HUMOROUS.

A witty Anglican Bishop was once asked for his definition of the words orthodoxy and heterodoxy and answered: "Orthodoxy is my doxy; heterodoxy is another man's doxy."

"Her love, her love is dead," sadly sings Claude Melhote in a poem entitled "Blighted Hopes." It wasn't love Claude—not real, Simon-pure love. She was fooling with you. Pure love never dies. It gets dreadfully sick sometimes, but it never, never expires. Brace up, Claude.

A young lady in the country whose beauty formed a matter of general admiration and discussion, in passing a group of officers in the street, heard one of them exclaim to his fellow, "By heaven, she's panted." "Yes, sir, and by heaven only," she quickly replied. The officer acknowledged the full force of the rebuke and apologized.

"Disturbance!"—Country banker to shabby customer: "Are you aware, Mr. Sullivan, that your accounts are overdrawn a hundred or so?" Sullivan: "Certainly I am, sir. Don't bother me about such trifles; I don't go howling about the country when you've a hundred or so of mine! Your information is superfluous either way! Good morning, sir!"

Clubs for Editors.—"Tommy, my son, what are you going to do with that club?" "Send it to the editor, of course." "But what are you going to send it to the editor for?" "Cause he says if anybody will send him a club he will send them a copy of his paper." The mother came near fainting, but recovered herself sufficiently to ask, "But, Tommy, dear, what do you suppose he wants with a club?" "Well, I don't know," replied the clubber, "unless it is to knock down subscribers as don't pay for their papers. I suppose there are plenty of such man people." That boy stands a chance for the Presidency, if he lives.—American paper.

A lady of rather a positive turn of mind once gave a tea party to some lady friends in her bedroom. "John," she said to her husband as she heard the company coming, "get under the bed!" "John tried to resist, but finally succumbed. Every now and then he would make an effort to peep out at the ladies laughing and made merry, but he was mercilessly driven back by his angered wife. At length after a good joke had exploded among the party John put his head away out. "Get in there, will you?" whispered his wife, as she nudged him. "No," shrieked John; "as long as I have the spirit of man left in me I will take a peep!"

"According to the testimony," said the justice, "you were caught just as you were getting out of the window with the contents of the till." "Yes, judge, and I shall always be grateful to the man who caught me. When I have that man's name built in I am in danger of falling out of windows and hurting myself." "That never occurred to me," said the judge, pensively. "It has occurred to me often," responded the accused, with unconscious humor. "That being the case I will direct the sheriff—" "To turn me loose!" anxiously inquired the doomed man. "No; but to put an extra bar across your cell windows."

"Dear old Aunt Sarah," said a school-girl, "don't see very well, and last Sunday she was buzzing around getting ready for church, looking for umbrellas, spees and overshoes, and last but not least, her prayer-book. The latter she thought she had secured by grabbing something off her bureau at the last moment, but when she got to church it proved to be my musical box, and the old lady, in trying to find her place in this uncommon book of prayer, touched the spring, and it went off in fine style to the tune of 'Oh, Jim Along, Jim Along Josey.'"

Woman's Softening Influence—"His astomishin'" remarked an old forty-niner one day last week, as he nodded over his glass to a San Francisco reporter, "it's astomishin' what a colossal a man is at home—a regular crawlin' snake, by Jove! I traveled a good bit, and held up my end in most of the camps on the coast since '36. I've got three bullets in side o' me. I've shot and been shot at, and never heard anybody say I hadn't as good grit as most feller. But when I get back at home I'm a kyeon. Afore I'd let the old woman know that her hot biscuits wasn't all when they're the stiffest an' hardest, I'd fill myself as full as a retort. I've done it lots o' times. Most o' my teeth is gone in front tuggin' on breakfasts that the old woman fried. I've think I was out when I go over a chair in the dark! No, sir. While I'm rubbin' my slins and keepin' back my te to I'm likewise swantin' fur fear the old woman has been woke by the upset. It didn't use to be so," sighed the poor fellow, thoughtfully rubbing his shining scalp. "When we first hitched I thought I was the superintendent, but after a year or two of argy-bargy the plat I settled down to shavin' the ear at low wages. I kin lick any man o' my age an' size," cried the old gentleman banging the saloon table with his wrinkled fist. "I'll shoot, stand up, or rough-and-tumble for coin, but when I hang my hat on the peg in the hall and take off my muddy boots, an' hear the old woman ask if that's me, I feel you the starch comes right out o' me."

Willing to Give Way. On a Detroit street a woman of 50, made up to look about 25 years old, got aboard at a crossing to find every seat occupied. She stood for a moment, and then, selecting a poorly-dressed man about 45 years of age, she observed: "Are there no gentlemen on this car?" "Indeed, I dunno," he replied, as he looked up and down. "If there hadn't, and you are going clear through, I'll hunt up one for you at the end of the line!"

There was an embarrassing silence for a moment, and then a light broke in on him all of a sudden, and he rose and said: "You can have this seat, madam. I am allus perfectly willing to stand up and give my seat to anybody older than myself."

That decided her. She gave him a look that he will not forget in his dying day, and grabbing the strap, she refused to sit down, even when five seats had become vacant.

THE GLASS BALL CASTERS.

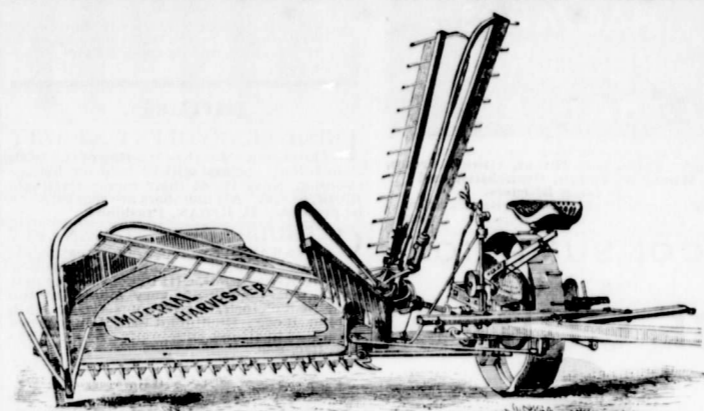

We call attention to these simple and beautiful casters, which are rapidly superseding all others. They consist of Flint Glass Balls, held in claws of iron ball material and are easy bearing. For furniture they improve the appearance and possess many advantages over the old velvet cover. For glasses and ornaments they possess unquestionable merits and add materially to the appearance and value of the instrument. For bedsteads they are most useful. Being non-conductors, they prevent electricity escaping from the body during sleep. Persons afflicted with rheumatism, neuralgia, and other ailments are greatly benefited and restored to health by their use. THE IMPERIAL HARVESTER EQUIPPED WITH OUR NEW RAKE.

When we tell you the Imperial Harvester is the most perfect reaping machine made, we also lay before you the facts in order that you can judge for yourselves. Not only does this machine possess more valuable patented improvements than any other machine made, but in construction it is the simplest; in strength, and durability, combined with lightness, compactness, symmetry of design, convenience in handling and capacity for performing extraordinary ranges of work with ease and perfection, it has to equal. It is adapted to work on any farm field, in any kind of grain, and it possesses advantages over all others, equipped as it is with both the acknowledged perfect rakes now in use, either of which farmers can choose when purchasing.

Farmers, be not deceived by any statements made by agents anxious to sell you reapers of other makers. You now have the opportunity of purchasing the only perfect machine in the market, and do not let that opportunity slip from you.

The Imperial is sold under full guaranty that it is just as we represent it. You run no risk in buying it. It will do all we say, and more too. Therefore send in your orders at once. It costs no more to purchase now than it will at harvest time. By having your machine at home before you require to use it, you will become so familiar with its construction and operation that when you begin harvesting you will be able to go right through without a single delay. This to every farmer is a matter of great importance.

Our agents will have sample machines at different points for inspection during the winter and spring months, where you can see them and leave your orders. Or you can send your orders to us direct. We will ship you a machine, and if it does not fulfil every representation we make concerning it, when you receive it, send it back and we will return your order. This is the way we do business. In dealing with us you run no risk whatever. You want value for your money, and we want your custom, and if we would keep your custom we must give you the worth of your money. When you buy the Imperial you not only have the best machine made, but you likewise have the cheapest, for the best is always the cheapest. The Imperial HARVESTER can be obtained only at the Globe Works, London, Ontario, or through the regular agents of the Company. Bear this in mind and order your machine now.

In your orders specify which rake you want, the "Johnston" or the "Imperial" rake shown in the above cut.
