

the premier added. He said he was happy to say that Japan's relations with her British ally and other powers with her British ally and other powers with her British ally and other powers with whom she was fighting side by side con-stantly were being strengthened. The recent exchange of the honors of field marshalship between Japan and Great Britain was a matter for profound mu-tual congratulations, because it marked the increasing strength of their alliances. "The premier said he was especially gratified to report "the splendid results of the visit of the sp

WHAT A LOVELY DAY TO PLAY, HOOKEY

Phelix and Pherdinand WEATHER

REPORT

<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text>