

ST. MICHAEL'S CATHEDRAL.

After Ryan Pays a Grateful Tribute to the Late Hon. T. W. Anglin.

Before pronouncing the regular Sunday sermon on Sunday morning at St. Michael's Cathedral, the rector, Rev. Father Ryan, took occasion to pay a touching and graceful tribute to the memory of the late Hon. T. W. Anglin, whose solemn funeral service was held at St. Michael's on Wednesday last. The Archbishop had intended to assist at that funeral service, Father Ryan said, but was prevented by illness. He spoke a few of his impressive and touching words on the noble, edifying life of the distinguished deceased. It was not the custom in the Cathedral to preach funeral sermons; indeed it was not the custom of the Catholic Church. His impressive and significant funeral service in itself a most effective sermon. But the lives of some men contain such a lesson that the Church from time to time takes the occasion to comfort and instruct the living while offering prayers for the dead.

The life of the late Mr. Anglin was an instructive lesson for all. He was emphatically a man of faith, a man of unswerving Christian principle and sterling integrity of character and conduct. The brief but expressive eulogy of the sacred Scriptures might be most fittingly applied to him. He was "a just man." And "my just man," says St. Paul, "lives by faith." The justice here spoken of is a universal and perfect virtue. Not merely the special virtue of commutative and distributive justice, but the justice, honesty and honor that govern a man in all his relations, whether to his fellowmen or to his Creator, God. There is commercial justice, civic justice, social and political justice. A man may possibly be just in all these relations, and yet be most unjust in his religious relations; he may fulfill all his duties to his fellowman and fail in his duty to God. With the Hon. T. W. Anglin duty to God came first. My just man lives by faith, he fulfills his duty to God first, he fulfills his duty to his fellowmen, he fulfills his duty to the rights of all, but he vindicated first and foremost and always the rights of God and of God's Church, and this he did by words and work, by profession and by practice. He served his country Canada faithfully and well. His splendid abilities and his vast and varied knowledge fitted him for the highest and most responsible position, which he held with honor in the councils of the nation. Had he been a man of compromise, even when concessions might seem a virtue, he could easily have been a man of wealth. But, though ever loyal to his party, he did not love that party less, because he loved principle more. He worked honestly, zealously for his party's interests, but he sacrificed all personal considerations, and was ever ready to sacrifice mere party success for the general good of his country. Even in the heated contests of political and partisan warfare he was the knight without fear and without reproach. He was a patriot, a man, a true Canadian patriot, and what is perhaps much rarer, though surely not less needed, a model politician in the truest and highest sense of the word.

His services to his country were gratefully acknowledged by his funeral, so many public men at his funeral—men of all parties and creeds, the venerable and distinguished Premier of this great Province leading in example of loyalty to his friends, and our honorable and most worthy Senator uniting with him.

But Mr. Anglin was more than the model public man, more than the model patriot; he was a true type of the Christian gentleman, a fearless and fervent Catholic. Considerate and liberal to Christians of all denominations, he was ever loyally devoted to the church of his faith and love. His interests were always his, and his greatest honor was to be employed in his service. That he was a model husband and father whose love and devotion to his family was his greatest life, and who now has most reason to mourn his loss. While taking to heart the impressive lessons of such a noble useful Christian life, let us pray the God of mercy to give rest to the soul of the departed, and comfort to his sorrow-stricken family in their sad bereavement.

Many representative men of the city of various denominations were present to do honor to the memory of the deceased, among the number being Sir Oliver Mowat.

BOOK REVIEW.

THE MONTH OF MAY AT MARY'S ALTAR. Considerations for every day of the month. Of the French; by Rev. Thomas F. Ward, Church of St. Charles Borromeo, Brooklyn, N.Y. New York: Benziger Bros. 75c net.

This book of meditations for the month of May has been translated by a priest in whose opinion they provided more suitable considerations published Catholics than any other published work. The book had already gone through many editions in the French language, and we believe, its excellence will be equally appreciated by English readers. The translator has made no effort to improve upon the original, he has calculated to convince his readers that he is a sound literary critic. The style is direct and simple, and although in the treatment of the same subject upon two and thirty separate considerations it has been impossible to avoid repetition, the beauties which are constantly appearing in so sublime a series of meditations more than make up for what a severe critic might regard as repetitions. The saintly devotion of the Virgin Mary, the character of the Virgin Mother as a model proposed for Christian imitation, and the reasons for our devotion to Mary as our Mother, are set forth with much merit. For the superior paper on which the edition is printed, and the superiority of the binding, the price is very reasonable.

Next to his generosity towards the Jews, the late Baron Hirsch has made the Prince of Wales, to whom he is reported to have bequeathed £1,000,000, the object of his charity.

Mr. Justin McCarthy is writing a life of Mr. Gladstone. Rather a strange thing Mr. McCarthy has not heard that Mr. Gladstone has already attended to that.

Dr. Lueger, the anti-Semitic leader, has once more been elected Mayor of Vienna. He is his third election within twelve months, the Emperor having twice refused to sanction the election. The Town Council had consequently to be twice dissolved.

The completion of St. Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne, says The Lancet, has brought joy to the hearts of the loyal thousands who have aided the great work. The interior decorations of the cathedral are to be of a splendor in keeping with its imposing exterior, and the pride of Victorian Catholics in the monument they have raised to God will be unbounded when the time comes (as it soon will) to throw the whole building open for worship.

It is announced that, as a pledge of his good will towards the Catholics of England, the Pope has just approved a decree of the Sacred Congregation of Rites, raising to the grade of a minor double, for the whole Church, the semi-double feast of St. Thomas of Canterbury, occurring within the octave of Christmas.

J. W. Holmes, the sensational murderer of Benjamin F. Pietzel, in Philadelphia, and of his children in Toronto, was hanged at Philadelphia on Thursday last. Holmes, after the trial, being condemned, requested to be baptized in the Roman Catholic faith. He was attended on the scaffold by Father Dailey and Father McKee. He knelt between the two priests praying to the last moment. He was, perhaps, one of the most remarkable converts ever received into the Church.

The committee of theological experts which is now sitting in Rome at the request of the Pope to examine and report on the validity of Anglican Orders, is thus constituted: Cardinal Maclellan, president; Monsignor Merry Del Val, secretary; the Rev. Dr. Gagnon, of the Reformation in England and a diligent student at the British Museum; Canon Moyes, editor of the leading Catholic quarterly, The Dublin Review; a controversial contributor to the Tablet and one of Cardinal Vaughan's secretaries; the Rev. Dr. Scamell, of Sheerness; the Abbe Duchesne, member of the Institute of France, an intimate friend of Lord Halifax, and the author of a treatise in favor of the validity of the Anglican orders; Monsignor Gasparini, professor of Canon Law in the Catholic University, Paris, who is also understood to be sympathetic towards the high Anglican; Father De Augustinis, a learned member of the Society of Jesus; Father De Livranos, a prominent member of the Franciscan Order in England; the Rev. F. W. Fuller, one of the "Cowley Fathers," of Oxford, and the Rev. T. A. Leary, of the Cambridge, are in Rome watching the investigation on behalf of the high Church party. The decision on this important matter, needless to say, is not forth to be given until an investigation of the most exhaustive nature has been completed.

Wedded at St. Michael's.

On Friday afternoon a quiet but fashionable wedding took place at St. Michael's cathedral. The contracting parties were Miss Carrie M. Walker and Mr. W. F. Dinneen. Miss Ada Walker acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted in the happy ordeal by his brother, Mr. Frank Dinneen.

IT IS ABSURD.

It is absurd to try to cure rheumatism with salicylates, and the ordinary advertised compounds which are recommended for the cure of almost every disease to which the human flesh is heir. This disease, as all know, is caused by an acid poison in the blood, and can only be quickly and effectively removed by the use of an internal remedy, which will neutralize it, and thus destroy its irritating properties. The ingredients of South American Rheumatic Cure have not been known, but are recommended by some of the latest English medical works as being to rheumatism what quinine is to ague, an absolute specific. The first dose of the remedy gives perfect relief, and it is at once begins the chemical process of neutralizing the acid of the blood. It usually cures in one to three days.

CANNOT BE BEAT.—Mr. D. Steinbach, Zurich, writes:—I have used Dr. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL in my family for a number of years, and I can safely say that it cannot be beat for the cure of croup, fresh cuts and sprains. My little boy has had attacks of croup several times, and one dose of Dr. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL was sufficient for a perfect cure. I take great pleasure in recommending it as a family medicine, and I would not be without a bottle in my house."

A Child Cured of Eczema by Chase's Ointment. "My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind her ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps, and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. The doctor advised the use of Chase's Ointment, and since using the eruption has all disappeared, and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed) MAXWELL JOHNSON, 112 Anne St., Toronto.
