■ One of the world's largest manufacturers of supermarket equipment, Husmann specializes in the design and production of refrigerated food merchandisers.

The wide range of Husmann equipment for the food industry includes reach-ins, single and multideck units and self-serve or service cases designed to meet every application in food stores, large and small.

The Husmann GWIT-G, a dual-temperature island model, caters to special merchandising needs. Ice cream and frozen foods can be displayed with fresh meats back to back because of the unit's dual-temperature feature. This versatility allows the arrangement of appealing combinations of high-impulse, high-profit frozen foods and popular meats in one convenient display area.

Husmann products feature adjustable display shelves, full-length lighting, high-efficiency insulation, easy installation and low maintenance. All are backed by coast-to-coast distribution and service in North America and affiliated distributors worldwide.
