there a word said of that?

Although under forty and married I have not enlisted, but I can say in all sincerity that not a day passes over my head but I wrestle with my duty to my dependents and that I owe to my country. Ah, if many other men find it as difficult as I do to decide the right path, no wonder they lective Draft to solve their difficulties. I have watched with feelings of pride the doings of our noble Regiment. I have wept with the mothers when those sad casualty lists come in; but I could not weep for those brave fellows who have gone out; my only thought was that I, too, might answer the final call with as stout a heart and as brave a smile as they.

Will the Nfld. Regiment have to be withdrawn because we neglect to keep it to strength? Gentlemen of the Press and of the "National" Government, can any words move you to a sense of your responsibilities?

WHITE ENAMEL with Brass Trimmings, well made very reliable. Some exclusive patterns.

In Springs we have the Ideal, the acme of perfection, 120 continuous springs securely fastened to solid steel frame, makes it the most durable spring on the market.

The Improved Oxford is a Spring we also recommend very strongly, being made of steel wire coppered over, and one continuous weave makes it a very strong and lasting Spring. We also have the Woven Wire Spring from $2.00 up.

The NEVER-SPREAD Mattress.

This represents the chief advance in the past decade of Mattress manufacture. The construction of narrow bands, five crosswise, two lengthwise, which encircle the Mattress over the felt and under the ticking to which they are fastened. These bands are stitched and cut to finish exact size of Mattress, which therefore cannot stretch, spread or sag. We recommend it as the very latest in Mattress manufacture. Our Fern Felt New Health are also good reliable Mattresses. Nothing but pure cotton wool, and wood fibre is not allowed to enter them. Other Mattresses down to $2.00 each.

Magisterial Inquiry.

INTO MOTOR TRAGEDY.

The further inquiry into the Goulds motor car tragedy was held yesterday afternoon in the Magistrate's Court before Judge Morris. Private John Parker, who is charged with manslaughter, was present with his counsel, Mr. W. J. Higgins. Mr. J. A. W. McNelly, on behalf of the Crown, and Supt. Grimes and Detective Byrne, representing the police, were also present. One witness, Aden Hogan, a discharged invalid soldier of the Waterford Hall Convalescent Home, who was in company with the accused when the tragedy occurred, was examined by Mr. McNelly. The inquiry will be continued on Monday afternoon next, when Private Charles Curran, who was also in the car at the time of the tragedy, will give evidence.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. John's Mechanics' Society will be held in their Hall on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. By order, J. J. LEAHY, Secretary.—sep8.11

Thoughts

During the week the Labrador fish fell from $6. This is a very serious happen so early in the season. Fishermen may well be alarmed. What is the National Government doing to prevent it? All that Mr. Coaker can do is to prevent the price of shore fish is not a week as last. Most of the week the week on the fish fetched $9.50 per qtl. It brought $10 was "picture" had to "stand the board". E knows that the tonnage of the difficulty we have to face. Advocate assures us that the tem has been solved. The tent by the Government. The Norway government VII, and the decision of the Government in sending it, with a capacity of about 20 each. The fishermen will price, under the circumstances mentioned, to remain up. The foreign market will do not warrant the res. Advocate says "the fishermen gratulate themselves that the ests are provided for." The men will do no such thing.
