

TWO FRENCH TAKE HUNDRED GERMANS

One of Bravest Feats of War
Rewarded by the President.

GOT MILITARY CROSS

Corp Gouteaubier Decorated,
But Companion Makes Supreme Sacrifice.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Corporal Gouteaubier of the French Light Infantry has been decorated with a military cross by President Poincaré for capturing 100 Germans, including two officers, aided only by a single companion. The curfew reference to Corporal Gouteaubier's exploit in army news reads: "For bravery and courage in the face of the enemy, and for the capture of 100 prisoners, including two officers, whom he took to the rear, and who were released by him." When Corporal Gouteaubier was awarded before President Poincaré on a recent visit of the latter to the front he told the story of his exploit at the request of the president. It was on July 20 before Ham Vood. The French troops had just pushed forward at the German positions. The first wave had swept over the enemy's trenches and the second had followed to complete the operation. However, from a hollow toward the right a well sustained fusillade was being poured on the flank of the attackers.

Taken to Lines. Gouteaubier, who was at the right wing of the second wave, called out to one man: "Guillot, come with me." The two men approached the spot whence the firing came. They glided from tree to tree until they were close to the shelter, where a German company was holding out. Guillot threw bombs as fast as he could into their midst and the fire ceased. "Surrender," shouted the corporal in a stentorian voice from behind a tree.

In response to his demand 100 Germans emerged from the shelter with uplifted hands, led by two officers. "Pass along this way," shouted Gouteaubier from his hiding place. "Go out of the wood at once and march to the rear." Ten minutes later the 100 Germans, shepherded by the corporal and Guillot, arrived at the French lines.

The prisoners admitted that some of their comrades remained in the shelter. "Come on, Guillot, let us go and fetch them," said Gouteaubier. The two men started back, but Guillot fell with a bullet in his breast and the corporal had to abandon his enterprise.

PROBE IS BEGUN INTO DISASTROUS EXPLOSION

Barge Which Started Trouble Located—Captain Falsely Reported Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Attorneys for the Johnson Lighterage Company, the president of which has been accused of manslaughter with three others on charges growing out of the explosion of munitions on Black Tom Island recently, today announced that barge No. 24, owned by the Lighterage Company and alleged to have been the barge located today off the foot of Morris street, Jersey City. The captain of the barge, reported to have been killed by the explosion, was alive and well, the attorneys announced. It was contended that the barge, loaded with explosives, blew up and started the series of explosions on Black Tom Island, which did more than $20,000,000 damage and killed at least four persons.

POPE TO MAKE PROTEST?

German Behavior in Northern France Moves Vatican.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The Pope, after a careful study of the protest against the deportation of inhabitants of northern France, has decided to make a protest to Germany, according to a news dispatch from Rome, received here.

The protest was sent to the Pope by the Bishop of Lille and the Archbishop of Rheims. It is stated that the Pope will ask Berlin that at least women and young girls be sent back to their homes, and that he will publicly express his reprobation of the action of the German military authorities if his protest is ignored.

COAL MINERS QUIT WORK FOR HOLIDAY

Thousand With Families Disregard Orders of Government.

CUTS DOWN OUTPUT

Union Had Rescinded Decision to Take Week Off.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—With the exception of a portion of the coal miners of South Wales and the cotton brokers of Lancashire, the British working people today loyally accepted the decision of the government that holidays should be postponed until the demand for munitions was not urgent. The South Wales miners' unions decided early last week to observe today—"Bank Holiday," one of Great Britain's national holidays—as usual, but later reversed their decision upon representations by the authorities that coal was necessary to the continued working of the munition factories.

Despite this decision holiday books this morning broke all records. Thousands of miners and their families left for the seaside, a step which means that many mines will be worked only part time for the most of this week. In the cities business was carried on as usual, while the munition factories worked at full pressure.

Talks With Screen-Struck Girls

By Beatriz Michelena
(Copyrighted 1916, by Beatriz Michelena)

There are a great many things that enter into life's success and side salary and applause. The success that the public thinks it sees for us and the one that we feel inside ourselves are two very different things.

The latter is the one that really counts. The girl just starting out on her life's career often loses sight of this. She accepts the public standard of success and works for it at the sacrifice of everything else.

BOY'S MOTHER THINKS HOLMES REAL VILLAIN

Stuart Holmes' reputation as a villain precedes him wherever he goes. He never realized it until a few days ago, when a strange thing happened to him in New York.

Holmes was in the city between scenes in "Under Two Flags," the William Fox photoplay, in which he plays Chateaufort, the villain. Walking along Forty-sixth street, he saw an orange rolling down the sidewalk by his side. He stooped and picked it up, then saw that it belonged to a little boy who was coming down the street with his mother, and walked toward him with the orange.

The child held out his hand and Holmes reached the orange toward him. Then the woman started.

"Don't take that orange, Willie," she said. "He's a bad man, and there's no telling what he's done to it."

Holmes was puzzled.

"I haven't had a chance to do anything to it," said Holmes, "and if I had, why should I?"

"I've seen you do things worse than that in the movies," said the woman. "And I won't trust you now."

Willie began crying, the woman dragged him down the street, and Holmes remained motionless with the orange in his hand.

"Being a villain has its drawbacks," said Holmes in telling the story afterwards, "but that was one of the best oranges I ever ate."

self into thinking adequate recompense for what she has sacrificed, is bitter to her.

I know picture stars, my "screen" friend, who would envy you those things you have not sacrificed much more than you envy them their fame and popularity. A good friend, without pretense, a mother's love and dear home life, a world's respect in one—these are some of the elements of human happiness that all the applause and money in the world cannot recompense for.

Fame is very sweet when it comes to one naturally and as reward for hard and earnest endeavor; but it is very very empty when purchased on payment of the real and true things in life.

This may read a great deal like a sermon—and I don't want to preach—but it is a sermon. It is at least a very practical gospel use of Cooper.

You will find it a safe rule to go by, if you are in the struggle for fame, to cling always to those things you had found truest and dearest in your home life. They are the big things. Human happiness and self-respect—there can be no success without these.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

"Here, Sonny, give me a shine. Be quick about it as I am in an awful hurry."

The gentleman was addressing an apparently frightened bootblack at the entrance of the subway in Brooklyn's shopping district. The "boy," however, made no move to comply with the gentleman's request, which caused the rushing businessman to become agitated, and he further remarked:

"Say, boy! Must I write you a letter?"

Director Wilfrid North stepped between the pair, and addressing the bootblack, remarked: "We are ready, Lillian."

The stranger then recognized the bootblack as Lillian Walker, who appears in the role of a "Bright of the Brush," in "The Kid," a Blue Ribbon Feature.

Miss Walker also plays several other characters in this latest story of which Wilfrid North is the author as well as producer.

AN INTERESTING MAP.

Toronto and its Suburbs. Conspicuously Shown in C.P.R. Building Window.

A large map of Toronto and its suburbs has been posted conspicuously in a window of the C.P.R. Building, Yonge and King streets, where it is attracting considerable attention of passers-by.

The map, which is about six feet by five feet in dimensions, is indexed and bears complete information regarding streets, street railways, steam railroads, steamship lines, stations, etc. It was made by the Map Company of Toronto. The poster is not only of much aid to persons seeking a certain destination in the city, but of interest to all those who examine it.

The question of whether teachers of military age are of greater importance to education than to the army is causing much discussion thruout England.

CAST VOTE FOR STRIKE.

Verdict of U. S. Railwaymen is Overwhelming.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The task of counting the votes of approximately 400,000 railroad employes on the question of authorizing a general strike in the event that their demands for an eight-hour day and time and a half pay for overtime are finally denied, was completed just before noon today, it was announced at headquarters here of the four railroad brotherhoods. Although no official statement could be obtained as to the result, it was learned from an authoritative source that the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of a strike.

EDITOR OF VORWAERTS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Leading Socialist Newspaper of Berlin to Be Securely Muzzled.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The arrest of Dr. Ernest Meyer, editor of Vorwaerts of Berlin, is reported in a telegram received at Amsterdam from Berlin as forwarded by the Central News.

Vorwaerts is the leading Socialist newspaper of Berlin, and its editor has been in conflict previously with the German authorities for his writings. In February he was sentenced to imprisonment for one week on the charge of inciting class hatred and disobeying orders of the military authorities. Dr. Meyer's pamphlets, "Who is Responsible for the War?" and "The Assassination Mania," have attracted wide attention.
