The dangerous condition of some of the old cedar block pavements on Main street was illustrated this morning by an accident to a carriage. At a place where the pavement is badly worn away near Douglas Avenue, a carriage when crossing the street car tracks caught its wheel and wrecked the wheel completely. The driver escaped without injury.

WATER AND SEWERAGE

BOARD MEETS TONIGHT

One of the chief matters to be taken up by the Water and Sewerage Board at the regular monthly meeting this evening is the proposal to erect standpipes for the use of the watering carts. In addition to being more convenient this will save wear on the fire hydrants. Several times in the past the water mains have burst owing to the hydrants being turned off too quickly through the carelessness of the drivers. This also will be avoided by the use of the new pipes.

A list of localities for twelve pipes, selected by the director of public works and the superintendent of streets will be submitted to the board for approval. Sowers will receive considerable attention. The superintendent will submit reports showing the estimated cost of a sewer on Duke street, west end, to be $1,500. For a sewer that a petitioner asks be laid on Richey street the estimated cost is $400 and the estimated revenue only $200.

A RELIC OF THE FIRE

IS BEING PRESERVED

The old lump of iron, relic of the big fire of '77, which was placed in the north west corner of the old building ground in receiving station today. The piece of iron weighs about three tons and was taken from the ruins of Lewis and Armstrong's hardware store which was situated on Market Square before the fire.

The different pieces of hardware were all run into one block by the excessive heat and pieces of bolts, spikes, bars, nails, etc., can be seen embedded in the mass. During the last few years the heavy piece of iron has been steadily sinking into the ground. Workmen are today raising it and placing it on a stone foundation.

SOUTH AFRICAN VETS AND WESTERN LANDS

Most Profitable Plan is to Become Farmers

Recipients May However Dispose of Their Rights Under Certain Conditions—Particulars of the Grant

Definite information received by The Star with respect to lands granted by the federal government to South African veterans and others, indicates that those of the prospective recipients who had an idea of holding the lands vacant in the hope of future profits are doomed to disappointment. The government had no intention of departing from its settled land policy and these grants will all come under the homestead regulations. The grant is made in two ways. Veterans may draw what is called "cash scrip" for $100 good to buy government land. The market value of this scrip now is from $125 to $150 according as the holder should come in contact with land purchasers. The other option to the veteran is the land itself. He may at any time within two years apply for and be allotted 200 acres in certain localities fixed by the act. This land cannot be held vacant. The person who receives it of the one to "black" the land within six months and must, under the homestead laws, remain there for three years, building a house and cultivating a portion of the land, before it becomes his absolute property. This option also carries with it the right of assignment and in this case the value is low.

Anyone moving to the west to settle will receive upon application 160 acres of land without any charge. Thus the grant to the veteran is really only 160 acres, inasmuch as by settling in the west they could take up the other 160 acres. Consequently persons desirous of going out to commence farming and who want more than 160 acres are ready to purchase only whatever they desire in excess of that area.

The veteran may if he so desire, dispose of his rights to the land wholly or in part. He may be granted him, and these rights are of very little more value than the cash scrip.

The federal government during the session just ended, passed another land act which has a material effect on the grants to veterans. Under it every homesteader in the west, no matter how long he has been there, is given the privilege of re-empting another 160 acres at $3.00 per acre, and to fill the demand the government has thrown open all those sections, in certain valuable districts heretofore reserved. This act comes into effect on Sept. 1st and it is stated that thousands of applications are now in the land offices. There will be a great rush of veterans who are on the ground and who have their lands selected would of course stand a chance with the rest but after the September 1st the best part of the land will have been picked up. The best thing a veteran can do, judging from all that can be learned, is to go west at once draw his land, and settle on it. If he cannot do this, the chances are that he will get more money for his rights before the first of September than he will afterwards.

POLICE COURT

Little nine year old Harold Lyons was arrested this morning on the charge of theft. Yesterday John Rutledge, an old man, left his vest hanging on a fence on Douglas Avenue and the boy seeing a watch in the pocket of the vest, could not resist the temptation, and picked the pocket. He acknowledged the theft and on promising to be a good boy in the future was allowed to go.

George Beatty, Athol Duffy and Harry Armstrong were charged with discharging firearms within the city limits. B. M. Baxter represented the boys and it was explained that they had been in a back yard on one of the streets where they were firing at a tin can as a target. They failed to hit the target but placed four bullets in George Clark's house on the next street. They said they were sorry and had repaired the damage.

Clark did not wish to prosecute and the boys were allowed to go with a warning. J. Seddon, a colored youth, was charged with using bad language, to Mrs. Brandy on Queen street. He was allowed to go with a reprimand. Two drunks were fined four dollars each.

George Corey, the powerful Turk, who has been seen in a couple of the moving picture shows doing strong stunts, was found, reported in Harker's drug store way about two o'clock and was locked up by Policeman McCollum. He was told to get out of the city and was allowed to go.
