Grand Duke Michael of Russia and the Grand Duke of Hesse have started to attend the funeral of the Queen.

PURPLE DRAPERY. The King's order directing that the drapery of buildings be purple has created no little consternation. Many buildings here and in London and other places are already covered with black. It will cause no end of expense to make the necessary alterations. In addition the supply of purple is already getting short. THANKS THE BRITISH ARMY IN SOUTH AFRICA.

King Edward has cabled his warmest thanks to "my gallant army in South Africa" for their telegram of sympathy. Gen. Kitchener, in acknowledging the receipt of the dispatch, expressed in behalf of the army in South Africa, 'our feelings of the utmost devotion and loyalty to your majesty." HIS MAJESTY'S RESIDENCES. There is a great deal of surmise as to what disposal will be made of the King's late residences. Both the King and Queen Alexandra are devoted to Sandringham, so his majesty will probably retain that place, but it is thought Marlborough House will be given up. In the event of the Duke and Duchess of York not desiring to reside there, it is considered likely that William K. Vanderbilt will purchase the place for the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, which has long been desired by the duchess.

The Funeral.

BEARERS OF THE COFFIN. The coffin will be borne from Osborne House by the Queen's Highlanders on Friday, at 1:45 p.m. to a gun-carriage. The household of the late Queen, the royal servants and the tenantry will be drawn up on the carriage drive. The Queen's pipers will lead the procession through the King's gate to Trinity pier. There will be an imposing military display along the route, massed bands and drummers playing funeral marches. Behind the coffin will walk Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour (first and principal aide-de-camp to the Queen since 1899) the King, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, the Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, the Duke of York, Prince Henry of Prus-Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, and other princes. Then will come Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of York and other princesses. Blue jackets will bear the coffin from the pier to the royal yacht Albert, where Admiral Culme-Seymour, four naval aides-de-camp and two ladies in waiting will accompany the remains. The King, the Queen, Emperor William and other members of the royal family will embark on board the roval yacht Victoria and Albert.

THE INSCRIPTION. The following is the inscription on coffin of Queen Victoria: "Depositum. Serenissimae Potentissimae. Et Excellentissimae. Principis Victorae Dei Gratia Britanniarium Fidel Defensoris. Et Indie Imperatricis Obit XXII., Die Januarii, Anno Domini MDCCCCI. Aetatis Suae -LXXXII. Regnique Sui-LXIV."

THE PROCESSION. It is understood the funeral procession in London will be approximately as follows: A sovereign's escert of one hundred Life Guards, the massed bands of three regiments of Foot Guards, Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters' staff, an army gun carriage with the body, the King, supported by the German Emperor; the King of Portugal and the reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence, the Dukes of Connaught, and York, the equerries and aides-decamp in attendance on royal personages. Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Saxe-Cobourg and Gotha and other royal princesses in four carriages, deeply draped, and in the rear of the procession another sovereign's escort of 100 Life Guards. It is estimated that 60 royal princes will participate in the procession As the funeral will be of military character, there will probably be no pall-bearers, although at Windsor certain generals may act in this capacity, while the coffin is being carried up the nave of St. George's Chapel. THE FLEET.

mediately the end of the procession passes her. After the procession has passed the battleship Majestic, forts and ships in Portsmouth harbor will commence firing minute guns, and will continue to do so until the Alberta is alongside. No standards will be displayed. Ensigns and Union Jacks will be half-masted. Admirals' flags will be fully hoisted. As the proces-sent arms until the procession has gone, the band meanwhile playing fu-

A committee of ladies has obtained permission to hang wreaths of evergreen along the line, one of these being affixed to each lamp post, and each being three feet in diameter and of uniform pattern.

A GRAND PAGEANT. Of all the ceremonies no doubt the naval will be the finest pageant. The Alberta, with the body, will slowly steam along a line of battleships extending eight miles. Facing these giants of the British navy will be smaller vessels and numerous foreign battleships. Whatever the weather may be the spectacle of the remains of Victoria traversing a lane of warships, the guns of all booming, will be unique. POLICE PRECAUTIONS. The entire detective machinery of the United Kingdom and the continent has been set in motion to protect the royal personages and other notable people now gathering in London. Scotland Yard maintains the most intimate and secret affiliations with every detective agency in the world. At Cowes detectives are stationed in large numbers on both sides of the Medina River, inquiring as to the antecedents of strangers and watching all who approach the royal personages. Nothing definite is feared, but the government desires that the utmost diligence should be exercised, especially with a view of keeping Emperor William from harm. NOTES. The Duke and Duchess of Aosta (the

of Lord Kitchener and his staff at noon on Monday the governon-general. Sir Alfred Milner, proclaimed Edward VII. to be King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, and Supreme Lord of and over the Transvaal. The morning papers are greatly interested in the peculiar wording of the proclamation of the King by Sir Alfred Milner in Pretoria as "supreme lord of and over the Transvaal." The genunusual phrase must have significant meaning. "It is possible," says the Daily News, "that the government desire to leave themselves in a loophole. and do not wish at present moment to go beyond the assertion that Great Britain is the paramount power in South Africa."
