THE DEVELOPMENT OF ENGLISH LITERATURE AND LANGUAGE.

By PROF. A. H. WELSH, M.A.

University Edition, complete in 1 Vol., Unabridged, $3.50.

"Several months ago I introduced Welsh's English Literature as a. text-book. I began with a high regard for the work, and that regard has constantly grown. The book is not a dry collection of dates and has constantly grown. The book is not a dry contection of dates and authors' names and works, nor is it a loosely continued uarrative. It is a logical development of our great literature, expressed in lan-guage that would do credit to the pen of an Addison or an Irving. The characters are made to live and breathe and talk with us, until Inc contracters are made to nvo and oreane and taik with us, units we come away with the feeling that we have been communing di-rectly with the great masters of English thought."- W. E. SCARRIT, Prof. of Eng. Li., University of Colorado. "I have made the most copious use of it during the entire year, and I recognize it as the very best manual upon the subject with which I am acquainted."-W. McK. VANCK, Prin. of High School, Galli-rolic O.

polis, O.

"Admirably suited to class-room use. My pupils, who, until they had access to Welsh's Literature, invariably asked for Taine's, new say that they would rather read the former. This I think, more than say that they would rather read the former. This I think, more than any other commendation of my own, will show that the work is appreciated in the Dover High School, "-IDA C. ALLEN, Teacher of English Literature, High School, Dover, N.H. "Prof. Welsh has produced a remarkable book. I am profoundly impressed with its breadth, comprehensiveness and philosophical character; and intend to use in as a text-book."-REV. GEO. GAN-NITT, Principal of Gannett Institute, Boston. "I have examined the work thoroughly, and my admiration has increased with every page. The author is a master of the language whose progress he so faithfully describes, and so happily ill.attates; his critical taste, moreover, is of a superior order."-D.O.S. LEWSLL, Prin. High School, Auburn, Me. Prin. High School, Auburn, Mc.
