

Weekly Budget of News From Flat Island, B.B.

(Editor Mail and Advocate)

The Loyal Orange Lodge of Fair Island, B.B., held its annual parade on the 23rd of January and everything passed off splendidly. The day was all that could be desired, and the roads entirely free of snow. The brethren assembled at their Lodge room at 9.30 a.m. and at 10.20 a.m. the procession was in readiness and marched to the Church of England, where Divine Service was held and a splendid sermon was read to them by I. G. Hoskins, teacher of that place, on "Unity and Brotherly Love."

Special hymns were sung suitable for the service. The singing was rich and of a melodious sound. A large congregation attended and all were familiar with the hymns. After the service the procession marched around the Island, volleys of musketry greeting them all along the route. They then paraded to their lodge and sang the National Anthem before entering their room, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of by a large number of people. An enjoyable time was spent by all present, retirement being at a late hour.

The society of the United Fishermen of Fair Island held its annual parade on the 23rd, February having a glorious day for it. The brethren assembled at their hall 10 a.m. and were in readiness at 11.20 a.m. They marched to the Church of England, where in instructive sermon on "Duty and Unity" was read to them by the teacher of that place.

After service the procession marched to Brother Louis Brown's house. He being a member of the order and being unable to attend owing to sickness, we sang a hymn to him and then marched around the harbour.

On returning to the hall we sat in to the tables where every one satisfied the inner man.

Dancing opened up at 7.30 p.m. with music played by different players. Good order was kept and I have no doubt in saying that the night was spent enjoyable by all who attended. The hall closed at 5 a.m. in the morning.

Feb. 19.—St. Stephen's Annual Parish meeting was held in St. Barnabas school room at 8 p.m. Saturday fortnight. Mr. William Firmage was elected rector, warden, and Mr. Malcolm Rogers re-elected peoples warden and a vestry of ten parishioners was appointed.

Feb. 25th—Last Friday morning the Angel of death visited this little settlement and claimed for its victim Mr. Louis Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, aged 28 years. He was the youngest of twelve children, and was a member of the S. U. F. Society. He leaves to mourn him a mother, father, three brothers and one sister, the latter who is at present residing in some part of the United States as a nurse. His coffin was covered with wreaths showing the esteem in which he was held. His funeral was attended by upwards of three hundred people, the S. U. F. following. Service was conducted by I. G. Hoskins (teacher).

The remains were laid to rest in Church of England cemetery. The sympathy of the whole place goes out to the sorrowing wife and grief-stricken parents.

March 1st.—The annual parade of the F.P.U. took place. It was little cold and windy but that didn't stop them, for they are a hardy bunch of unionists. A sermon was given them in the Church of England by Teacher Hoskins.

They then paraded for some distance around the Harbour, and returning to the Orange Hall partook of a sumptuous feast of well-made rabbit soup.

At 8 p.m. a concert was held in the Orange Lodge under the planning of Miss Edna M. Dominey and Miss Henrietta Parsons. The former, teacher at Paul's Island; the latter at Sydney. I. G. Hoskins, acted as chairman, and the programme consisted of songs, dialogues, recitations and dancing, etc. The children who rendered the different times performed their parts well. The dialogues performed by the young ladies and young men were very interesting, as well as amusing. The best of all was the Eskimo dance by Mr. Job Hunt who did it to perfection, baiting his hook and reeling it up and still dancing, violin giving him tune. Nearly everybody spoiled their face laughing at him. Splendid songs were sung.

The concert was brought to a close at 11 p.m. by the singing of the National Anthem. The promoters of the concert were highly praised and so were the helpers. We wish them every success in their work.

ISRAEL G. HOSKINS

Dear Mother,—Just a line or two to let you know I am doing well. It seems a long time since I wrote to you but I have been changing over to night duty again and waiting to feel a bit settled. We had a very busy night last night. There was a convey in and we got 138 patients, so you see we had quite enough to do to wash and feed them and get their dressings done, etc., as well as our usual work. Though 138 is not a large convey we often admit many more than that in one night. Well, anyhow you must not blame me if I don't write a long letter this morning as I am feeling dead sleepy.

I am in bed writing this, so I think I shall stop now and go to sleep, for we are sure to have a busy night again to-night. I hope to be able to write a longer one next time.

Deakin is well and sends her love. She thinks baby John is a fine boy and says she longs to hug him. So I tell her she may do so after the war if he does not object. Hope you are not working too hard in the shop and that you have nice dresses. We have had stoves put in our bed rooms to-day, until now we have heated our rooms with oil lamps. Now good-bye and write me a newsy letter the next time. Best love to you and Aunt Betty and all. Tell Tom and Leah I am going to write soon.

From your loving MONA.

All See the Tide of Unionism is Now Sweeping the Country

(Editor Mail and Advocate)

Dear Sir,—On January 22nd Mr. Moses Noseworthy (one of our oldest and strongest members) passed away. He will be missed from our ranks, but our loss is his gain.

On Monday, February 21st, we had our annual parade which proved a grand success; although it was one of the stormiest days of the winter, it began to snow in the early, but as we were determined to be true to our Union we would not let trifles hinder us. So at 2 p.m. we met at our Union Hall with some visiting members from Little Harbour and Burgoyne's Cove Councils. We then formed up and marched down to White Rock Meth. Church where we were given a sermon by the Rev. J. W. Winsor, the Rev. Gentleman taking for his text the 16th and 18th verses of the 18th chapter of St. John's Gospel.

After service we wended our way back to the hall through the snow, where we found it much more comfortable. Our good lady friends had the tables set ready for tea, to which we did ample justice.

In the late evening the weather cleared off fine, and a good crowd gathered around.

On February 28th Mr. John Stone

M.H.A., came from Snook's Hr. to Snook's Brook and on that night held a meeting in the Union Hall at Foster's Point. Our chairman being away our Deputy Chairman opened the meeting, after which our worthy District Chairman took the platform and held the attention of all present for full two hours and a half.

The members were surprised at our District Chairman because he is almost another Mr. Coaker. He told us many interesting items as regards the U. T. Company and the U. P. Co. and the Exporting Co. The members asked him some questions, which were answered very cheerfully by our worthy friend.

Well, Mr. Editor, we are still marching on to victory, because some of our strongest enemies are becoming our greatest friends, because they are aware that the day will come when they will have to go with the tide of unionism. We are glad to see the way the Editor of The Mail and Advocate handled Mosdell. Sir, I think the Daily Star will soon be like the "Chronicle," down and out. Wishing Mr. Coaker and the Union every success.

I am still in good health and enjoying myself o.k. I only wish I was taking a more active part in this game.

I must close now as I have no time to write more. Wish you and family every happiness, with kind regards.

Sincerely yours
H. P. SHORT.

HER DIFFICULTY

A young lady who slipped very badly was treated by a specialist, and after diligent practice and the expenditure of some money learned to say: "Sister Susie's Sewing Shirts for Soldiers."

She repeated it to her friends at a private rehearsal, and was congratulated upon her masterly performance. "Yeth," she said dubiously, "but it is truth an etheedingly difficult remark to work in a conversation—etpethally when you conthid, er that I have no thither Tthatie."

We Must Fight for Our Freedom

Dear Mr. Tuck,—I received your letter last week and was very glad to hear a word from you. There is very little news for me to say. I am well and getting along fine all the time hoping you are the same. We came in from sea last evening and will probably go out again on Tuesday morning.

It has been a very fine week of weather but blowing hard this morning from the Eastward. We are having a nice warm winter, quite a change from the kind of one I have been used to, but it is warm weather we want at sea. The nights are little chilly but the days are fine and warm. This is a fine place to spend a winter but it must be very warm in the summer.

As regards the war there is very little I can tell any more than what you know as you get just as much news as I do, but we all know it is still raging as fierce or even fiercer than ever, and I believe it will last sometime yet. It may end this year but I doubt it. I hope it will, there will be some lives lost before the object which we have given so many lives for is gained. We may wonder sometimes if it is worth the sacrifice we are making, but when we look on the other side and see the spirit of that people which would rule the world if they could, we can truthfully say that no sacrifice is too great. I believe it to be only right and just that we should fight for our country and freedom even though it may cost so many lives. The world would get on without us, but it cannot get on without the principles for which we believe England to be fighting for. God Bless England.

As you already know since leaving home I have been trying to lead a better life. There are many trials and temptations but God's grace is sufficient to carry us through, and I have also seen a little more of the world and its doings. What a contrast from our quiet homes in Hart's Hr. I have seen quite a lot since leaving home which I never would have seen there.
