He became despondent and took laudanum to end his life, but it was an overdose and the doctors pulled him through; but the fear that his former rival would yet cut him out still haunted him through; but the fear that his former rival would yet cut him out still haunted him and threats of again trying to do away with himself. Finally he arranged an interview with Miss Sutherland at her own home. After talking over the situation, he suddenly put the question, "Do you intend to marry Crowe?" The girl told him to mind his own business. Without another word McDougall drew a revolver and aimed it at the young girl. The cartridge failed to explode. The intended victim's screams drew to the room other members of the family and McDougall ran hastily away. A few moments later a loud report was heard in the barnty sard. Schwartz, Dupee & Co. wired Dixon:
Wheat opened this morning at 55% for May,
with considerable buying by local traders and for New York account. The receipt, however, of clearances of 550,000 bushels in wheat and flour from the seaboard, making a total of 1,200,000 bushels for the last two days, stimulated a buying demand which resulted in an advance to 66% to 67c. closing at 667% cellers.
The buying was general, both longs and shorts participating liberally. New York reports the large clearances of the last few days as being the result of old bushess. The market is in shape to respond readily to anything favoring the buil side, but a let-up in the shipments would result in another decline.
Corn was strong and closed firm; exports continue good and cables were higher. Country receipts at points west of the Mississippi River show considerable decrease in the past two or three days.
Provisions were active and higher; scalping

show considerable decrease in the past two or three days.

Provisions were active and higher; scalping shorts covered freely, while leading packers were the sellers. During the last hour sympathy with strength in wheat and liberal buying of pork by a local operator made a strong market. Lard dragged because of statement that the world's stock increased 23,000 tierces for month of December, but ribs and pork closed firm at best price. We do not look for further advance unless we have an advance in speculative activity.

less we have an advance in speculative activity.

R. Cochran received the following from Kennett, Hopkins & Co.:

Chicago, Jan. 4.—The opening was strong and prices eased off on more liberal receipts and dulicables, subsequently there was a raily of over 1 cent on a reduction of flour stocks for December of about 22 per cent. Stocks for Miwaukee and Duluth showed a decrease of 337.000 bbls., while other points increased 102,000. It is rather remarkable that Duluth showed an increase from 22,000 to 23,000 bbls. during a month while navigation was practically closed. It is said a great deal of flour has been sent to Gladstone and other ports at the head of the lake to be stored until spring and this may account for the reduction at Duluth. Exports were again large and this gave the market additional strength. Primary receipts were larger than yesterday.

Cora and oaks advanced in sympathy with wheat and held the advance.

Provisions strong, with good buying to cover shorts.

OVERCOATS

Men's and Boys' Ulsters have reigned in such high favor this season, and the sales in these popular garments have been so unexpectedly great at Oak Hall, that an unusually large number of equally fashionable and comfortable overcoats remain on hand.

In quality, finish and dressy style they are not equalled anywhere, and there are many ways in which they would be really more becoming for wear than the long, sumptuous-looking, easy-fitting ulsters. Before "stock-taking" we are quoting prices for overcoats that tempt buying. They are all marked to go.
