A TIMELY PROTEST

The lack of business ability in the conduct of military affairs in Canada after more than a year of war is becoming the subject of much criticism throughout the country.

"I don't make any threats of what I am going to do. But I make this simple statement: I have a right to run my factory exactly as I am running it; I shall continue so to run it as long as I find it profitable or pleasant; and as long as I do run it, I am going to run it with perfect safety to every workman in it, to the family of every workman in it and to every stockholder in it.

been watching developments very closely, and has acted promptly in the case of Archibald and Dr. Dumba. There is a steadily growing feeling of irritation in the country over the interference of German sympathizers with the business of the country.

"I don't know why we came in here," said Mrs. Bored, as she settled herself down in a restaurant. "I'm not a bit hungry."

"What chance have I got with that girl? One of her admirers owns an automobile and the other has a motor-bus."

"Do you believe that there is really something which can invariably tell when a man is lying?"

"Sec' one," I married one of the women's meeting in the Opera House yesterday without experiencing a thrill of that same patriotic fervor which animated the mothers and wives who have encouraged their men to go to the front and strike a blow for the honor of women and the triumph of liberty and righteousness.

There is still the question of the Arab. If the German reply in regard to that matter is satisfactory to President Wilson the fact will not add to his reputation for discernment, and regard for the rights and the dignity of American citizenship.

One cannot read the report of the women's meeting in the Opera House yesterday without experiencing a thrill of that same patriotic fervor which animated the mothers and wives who have encouraged their men to go to the front and strike a blow for the honor of women and the triumph of liberty and righteousness.

There are two other matters yet to be noted. They are the hold up of the liquor dealers and the affair of the potatoe potatoes. Mr. Carter has proved to the hilt what he set out to prove in other cases, and only awaits an opportunity to make further exposures quite as damaging in their effect upon the reputation of the provincial government.
