THE EVERY DAY CLUB

Editor of Times: Saint John N. B.

Dear Sir,—Having seen through the columns of your valuable paper items relative to the Every Day Club, and having much sympathy in the work being done by such club "To Help Men To Be Men," and further, knowing the origin of such organization, permit me, sir, to correct a feeling which has taken root in the minds of many of the citizens regarding the birth of the Every Day Club.

It has been said the club is solely the outcome of a series of temperance lectures delivered by an orator of some note while in our city last year. To place credit where it is due, and give all the true conception of the matter, I beg leave to say that the idea of the Every Day Club was conceived and worked out to a good purpose and with like results over a year before the opening up of such work on Waterloo street.

Upwards of forty men of different denominations, testing and finding out by experience the need of such a work, started a club in the schoolroom of Brussels street church, which was given them for use one evening each week, and as the result of business meetings held from time to time, they arrived at the conclusion that the organization be named the Every Day Club, and have these words "To Help Men To Be Men," for its motto.

Whatever steps were later taken to open up every evening the fine rooms on Waterloo street, to further the good work among men, let it be understood the foundation stone, name and motto were adopted from the former club, with approval of its members, some of whom are at present working the Waterloo street club along the lines and in the spirit of the motto "To Help Men To Be Men."
