WOULD NOT YIELD

Citizen Refused to Pay Their Price and Saved $100 On Small Job.

That the master plumbers of the city have formed an organization for the purpose of maintaining prices is ndicated by the experience of a citizen who recently built a seven-room. house. When the building was ready for the plumbing, the owner called of one firm in the city and secured figure for the proposed work. He had calculated that from $110 to $130 would be asked, and consequently he was not a little surprised when the plumber fixed the price at $230. He was satisfied that this was an exorbitant fig-ure, and was advised to go to another firm, which would be certain to offer to do the work for much less. When he called at the second place he was told that the estimate could not be given for a day or two, and when the citizen called a second time the price quoted was $5 in excess of the first man. Satisfied that he was being held up the owner of the house had an estimate of the work given to a friend in an outside town, who was well posted in the matter, and when slightly over $100 was quoted as a reasonable figure he decided that under no consideration would he have the work done by a London firm. He accordingly sent for an outside plumber, and had him call on a local supply firm, and the outcome of this move satisfied him more than ever that the plumbers were not only in a combine, but that the supply houses as well were connected with When the outside plumber made his first call on the supply house he was given figures for the material wanted, but later he was informed that as he was not a member of the plumbers' association they could not fused to do, and he did not secure the The house-owner's next move was o go to Buffalo, where he purchased the plumbing apparatus, and shipped it to this city, paying 30 per cent duty and also the freight charges. He secured the services of a journeyman plumber here to put in the fittings, paid him the union scale of wages and although the workman was not as quick as the average, being engaged on the job a month, the owner of the firms wanted to charge him.

RETURNED FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

Arrival Home of Dr. and Mrs. Hadley Williams, After a Pleasant Sojourn.

Dr. Hadley Williams and Mrs. Williams (nee Perrin) have arrived home after a very pleasant three months sojourn in Europe, whither they went on their honeymoon trip. Dr. and Mrs. Williams sailed from Eggs-Continue to offer freely; prices New York for Naples, calling at Gibraltar, where they inspected the fortifications. Then the journey was resumed to Naples, where they landed three weeks after they left London From Naples they went to Pompeii, going over the ruins of the recked city, all of which Dr. Williams describes as most wonderful. Rome was the next city visited, and the doctor says that words fail to describe its architectural beauty. It is also the cleanest and best-kept city in Southern Europe, he says. From Rome, Dr. and Mrs. Williams went to Florence, which is the art center of Europe. The streets in that city wide and very beautiful, and the shops are simply amazing in their splendor. A trip was then taken across the Apennines, through thirty tunnels, to Bologna, where the great medical and surgical universities are located, and where outside the city nothing but vineyards are to be seen. Next the tourists went to Venice, and thence Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. At Palermo, the capital of Sicily, thousands of boxes of oranges were being loaded on ships bound for America. On the voyage homeward a call was again made at Gibraltar, where the British Mediterranean squadron was seen practicing the repulse of torpedo boat attacks. The voyage on the Atlantic was a very stormy one, and for two days the big steamer fought her way against mountainous waves, making only 100 miles per day. When 700 miles off New York Dr. Williams undertook to send a message by wireless elegraph to his father-in-law, Mr. D. S. Perrin, of this city, but it was found impossible to connect with land. The message was then sent to the Lucania, which was a couple of hundred miles ahead, and she brought it to Nantucket lightship, from there it was sent to nough to learn that Fish was the most important witness of the lot and o win his confidence. "Let's take a run down to Detroit," said the older man one day.

Fish is 27 years old and impressionable. He agreed to the plan. At Detroit Fish and Maher were arrested last Sunday by another secret service man, with whom Maher had communicated by cipher telegrams, and were brought to Chicago. Maher remained a prisoner and was locked up with Fish in a room at the Majestic "They won't do anything serious to is," said Maher to Fish, who was bady scared, "but they'll watch every nove we make. I have a lot of valuable papers on me and I wish I could hide them in a good place." "I'll bet your papers are no more valuable than mine," answered Fish. "I've worried about them ever since ur arrest. Where can we hide them? "We might put them under the matress," advised Maher. Maher stuck a lot of important-look ng documents under the mattress and Fish did the same with his papers When Fish left the room to take a bath Maher took the papers he was after, put them in another hidingplace and then entered the bathroom himself. A few moments later he left it and made a great row. "We have been robbed," he shouted. Someone has got into the room and has stolen our papers.'

Fish did not learn Maher's real identity until both were brought before the Capt. Porter received information that the remainder of the "beef col-
