INTERNATIONAL LAWN
Sydney, N. S. W., March 5.—The Australian lawn tennis association has rejected Canada's challenge for the Davis Cup, the world's premier tennis trophy on the ground of its having arrived after the expiration of the time limit for challenges. It is suggested, however, that Canada apply to the other challenging nations for a re-draw.

Six Rinks a Side Battled Last Night — Only One West End Rink Won — Total Score Was 111 to 63.

The Carleton curlers were given probably the hardest beating they have received this season when last night they played another match with the Thistles with six rinks a side. On the Thistle ice they were beaten by 18 points the score being 61 to 33. At the West Side the Thistles gave their opponents a more severe trimming, winning by 30 points. The score was 50 to 20. The grand total for the night was 111 to 63. Following is the score by the rinks:

"A FOOL AND HIS MONEY."
In 1919 the capitalization of the oil stocks issued in the United States was $8,000,000,000, and of the oil produced, only one-sixth of one per cent. came from companies whose stocks were advertised and peddled among the public, says a writer in the Boston News Bureau. Ninety-nine and one-fifth per cent. of oil was produced by companies whose securities were not offered or specially advertised to the public at all. If buyers of wild-cat oil stocks were to reflect upon the significance of these facts, they would swear off giving good money to unscrupulous swindlers. It is said that mining stocks are made to sell, but the average oil stock promotion has not got even some of the merits of a gold or silver stock.

Most of the eight billions of stock floated in 1919 went to United States "suckers," but Canada "unfortunately" gets some of the slop-overs of the questionable promotions, is the comment of the Toronto Mail and Empire. It certainly does pass comprehension why a Canadian investor should buy stock in some oil promotion in Texas, or Oklahoma, or Louisiana, especially when he is approached through the flamboyant advertisement. He knows nothing of the local situation, of the people with whom he deals, he has no guarantee of good management. Far fields always will look green, human nature being what it is, but surely elementary common sense would tell buyers of stock in far-distant oil ventures that if the prospect were good enough for those close at hand to take up the issue, and they would not hear of the proposition. If a man has several hundreds, or a thousand or two dollars saved up for investment, why should he not buy good preferred Canadian securities, or buy a little revenue-producing property? The sum of out which outstock buyers have been swindled in the last year is at least several billions.

RECORD BASKETBALL GAME

WAS PLAYED LAST NIGHT

U. N. B. Seniors After Triumphant Tour of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Were Defeated by Local Y. M. C. A. Team in Close Score of 20 to 19—Brilliant Exhibition of Fast Playing Enjoyed by Large Crowd.

Before a bumper house composed of a bunch of over three hundred enthusiastic rooters, the U. N. B. Senior basketball team, after a triumphant tour of the larger centres of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, went down to defeat before the local Y. M. C. A. Seniors last night, in a game, which for clean playing, close checking and brilliant passing, will go on record as beyond all doubt the best game of the season.

The game started with a snap, when R. Willet shot a field goal for the Y. M. C. A., this was closely followed by a basket from Margetta. Fast playing for the next five minutes resulted in U. N. B. getting a foul shot, Ken Willet then tallied for the Red and Black, bringing the score up 4 to 3, with but a minute to go. Thorne of the Y. M. C. A. here showed his skill and piloted the ball into the basket just before the time keeper's whistle announced half time, the first period ending 6 to 3 in favor of "Y" quartette.

Between halves Perkins and Pollard of the Business Boys' Class put on a clever boxing exhibition which met with a very hearty reception from the fans. Willet of the U. N. B. was the first to score in the second half when he rolled in two points for the college boys in the first few minutes of play. The game then waxed fast and furious with neither team able to score until Thorne found the U. N. B. basket for another point in a neat shot from down the floor. Margetta quickly followed with a field goal, then "Pie" McAndrews and Bridges of U. N. B. both scored in quick succession. Both were subjected to a barrage for a few minutes, Willet of the Y. M. C. A., and Dunmer and Mc-like charges in foreign countries. There are more vacant farms in New York State than there are in Ontario. New York State farms are lower priced than are Ontario farms. These farmers have access to the cheaper farm implements which appeal so strongly to Mr. Cramer. They have too. Why is it? One reason probably is that the great cities of the state have their strong lure for the man in the country. Another reason may be that the cost of reaching the ultimate consumer in the United States is so great that the farmer gets an inadequate return for his share of the labor involved in production. The farmer is the condition of the farmer across the border is not better, it is not as good, as is that of the farmers of our own country. What, then, do we want our farmers to gain by forcing Canada into the hands of the United States manufacturing monopolies which sooner or later will take from us the last dollar that we are able to save? We do not better retain our independence? What could repay us for the loss of it?

Mr. Cramer's Position.
(Montreal Gazette).
Mr. Cramer's announcement that he will support Mr. Mackenzie King's motion for the division of the address takes place in the House of Commons will cause no surprise. It does not mean that the Third Party, in which Mr. Cramer is the most prominent member has joined, or will join, the Liberal opposition. That, however, is the result to be expected. Some of Mr. Cramer's friends have spoken of him as a coming prime minister, heading a United Farmer government. That dream has now small prospect of being realized. Mr. Cramer may be a politician, but he is not a statesman. For some time all Canadian national cabinets are likely to be combinations. His acceptance of the Liberal lead on the first issue of the session will have the effect of making people regard the U.F.O. representation in Parliament as a subsidiary of the greater Liberal opposition, and will also suggest that the two parties are now together to share in whatever fortune the next parliamentary election will open.

Mr. Cramer's Attitude.
(London Free Press).
What the country has to consider, in view of Mr. Cramer's attitude, is whether it is prepared to revolutionize its economic system, with the consequent disruption and instability which our trade must sustain in such circumstances. We are prepared to stop the flow of United States industries and British industries and French industries to Canada. Are we ready to open our doors to the giant monopolies of the Eastern and Middle States and to drive our workmen to live under another flag? Because if Mr. Cramer's policy means anything at all it means that he hopes to be able to buy more United States goods than at present. And if Canada is to enlarge her purchases from United States manufacturers it must be at the expense of the manufacturers of Canada and in turn of their employees.

Mr. Cramer complains that Canadian farmers are in the position of buying in restricted markets and selling in the open markets of the world. But this is only partially true. The duty upon United States-made farm implements is near to the vanishing point. It is less than has been the difference in exchange brought about by the fact that we already have been buying too much foreign goods and too little of that which is produced at home. Nor does the Canadian farmer sell altogether in the open markets of the world, because it has been estimated that 80 per cent. of his product is consumed in Canada, where he has the best call, and where his returns are materially larger than if he had to pay transportation and Andrews for U. N. B. Margetta then tied the score with a foul. At this point U. N. B. again took the lead on a foul goal shot by their redoubtable all-star "Pie" McAndrews, but Margetta evened things up with another goal. Another foul by Margetta put the local team in the lead by three points. Willet again found the basket for one more Red and Black goal, which was duplicated by Margetta for the Y. M. C. A.

The college boys here took the lead with a shot from Burden from right under the basket, but Y. M. C. A. Thorne rolled in the last point of the game, neither team being able to beat the referee's whistle for another basket, the game ending: Y. M. C. A. 20; U. N. B. 19.

It was then the Y. M. C. A. rooters went wild, and cheer after cheer made the rafters ring as they hailed their victorious team.

T. S. Armour, of the physical department, and Sam McAvoy, of U. N. B. refereed and umpired the match in a satisfactory manner to all.

Following the game the U. N. B. players, and the Fairville and Y. W. C. A. girls who featured in the preliminary match of the evening, were entertained at a social and dance. Refreshments were served by the M. C. A. Ladies Auxiliary. Mrs. Ralph Fowler chaperoned ally assisted by other ladies of the auxiliary.

The teams lined up as follows:

Thorne ... K. Willet
R. Willet ... Dunmer
Centre ...
Margetta ... Bridges

LAUZANNE ATTACKS SULTAN'S FRIENDS IN HIS COUNTRY
Urges Revision of Policy Which Satisfies Only a Small Group.

Paris, March 8.—Stephane Lauzanpe, editor of the Matin, in a despatch from London, warns France of the unfavorable results in America as well in other friendly countries of French insistence upon maintaining the Turkish government in Constantinople. He writes:

"Slowly but surely the cloud grows in America. All despatches, official and private received today from the United States are despatched with a public opinion is indignant at the solution of Constantinople's problem. The American public cannot understand the tenacious affection of Europe and, above all, of France, for the rotten regime called the Turkish government. American public opinion demands that the Bosphorus be freed of the hand of puppets and thieves which, up to the present, has reigned over the Turkish people."

However, President Wilson, who each day recovers his health, also recovers his political dexterity, which was his principal, if not his only virtue. He knows that the treaty of Versailles is unpopular and that the senates will not ratify it. He seeks only an occasion to put it in his pocket. He tried to find out this pretext the other day in the Adriatic affair. But what a windfall for him if the Allies give him a good motive, both popular and worthy. And what a motive more worthy and more popular in America than the maintenance in Constantinople of the abhorrent government of murderers and traitors? We can already see in action the redoubtable White House typewriter. It is announced it is about to get to work again. And what is more grave, what will come out of it will have the approval of more than a standard million Americans.

"Let us sum up all the sides this question has for France. English public opinion is dissatisfied with us from reasons of dignity and sentiment. American public opinion is dissatisfied with us for reasons moral and religious. Finally, dissatisfied with us for reasons of policy and of commerce. Greece is dissatisfied with us, and Venizelos has said: I cannot understand a policy which consists in taking the part of enemies against friends." We satisfy, I suppose, a certain consortium, present or future, which has the exploitation of roads and tobacco. We satisfy certain writers and artists who cannot imagine a sunset on the golden horn without the palace of the Sultan.

"Getting to the bottom of the matter, we, the champions of the right of civilization or morality, support at the danger's point, against the advice of all our allies and friends, a regime, the most anachronistic, the most corrupt, the most immoral which Europe has ever known, a regime which, in 1914, were we fighting for our life, tried to stick a knife in our back."

Clark Trophy

Now In St. John

Taken from University of New Brunswick Yesterday and Placed in Safety Deposit Vault in This City—U. N. B. Had it Since 1914.

Special To The Standard.
Fredericton, N. B., March 10.—The Clark Trophy was ordered to be placed in a safety deposit vault at St. John by the Trustees of the Trophy at their meeting in Moncton, and was taken to St. John this morning by Captain Clarence B. Burden, of the 1914 U. N. B. football team.

Yesterday morning the cup was taken out of the case at the University in which it had stood since 1914, when it was won by U. N. B. in the first year it was offered for competition between Acadia, Mount Allison and U. N. B. and Captain Burden took it along when he went to St. John with the U. N. B. basketball team.

The cup was offered by P. T. Clark, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1914 after Acadia had become permanent owners of the "King-Richardson" trophy in the Fall of 1913. Mr. Clark is the stepfather of "Gummy" Atkins, who was captain of the Acadia football team in 1914.

Many of the students took a farewell look at the cup before it was taken to St. John but its removal has made the student body more determined to bring it back next year.
