THREE BACK NUMBERS OF THE

"Review"

FOR TEN CENTS.

One of the numbers is that of Dec., 1891, containing eight extra pages (36 in all), 7 helf tone portraits of leading bee keepers, iliustrated description of the best self-hiver known, choice bits of info mation gathered at the Chicago convention and a most instructive and interesting discussion of "Remedies for Poor Seasons" It is the largest and best number of the Review yet issued. These numbers are offered at this low price that bee-keepers may be induced to send for them and thus become acquainted with the Review itseditor knowing full well that such acquaintance will prove of mutual benefit. With the numbers will be sent a list of the special topics that have been discussed, the issues in which they appeared, and the price at which they may be obtained. The Review is $1 a year. The book, "Advanced Bee Culture," is foo.; both for $1.25. The Review for 1892 will be better, brighter and more "crispy" than ever. All new subscribers for 1892 will receive the Dic., 1891, issue, free. A dress, BEE KEEPERS' REVIEW, Flint, Michigan.
