BIG CROWD IN POLICE COURT

Magistrate Livingston Had Numerous Cases to Dispose of This Morning.

Attracted to the police court by the arrest of James Taylor, on a charge of murder, and the probability that he would be arraigned this morning, a large crowd assembled at the police court this morning, and to celebrate the occasion, Magistrate Livingston had before him a docket which occupied some hours. The majority of the cases were of a minor nature, but took up much time.

"Not guilty, sir," said Amos Black, when charged with selling liquor without a license. The police were therefore called upon to produce their evidence, and several witnesses were called. No one was able to state positively that Black had ever been selling liquor, although men had been seen to enter his place apparently sober and come out drunk. The charge was therefore dismissed.

On a charge of having liquor in his possession while "billed," Black was convicted on the evidence of the police, who told of finding whiskey and beer in the home of the accused, and a fine of $20 and costs was imposed.

A case against Wm. Taylor, charged with having liquor in his possession while on the "billed" list, occupied considerable attention, a fine of $10 being imposed. A charge of disorderly conduct was dismissed.

A number of drunks appeared on the carpet and were given the usual chance to make good, while one or two disorderly cases were shelved for the present time.

The adjourned cases of Welby Lutes, charged with assault upon his wife, and Chas. Biggs, charged with non-support, were settled between the parties.

"There was really nothing else that he could do," said Sergeant Wallace at the present time Acting Chief of Police, when asked this morning how the confession was wrung from Taylor so soon after he was arrested.

"His stories were so conflicting that he was at last bound to admit that he was not telling the truth and when he became convinced, and he saw that the evidence was against him, he just had to admit that he was the man. From the time that the murder was discovered, the police worked unceasingly in their efforts to run down the murderer, and when finally Taylor was placed under arrest those in charge of the case had evidence enough to bring a confession from almost any criminal."

SAVE GIRLS FROM EVIL INFLUENCES

Montreal Presbytery to Fight
Methods of Employment Bureaus.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—A determined effort to stamp out the traffic in immigrant girls, and their exploitation by employment bureaus is to be made by the Montreal Presbytery. Headed by the Rev. John Chisholm who brought to the attention of the Presbytery meeting yesterday the unwholesome influences by which they are often fleeced by employment bureaus, a committee of the presbytery was formed to investigate the entire question, to seek means of protecting the girls and of correcting the abuses of which they are the victims.

Mr. R. Hunter Craig, M. P., for the Gouvis division of Lanarkshire, from 1900 to 1906, has just died suddenly in his seventy-fifth year.

THAW IS FREE MAN TO-DAY

But How Long He Will be Free Remains
With U. S.

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw was seized in his quarters by immigration officials at 8 o'clock this morning and rushed shrieking and fighting to awaiting automobile, which bore him away to the Vermont border.

On his way to the automobile Thaw shouted at the top of his lungs that he was being kidnapped, and immigration officials sought to quiet him with assurances that such was not the case. Notwithstanding he fought like a madman and smashed a window with a bottle as the officers dragged him down the stairs.

The suddenness of the manoeuvre took both Thaw and his counsel entirely by surprise, and he carried them off their feet. It was reported here, though not confirmed, that the immigration officers acted under instructions of the Minister of the Interior.

The destination of the automobile, save that it was some place in Vermont just over the border, was unknown to any persons except his passengers. It was reported that Thaw would be taken to Norton Mills, Hector Verrett of counsel representing New York state in the fight to have Thaw brought back to Matteawan, said that he did not think that William T. Jerome, commander-in-chief of the New York state legal forces, was at Norton Mills. Mr. Verrett added that nobody knew that Thaw was to be taken so suddenly to Vermont.

Ottawa in the Dark.
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who is acting Minister of the Interior, was in conference for several hours yesterday afternoon with E. L. Newcombe, deputy minister of justice, and Hon. Arthur Meighen, Solicitor-General, on the legal aspects of the Thaw case. It is believed that the result of that conference had a direct bearing on Thaw's sensational deportation this morning, though this cannot yet be verified. Officials here so far profess absolute ignorance of the deportation.

They Were Dumbfounded.
MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—The members of Thaw's family and his lawyers here were dumbfounded when they learned that the immigration authorities had deported Thaw. "I am simply paralyzed," said J. N. Greenshields, K.C., the leader of Thaw's band of lawyers. "I cannot understand it, with a writ of prohibition and habeas corpus out it seems to me to be utterly impossible to believe. It is all beyond me. It certainly is a disgrace to our country and to our government of law. All we can do, if Thaw has been forced across the line, is to bring Roertson, the assistant superintendent of the immigration department before the court of King's Bench, but what good will that do us?"

Mr. Greenshields received a telegram from Thaw's secretary, notifying him that Thaw had been taken to Norton Mills, Vt.
W. K. McKeown, another of the Thaw counsel, said: "Deportation of Thaw in the face of the writ of habeas corpus, certainly looks like contempt of the Court of Appeal."

This morning before the news came that Harry K. Thaw had been deported by the immigration authorities, Mrs. Mary Copeley Thaw issued the following statement to the Canadian Press:

"Montreal, Sept. 9.—This purposeful deterred visit of myself and younger son, J. C. Thaw, as well as the second visit of my daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carnegie, are purely family matters, prompted by affectionate interest in the son and brother, H. K. Thaw. "It is not the intention of any of us to interfere in the slightest degree with H. K. Thaw, or his counsel in the management of his case. It has been demonstrated already that he is abundantly able to manage his own affairs. "For these reasons we have declined and will continue to decline to be interviewed by newspaper representatives of Canada or the United States and hence this explanatory communication to the several Associated Press agencies of our country and Canada. (Signed) Mary C. Thaw."

Thaw In the United States.
VAVRILL, Va., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw arrived here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

He had been released by the Canadian immigration authorities and was an absolutely free man, as nobody representing the state of New York or the state of Vermont was there to take him.

The Canadian immigration officials left Thaw at Norton Mills and then told him he was free to go wherever he liked. The newspaper men, who had followed Thaw then offered him room in an automobile and brought him here.

"This thing has been such a surprise to me that I don't know what I shall do yet," said Thaw to the reporter when asked for a statement.

STEWARTSTOWN, N.H., Sept. 10.—Thaw reached Stewartstown shortly after 10 o'clock. No attempt was made to arrest him here. He stood about the village square for about fifteen minutes, then re-entered his automobile without announcing his destination. About 11 o'clock he stopped at a farmhouse near Stewartstown and then continued on his journey.

Doherty Did It.
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Hon. C. J. Doherty, as acting Minister of the Interior Department, in a brief statement on the Thaw case, says he rejected the appeal from the decision of the immigration board of inquiry, upholding its findings and ordering the deportation of Thaw forthwith. This was therefore carried out this morning. The writ of habeas corpus or writ of prohibition issued at Montreal did not enjoin the immigration authorities from taking this step, according to the minister.

They're After Him.
ALBANY, N.Y., Sept. 10.—A requisition upon the Governor of Vermont for the return to New York State of Harry K. Thaw, was signed by Acting Governor Glinn recently and sent on for use in the event of Thaw being returned to the Vermont border by the immigration officials.

Mr. Glinn was advised to-day of the latest move in the Thaw case but declined to comment on it. Superintendent John B. Riley of the State prison department, expressed surprise when informed that Thaw was within the boundaries of Vermont. "I hope we will be a Matteawan by night," he remarked.

William T. Jerome and Deputy Attorney-General Franklin Kennedy were reported to have spent the night at Manchester, Vt., on their way to Albany.

COATICOOK, Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw, removed forcibly from his quarters here to-day is now a free man in American territory, travelling in an automobile with a number of American newspaper reporters.

The Matteawan fugitive was dropped over the border by the Canadian authorities into Vermont. Alone, dazed and free, he did not know what to do. The newspaper men following him took him into their cars and are now travelling with him. Already they have passed from Vermont into New Hampshire. As the car progresses men report Thaw's movements.

The situation Harry Thaw finds himself in to-day is by far the most extraordinary that has marked the progress of his sensational case since he fled from the Matteawan insane asylum August 17. Believing this morning that he was being kidnapped, he resisted forcibly his removal from Coaticook, only to find that the outcome of his quick dash in an automobile to American territory, was to bring him unexpected freedom and place him in the hands of the men who up to the present time had devoted their energies to the reporting of his case. Thaw was dazed at the suddenness of the events of the morning without his array of legal counsel he did not know where to turn for advice. After a short consultation with the newspapermen the automobile hired by the reporters with Thaw in it went to Avarill, Vt. Here a brief stop was made and by 10 o'clock he had crossed the Vermont line into New Hampshire.

Inasmuch as Thaw is now a free agent his next moves depend upon his own volition provided, of course, that he is not discovered and apprehended by the authorities of New York State, or placed under restraint by the local authorities of some town in several places and she swore out a warrant.

Justice Jefferies will be asked to decide whether the dance is improper.

WHAT'S THE USE.
"I am worth ten thousand dollars," said the player from the bush. But I failed to notice any signs of gladness on his bush. "I am worth ten thousand dollars," he repeated with a sigh. And he wiped away a teardrop that was shining in his eye. "I am worth ten thousand dollars to the man I'm working for. But I haven't had a two-bit piece for seven days or more."

Taylor's Record With the Police

Theft and Drunk Charges
Have Been Preferred
Against Him

The horrible murder charge against James Taylor, the police department records show to be the first crime of any great importance that Taylor has ever been mixed up in. Four minor matters and drunk charges without number compose the offences. He has been under the eyes of the police and composed a portion of the army of men which although committing no crimes of any note, give the police considerable trouble.

Taylor is about 30 years of age and a son of the late Nathan Taylor. Coming here with the rest of the family from vicinity of Boston, which is south of Brantford and close to reserve line. He has four half brothers, Nathan and John, who reside in Calgary or vicinity, it could not be learned which, and William and Bert of this city. Both the Calgary brothers have records. His brother William, some years ago was sent down for six months for perjury in connection with the theft of a quantity of jewelry at Canfield Junction in which one of his brothers in the west was the prime mover. Sgt. Wallace had charge of the Canfield Junction case. His other brother Bert, is respectable.

Taylor's record apart from the drunk charges are here given:
On Nov. 4, 1907 he was charged with the misappropriation of 240 lbs. of tea consigned to J. Taylor, city. In connection with this offence he paid $7.85 and $8.25 costs.

Jan. 27, 1912, he was charged with the theft of a pair of gloves, the property of Oscar Misener, city, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

In Feb. of 1912 he was charged with vagrancy and again allowed to go.

At the time of his marriage he had also had some difficulty with the police.
