WHITE BOTTLES FOR CHINA.—If you are trying to pick up trade in China in anything which you put up in bottles, see if you do not get a better demand by using white instead of dark-coloured bottles. Consul Fowler at Chefoo says that white bottles are preferred by the natives, because they bring more at the second-hand shops than the dark ones, and Asiatic servants, knowing this, and being allowed to dispose of empty packages as a part of their perquisites, when permitted to use their own discretion, are liable to choose goods put up in the white glass, even when the contents of the dark glass are of better quality. This fact is at least worth bearing in mind.—The "New York Commercial."
