The Canadian West In "Movies"

(1) An Alberta Wheat Field.

(2) Movie Men Near Banff Springs Hotel.

(3) An Irrigation Stream.

At the present time there are being shown in various parts of the United States some pictures of actual scenes of various phases of farm life in Alberta, one of the prairie provinces of Canada. They show this country in a very different light from what many had been led to believe it to be. The films, which have been produced under the direction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Department of Colonization and Development, deal with irrigation farming, the dairy industry, and the lighter side of the farmer's life in Western Canada.

The film dealing with irrigation farming shows the land being prepared for irrigation, the application of water, growing crops of grain and alfalfa, harvesting, and livestock on the irrigated farm. It also shows the irrigation works, including the great Bassano Dam, the largest of its kind in the world. The idea one gathers from these structures from the picture is that they were built to last, and that those who provided the money had great confidence in the country and the undertaking.

The dairy film shows the rapid progress this industry has made in Alberta during the last few years.

and some of the reasons for this progress. Every operation is given life; milking the cows on the farm, delivering the cream to the creamery, grading the cream, making the butter, packing it, and shipping it to the markets in Europe or on the Pacific Coast. The government grading station where the butter is tested and given the grades under which it is sold shows that this new country is not taking second place to any other in the methods employed in promoting its dairy industry. In sterilizing, bottling, and delivery of milk to the city residents every-thing is also up-to-date.

But that it is not all work over there and that the farmer and his family have many diversions is shown in a picture dealing with what may be called the lighter side of life on the farm in Western Canada. A farmer and his family are pictured in their comfortable home, the children have been to school, the mother has finished her household tasks, has fed the chickens and milked the cow, the father has returned from his work in the field. They are planning to go to the summer fair at Calgary. They decide to go. They are shown at the fair mingling with the crowd, enjoying themselves on the roundabouts, in the shows, and watching the automobile races and other events. The splendid horses, cattle, sheep and hogs on view at the exhibition are also pictured. Altogether the party spends a very enjoyable day.

Later in the season, they go for a holiday. They have not far to go. They find in the same province holiday resorts that afford an excellent change. They go to one of these places on the shores of a large inland lake. Here they enjoy themselves bathing, boating, fishing, and basking in the sunshine on the sands. Afterwards they visit Banff, in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, and in connection with their visit, some magnificent mountain scenery is shown on the screen. Evidently the life of the farmer in Western Canada is not all work and no play.

GRAY DORT

The Ultimate in Value

Motorists who come to the Gray Dort after having driven other cars, find in the end—whether they previously paid more or less—that the Gray Dort offers the highest value.

will come some day to the Gray Dort as the ultimate in value. You will demand the speed, power, quietness of the Gray Dort motor; the roominess and comfort of the Gray Dort body; the standard equipment. You will not find these things at a lower price. You need not pay a higher.

The touring car is $1245; the Gray Dort Special—the car with added refinements and extra equipment—is $1355 extra; there are also a coupe, and sedan. All prices f.o.b. Chatham and are subject to change without notice.

This is the direct result of the basic policy of our business—to build a fine light car, completely satisfying, sturdy, economical. That we are able to sell such a car at a low price is due entirely to the unequalled efficiency of our factory.

On Monday evening, March 17th, Rev. Dr. DeWolfe, Principal of the Acadia Seminary, delivered a much enjoyed lecture in the demonstration Building, under the auspices of the Library Association. The title of the lecture was "William Tyndale, and the English Bible, and a very fascinating subject was opened up to the audience. We hope to have the privilege of again hearing Dr. DeWolfe.

Last Saturday over 150 volumes were issued. Owing to the increasing demand for books, it has been found necessary to limit the issue of fiction to one volume per family per week. On the coming Saturday 39 recently arrived books will be put into circulation.

The children are not forgotten by our book committee. A number of choice little story books are in the library and are eminently suitable either for a child's own reading, or for parents to read to their children.

On Thursday evening the Demonstration Building was the scene of a miscellaneous entertainment given by Mr. I. F. Nix, B.A., B.O. The series of readings, humorous and serious, was received very well indeed, as was evident by the generous applause. Miss Ethel Shaffner was encored in a sweetly rendered solo.

Perhaps no war book has enjoyed a greater popularity than Donald Hankey's "A Student in Arms." Series one and two are both in the library, and make very pleasant reading for any thoughtful student of the war.

We hear whisperings of more books to be given to the Library. Fuller particulars later.
