Editor World: A correspondent in today's World complains of the quality of beer served at the bars in Toronto.
It is about time some one took this matter up in earnest. Your correspondent shows that all the raw material has been very materially reduced in price, yet we are met with beer in bottles and otherwise, bearing wellknown labels, which, I have no hesitation in saying, is simply disgusting. I got a bottle last night labelled by a wealthy concern, which was evidentily refilled without washing the bottle. Inside was an old cork, which completed the temperance fecture it sufficiently otherwise conveyed. Yet the city is dotted with mammoth establishments in brick and mortar, with all the appliances science can devise—appliances? yes, perhaps there the trouble lies.

ances science can devise—appliances? yes, perhaps there the trouble lies. Hops and malt are doubtless unnecessary. With breweries prodigious and numerous, it is well known that for good ale we have to use outside brands. I know brewer so-and-so will stand up and say that better ale than his never was brewed, and will refer you to medals by the score, perhaps, but what of it, if a man with a thirst cannot get a decent glass of ale in all this city of Toronto, take what brand he will? And yet a large number of bars in this city are actually controlled by one or other of the brewing concerns. Bottled ale is badenough, but draught ale is unsafe to venture on, as one cannot be sure when he may be called upon to spend a half day in humoring an indignant stomach. The result is that we must have recourse to dilutions of whisky and other spirits, when wholesome ales are denied us. And even here, I may remark that when I find a certain flavor in city water on a certain day. I object to having that same flavor placed before me in the whisky I order a few days afterwards. I have often had to suffer this. One thing is certain, and that is that the trade is gradually eliminating those who use and a beverage, and, consequently ale as a beverage, and, consequently is destroying its raison d'etre, because for the product, or abolish the producer. Street Railway and East Toronto. Editor World: I read with interest the proposed "concessions" noted in your issue of Wednesday for extending the King-street tracks to Munro ong the King-street tracks to Munro Park. They amount to nothing. Under their present agreement with the village, the street railway are bound to give eight tickets for a quarter at certain hours of the day, exactly the same as in the city. This they have quietly ignored for some time past, and now coolly offer to restore it as something new if the Village Council will extend certain privileges which something new if the Village Council will extend certain privileges which may be and probably are, valuable to the street railway, to the Township of York and to the citizens of Township of York and to the citizens of Toronto; but which are absolutely valueless to East Toronto municipality. In Mitchell-avenue dwell Mary A. Miller and Emma Carey. They have been neighbors and riferia is for some time, but they are no longer friends. A few days ago they had an argument, which resulted in a fight, in which Mrs. Miller evidentily got the worst of it. Notwithstanding the black eye and bruised nose which Mrs. Miller is now adorned with, she was the defendant when the case of assault came up in Police Court yesterday, and Mrs. Carey was the compalinant. Both gave their own evidence and blamed the other fow as the compalinant. Both gave their own as the other, and both should go free. ### ...LOCATION....

HE HILL TOP is situated about one mile south of Rossland Trail Mining District, British Columbia. This claim is situated upon a steep slope of a mountain. The claim is being developed almost entirely by tunneling, the steepness of the mountain rendering this method of development the best and cheapest. The principal tunnel is situated 400 feet above the grade of the Trail Creek R.R., and ore can be shipped from the mouth of the tunnel by this

Upon this claim are two well-defined veins of ore, which are known as the north and south veins, both of which are known to contain rich deposits, being the same veins upon which the "May Flower" has so far developed, and when development work has advanced a little further the management expect the showing and returns will justify increasing the price to

The management cannot be better, being under the charge of the former Superintendent of the Re Roi, a gentleman endowed with a practical mining knowledge, and noted for his conservative management,

Assays out of the Hill Top Veins on the property adjoining:

No. 1—Oxide and Galena, all values - - $107 28 No. 1—General average sample, all values oxide, 3-Arsenical Iron and Galena, all values -No. 1—Clean ore, a'l values - - $114 52 " 2-Average four feet, all value - - 64 20

Eminent mining engineers from London and elsewhere state the Trail Mining district is about to develop into the greatest gold-producer that this continent has ever known, and that Trail Creek will rival, and most probably surpass, the wonderful gold fields of South Africa. English capitalists have already begun to find out the wealth of this favored region, and they have already begun to buy some of the mines in Trail Creek. When London has once fairly started to buy these mines there will be no chance for Canadian capital to get mining property at low figures. Therefore, if the people of this province desire to share in the enormous profits that are certain to be realized in British Columbia, they must invest at once. The gentlemen connected with the mine feel confident it will rank among the dividend payers, and, when the price is considered and compared with others where the development work consists of little more, the advantages will easily be appreciated. We have placed in our hands a limited number of shares of this Company's stock, which we are able to offer for a short period at the low prices of 7½ cents per share ($1.00 par value), in blocks of not less than 500 shares. Please forward remittances or instructions at once and Stock Certificates will be forwarded upon demand.
