Dr. Evans left the witness-stand today, subject to recall, for re-direct and re-cross-examination, but he may not be called for either. He protected the interests of the defense quite keenly throughout his cross-examination and at all times appeared a match for the district attorney, who displayed so much expert medical knowledge during his famous grilling of Dr. Wiley, the Pittsburg alienist. Dr. Evans admitted today that Thaw had an insane knowledge of what was doing on Madison Square Roof Garden the night he shot and killed Stanford White. The New York statutes prescribe that to be exempt from punishment for crime an insane person must have been so demented as not to know the nature or quality of his act, or to know that the act is wrong. In explaining Thaw's actions subsequent to the shooting-his quiet demeanor, his directions as to what should be done with his wife, and who should be sent for-Dr. Evans declared that as soon as the defendant shot Stanford White the "brain storm" subsided and his senses began to reorganize themselves, so that the man knew quite well what he was about. He also knew he was attacking Stanford White when he shot the revolver, Dr. Evans admitted, but the knowledge was that of an insane man and the act was the result of insane reasoning. Dr. Wagner also declared that Thaw had irrational knowledge of what was transpiring on the roof garden. He believed the prisoner's insanity dated from the time Evelyn Nesbit told him her story in Paris, in 1903. Dr. Wagner caused quite a stir in court by using the present tense in responding to a question by Jerome, as to what form of insanity Thaw "has or had." Dr. Wagner testified that Thaw "is suffering" from symptoms which lead toward a melancholia and a state of dementia praecox. When asked to describe the latter phrase Dr. Wagner, said it covered such a wide field as to be difficult of strict definition. The condition of the prison's mind at the time of the shooting was the result of one of the insanities of adolescence. He would not further classify the next

The district attorney today continued his somewhat puzzling tactics. His questioning of Dr. Evans seemed to have the purpose of showing that Thaw never was insane to the extent contemplated by the criminal statutes of this state. Again, with Dr. Wagner as the witness, he worked toward the same end at one time, and another toward having Dr. Wagner admit that Thaw was suffering from forms of insanity which might be curable. Dr. Wagner was still on the stand

London, March 4. - King Edward's health of late has been the cause of, considerable worry on the part of his physicians. The most alarming symp-, toms of his majesty's condition are cardiac weakness and shortness of breath, the latter probably superinduced by the former. These symptoms, together with the continued weakness of the King's injured knee, have caused the physicians to forbid him indulging
