It has a small wheel, not more than a foot in diameter, placed two or three feet in front of the large wheel, and is supported by shafts.

"As everywhere in the mountainous districts of China, so here are magic streams, fairy dells and wonderful caves which are the scenes of mythical and legendary tales without number. The people tell of a strange race, having white faces and red hair, who