acres into 10 and 20 acre blocks. This farm is situated in the famous Burton Valley at Burton City, and has fully demonstrated the possibilities of frui growing in this district. There is an orchard of 200 fruit trees of different varieties, 75 of which are now bearing and all in a healthy condition. 40 acres have been cleared and in crop. As high as 350 bushels of potatoes have been grown on this land and sold at from 75c. to 90c. per bushel. Fruits and garden truck do remarkably well here. and there is an unlimited market right at our doors.

The balance of this land is equally as good and in most cases better than that already cleared, being largely a lear mould with a clay loam and clay sub soil. Clearing can be done for from $15 to $35 per acre, and we will under take to clear ready for the plough a these figures.

This land is being sold at from $12! to $300 per acre according to location others flung themselves face downward on the ground; the most uneasy of the bunch threw stones at the little gophers that peeped out of their holes as if they knew how miserable we were, and wanted to make fun of us.

"I want a couple of you boys," said the doctor, suddenly appearing at the door of the shack. Everyone sprang forward, chorusing, "How is he, Doc?"

The doctor shook his head. "Can't tell yet," he said, and choosing Harry and I, returned to the sick man.

Peters was stripped to the waist, and in consequence of the tight bandaging on his hand and wrist, his arm had turned black nearly to the shoulder.
"When did this happen?" asked the doctor gravely. Our legs trembled as we explained the incident, and the doc-129 tor nodded thoughtfully, without a word. Finally Harry and I grew thoroughly impatient, and Harry burst out, "Can't you give us any hope doctor. Ain't there a chance?"

"Couldn't say yet," responded the doctor. "Couldn't say," and with that we had to be content.

"'T'ain't so bad to make a man pass in his checks on a square deal, but this here puttin' a feller in a dirty snake trap an' havin' him kick the bucket ain't what none of us here like. The blamed law can do jest as it likes for mine. Damned if I care. See?"

Shady Bill shoved his face within two inches of the doctor's whiskers as he went on record, and emphasized it with a thump of his fist on the table, but the doctor didn't seem properly impressed. He took two steps backward and began to laugh. Bill looked at him wrathfully

"Now, what the hell are you laughin at, you doggone, pug-faced coyote. It's a damned nice time for you to be lettin' off your ha-has, ain't it, you cnock-kneed, wall-eyed, spavined, ratailed Rocky Mountain canary, you. You jest cut into that air room an' stop here till I tell you to come out, an' i see your greasy old nose stickin' 'round he door post, I'll give it one o' these nere," and to make his statement learer Shady Bill loosed off a shot rom each of his forty-five calibre Colts earer the doctor's heels than agreed with that gentleman's dignity. The doctor didn't stay for breakfast, however—said he had a pressing engagement in town, but Peters came out and ate with the outfit in a casual everyday sort of way. After that rattler episode the boys called him Snake-bite Bill, and the boss and the ranch were the best kind of pals. We were darned sorry when Long Pete ambled in from Vancouver with the marks of a two months romp on him, and his brother put on the white collar and hiked back to the East once more.-Percy S. Howard in Canada West.
