A DAY IN THE SPORTING WORLD

SIDE LIGHTS ON MANY SPORTSMEDS HELD A WORKOUT
AT PARK LAST EVENING

Several Members of Team Were Absent and Collegiate Players Had Easy Time Beating Regulars—Another Practice Will Be Held at the Park This Afternoon.

About sixteen members of the Western University football team held a strenuous work-out with the L. C. I. senior football team at Tecumseh Park last night, and although the Meds were defeated in a short game, the points scored by the Collegiate boys were made with the students six or seven men short. These practices do both teams more good than work-outs of any other description, as they contain all the plays and formations of a regular game. While the L. C. I. team is considerably lighter than the older team, they put up a good game, and are being initiated into the style of play prevalent in the Collegiate game, and several of the players will be able to make a strong bid for positions on the London team next fall. As it is, Ross Belton, the captain and quarterback of the Collegiate team, is being carried as a spare by the Meds.

Another practice will be held at the park this evening, and a final signal drill will be conducted at the armories on Friday evening from 6:30 to 7:30. All the players have recovered from any injuries received in the holiday game at Sarnia and are in the best condition for the deciding game with Petrolea on Saturday. There will likely be but one change in the line-up for Saturday's game, Tiny Sage being placed at inside wing, but it has not yet been decided who will be kept on the side line. Before the team is finally selected there will be much keen competition among the wing line for the positions. Four of the line men are nearly the same as far as their football ability is concerned, and Capt. Borland and Manager Stevens will have a hard proposition selecting the players.

Rooters' Club. The players are not the only ones who realize the importance of the game on Saturday, and the medical students who are members of the Rooters' Club are holding special rehearsals each afternoon this week and will have a number of new yells and songs to introduce to the spectators at the game.

Big Crowd Expected. The management expect that the attendance on Saturday will be one of the largest that ever attended a football game in this city, and as a result have made special arrangements for handling the crowd. Those supporters of the team who have seen every game, and the last two particularly, are positive that the Petrolea team will receive a severe defeat at the hands of the local pigskin artists, and are doing all possible to boost the game in this city. The team this season is the best that has ever been turned out by the Western University, and one of the best ever organized in London, and deserves the hearty support of every lover of clean amateur sport in the city. It is expected that a large number of fans from St. Thomas will attend the game, as football is a popular pastime in that city, particularly among the students of the schools.

WRITER TO ADVERTISER SAYS MEDS
ARE TAKING PETROLEA TOO EASY

The Team Is Not Practicing Hard Enough, Says "Criticus," Who Implies That Players Are Suffering From Swelled Head.

London, Oct. 31, 1912.
To the Sporting Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—Let me compliment you on the excellence and incisiveness of your report on the London and Sarnia game last Monday. I agree with all that you say about the quality of the teams and the play. It was aggressive and spectacular.

Your praise of the practices during the week are too generous, however. The fact is unless the boys get out and do some hard work between now and Saturday, I see nothing but an inglorious defeat staring them in the face. Last night, there were only six regular members of the team out to practice. The others were members of the second team and aspirants for places on the first team. As a consequence, the

L. C. I. players scored against them at will. Now Petrolea is not a team that can be beaten as easily as Sarnia. They are a very different proposition, and cannot be beaten by any team who think they can play under-form. Petrolea can only be beaten by hard, fast, and accurate play.

London, to my mind, can and should beat Petrolea next Saturday. They have the team to do it, and they are capable of doing it. But they cannot do it by taking it as easy as they have been doing. The London team, at this stage of the game, should not make so many off-sides and forward and loose passes as they made in the Sarnia game, and only hard practicing will remedy this. Thanking you for your space, Mr. Editor, I remain,

CRITICUS.

Carlisle Singularly
Free of Cripples

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 30.—The Carlisle Indian football players are back in Carlisle after their victories over Toronto and Georgetown, without a single cripple. The only injuries sustained were minor bruises. The Indians were pleased not only over easily defeating Toronto, but particularly over beating the Canadians at their own game, to which Carlisle had never given serious practice.

JOE JEANETTE SIGNS

Australian Promoter Is Looking for New Heavyweight Champion Already.

JOE GETS $25,000 IN DEAL

McIntosh Will Also Donate a Belt Emblematic of World's Heavyweight Championship.

New York, Oct. 30.—With a view to deciding on a successor to Jack Johnson's title to the heavyweight championship of the world, W. C. J. Kelly, representing Hugh McIntosh, the Australian promoter, today signed a contract with Dan McKitterick, manager of Joe Jeanette, to fight Jeanette $25,000, with the privilege of 25 per cent of the gate receipts, with five round-trip tickets for himself, manager and sparring partners, and they will sail from San Francisco the latter part of November. In addition to these stipulations, McIntosh will donate a gold belt emblematic of the world's championship.

M'GILL TREATS QUEEN'S AS VERY EASY PICKING

Not Much Interest Being Taken in the Games With Kingston College.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Oct. 30.—"The whole bunch is getting back into good, snappy work," said Coach Shaughnessy, of McGill, after last night's practice. "Two full teams were out, and the men put up a very smart hour's work."

"Shag" kept 'em hanging all the time. The big boys are going to take no chances in the penitentiary burl, although he figures on winning with anything like a fair share of the luck breaks.

McGill is not taking much interest in the Queen's encounter, and it is improbable that many rooters will accompany the team to Kingston on Friday. Everyone here is preparing for the play-off with Toronto Varsity to settle the championship of the Inter-collegiate Union, taking it for granted that the Presbyterians will prove easy picking.

MONTREAL WILL TRY TO BEAT THE TIGERS

Last Chance to Win a Game This Season.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, Oct. 30.—Montreal will make a strenuous attempt to break their losing streak in their game here next Saturday with the Hamilton Tigers. The M. A. A. are not very enthusiastic, however, as both Bailey and O'Connor are out of the game, the former with a broken collarbone and the latter with a badly injured face. As a number of the intermediates have shown up well, it is likely that they will be drafted into the senior fourteen.

GERMAN RUNNER
LOWERS THREE MARKS

Berlin Professional Named Muller Reported to Have Shattered Three Running Records.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Oct. 31.—The breaking of three world's walking records by Muller, a German professional, was announced today in a cable message from Berlin. Muller lowered the ten-mile mark to 1:17.13, and the ten kilometre record to 47:46. In one hour's walk he covered 12,543 metres, about 7½ miles.

World's Series Hoodoo For First Sackers

If history—that is, baseball history—repeats itself as it has fallen into the habit of doing, Fred Merkle, of the Giants, will be missing from the New York lineup within a year or so, while Jake Stahl may convert himself into a bench warmer before many seasons have passed, says Henry P. Edwards, in the Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Old Man History shows that world's series first-sackers seldom last long. In fact, there seems to be a hoodoo following the men who play the initial cushion for big league pennant winners.

Jiggs Donohue was one of the heroes of the Club-White Sox series of 1906. Two years later not a big league club cared for his services. Claude Rossman starred for Detroit in the series of 1907. Jennings traded him two years later. Abstein, held down first base for the Pirates in 1909. He was let out the following spring, while Tom Jones, who played first for Detroit in the post-season series that fall, was held by Jennings but one year more.

The fall of 1910 saw the Athletics and Cubs battling for the world's championship. Harry Davis and Frank Chance were the rival first-sackers. Davis is now out of baseball, while Chance has been turned down by Murphy.

THE GREAT BASEBALL SCANDAL

Grantland Rice Says National League Needs Swift Kick in Pit of the Stomach.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE SCANDALS—Owner C. W. Murphy, of the Cubs, charged that Manager Bresnahan, of St. Louis, had downed the McGraw might with the pennant. Horace Fogel, president of the Phillies, charged conspiracy involving President Tom Lynch and Umpire Pinneran, to give Giants pennant. Murphy disputed the Chicago team by removing Frank Chance, manager, while Chance was recovering from a surgical operation. President J. T. Brush refused to turn over to National League 25 per cent of world's series receipts as has been demanded by the owner of Cardinals, discharged Manager Bresnahan, following all season trouble.

BY GRANTLAND RICE,

The Noted Baseball Writer.

What's the matter with the National Baseball League from the viewpoint of its club owners? Someone asked William Allen White, of Emporia, Kan., that same question. In regard to his native state, and White's reply was summed up in this one line: "Kansas should raise more corn and less hell"—and there you are.

Unless National League club owners, or the National League as a body, stops raising so much hell, it will soon be a thing of the past.

If the National League is to stand for club owners of the type of Charley Murphy, of Chicago, and Horace Fogel, of Philadelphia, it might as well disband before the fans throw it into the ditch.

Behind the great National League, the father of organized baseball, the all that was good, and brave and honest while the game was passing through childhood's pains—this National League becoming a rake and a scandal in its old age, skidding down hill as fast as it can go. Behind Fogel and Murphy running around in short, dizzy circles, shrieking wild and uncalculated charges and making grave insinuations. This, year after year, has almost wrecked the organization in two of the league's best cities.

In St. Louis another upheaval, with Mrs. Helen Hathaway Robinson Britton leading the cause, has added another failing centre to the list.

John T. Brush is involved in an argument over the payment of money in the world's series imposed by his league, and when the full situation is summed up, almost the entire circuit is one disgusting mess. The result of this sort of thing is a game which has given most of these magnates about every cent they have ever earned, beyond a living wage of about $20 a week.

For years now the politics in the National League has been of the lowest and most intriguing type, where only selfishness has controlled every move.

It has been a case of scrambling for the dollar and for nothing else, with any and all ideas of sportsmanship blurred by the coldest of mercenary motives. And most of the owners haven't the sense to see that in a scramble of this sort they are merely paving the way to financial disaster, as well as the utter wreck of all sportsmanship.

The older circuit has but one chance to make good. This chance lies in the rallying of the few club-owning sportsmen against such types as are presented by Murphy, Fogel, et al., driving these out of the game and giving the league president power, through a long term, to rule the league as Ban Johnson controls the American.

It will take nothing short of a scrappy, bull-necked fighter to handle this National League crowd as it should be handled. Such a president should be given the power and opportunity to make good.

As things now stand, the National League from the club owners' angle, doesn't need any advice. It needs a good advice. If this doesn't come, the only answer is a boycott by the fans who, striking at the gate receipts, will hit the only vulnerable spot which men like Murphy and Fogel possess.

WOLGAST TAKES BIG CHANCES IN MEETING JOE MANDOT

Southern Lightweight Looked Upon as Champion's Most Serious Rival.

San Francisco, Oct. 30.—Ad Wolgast is due in New Orleans today, and will have about five days in which to prepare for his ten-round bout with Joe Mandot there on Nov. 4. As the affair with Mandot is one of several contests arranged by Wolgast to occupy his time until the Thanksgiving Day date, it might be said that he is not in a hurry to get into the ring.

Ad holds no very exalted opinion of the New Orleans Frenchman's fighting qualifications. But whether Wolgast takes Mandot seriously or not, the sporting public will look for a hot fight.

Ad Wolgast, the champion of the world, is a serious rival, and there will be all manner of computations as to whether Wolgast will be able to make out such a case in favor of Mandot.

Montreal Students Have Scored More Points Than Their Opponents So Far This Season.

An Intercollegiate football enthusiast points out that McGill University had less points scored against them in three games than University of Toronto had in two. The Blue and White have scored 59 points against opponents, and the ten kilometre record to 47:46. In one hour's walk he covered 12,543 metres, about 7½ miles.

Over Football When Chocolates Are Near

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Girl students of Northwestern, by a rule of the Students' Association promulgated yesterday, will not be permitted to mingle with the male students on football days hereafter. The rule was made to prevent the girls from the sterner features of the sport is the reason given in the announcement.

Peter Wilson, president of the Students' Association, said: "The girls have disrupted our cheering squad. At Bloomington recently, 200 rooters made more noise than do 500 in Evanston. Our men cannot be cheered on to victory by girls eating chocolates. Even the players themselves cannot keep their mind on the game when they take food with them to watch the sport."

DEATH OF A YALE PLAYER
MAY START AGITATION AGAIN

Theodore W. York Injured in a Football Game But Developed Pneumonia and Died.

[Canadian Press.]

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 31.—The death from pneumonia last night of Theodore W. York, right guard of the Yale football team, following his injury in the Yale-West Point game, is likely to bring up prominently again in many American colleges, the question of abolishing football as a college sport. The Yale coaches have suspended practice until after York's funeral, and the scheduled game with Colgate next Saturday has been cancelled.

York played a smashing game against West Point and was picked by the Yale coaches at the time as a likely All-America selection. Upon his return to New Haven he was sent to the infirmary because of injuries believed at the time to be slight. It was announced that he was suffering from torn ligaments at the end of his collar bone and a bad abscess of the arm. He had not been in the infirmary long when pneumonia developed. York was 20 years old, and came from Philadelphia.

OTTAWA AMATEURS ARE TURNING PROS.

New Edinburgh Team Will Be Unable to Fill Allan Cup Dates Owing to Loss of Men.

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—The New Edinburgh hockey club will not press its challenge for the Allan cup this fall. They challenged last spring, and the trustees put them over until December, but in the meantime Benedict and Kendall have signed contracts to play professional hockey, and Eddie Gerard, Harry Broadbent and Horace Merrill will do likewise. The inter-provincial champions, in fact, will be short of all but two or three of their regular team. Kendall is going to the Pacific coast, and Gerard, Broadbent, Merrill and Benedict will be with Ottawa.

TIGERS AND ROYALS
AFTER M'GINNITY

Navin Wants Him to Train Young Pitchers, and Montreal Wants Him as Manager.

Newark, Oct. 30.—Ex-Manager Joe McGinnity, late of the Newark club, is considering several offers from big league managers. One offer which the "Iron Man" has given much consideration comes from Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit club, and owner of the Providence club. Navin probably wants Joe to pitch once in a while for Detroit, and look after the young pitchers now on the staff. President Lichenstein, of the Montreal club, also made an offer, but the terms do not suit McGinnity. The Montreal president and McGinnity are close friends, and Joe says that if he stays in the international league the Montreal club will have first call on his services.

BOSTON FANS OBJECT

Boston, Oct. 30.—President James E. Gaffney, of the Boston National League club, has announced that Geo. Stallings, last year's manager of the Buffalo International League club, has signed a three-year contract to manage the local club. His selections is not popular with the fans, who wanted Bill Sweeney.
