A LONG FIGHT.

Case Heard by Fourteen Judges and Not Yet Settled.

Windsor, (Despatch).-A decision of the Supreme Court in favor of the defendant in the case of Drulard against Welsh closes another chapter in a lawsuit which came up first in the Sandsuit which came up first in the Sand-wich Assizes three years ago. The dis-pute was over the boundary line be-tween two pieces of property on Jan-nette avenue owned by Mrs. Catharine Welsh and R. M. Drulard, and the own-ership of a very narrow strip of land. When the case first came up Drulard obtained $5 damages. Since then it has been carried from one court to another een carried from one court to another been carried from one court to another in appeals. Fourteen judges have heard it in all, eight deciding for the defendant and six for the plaintiff. Mrs. Welsh died about a year ago while the case was still before the Supreme Court, but the case nevertheless may be carried to the Privy Council in England.

Third, if the unions would not, the firm was willing to admit its workers as partners, on a profit-sharing basis; and, Fourth, that a council be formed to settle all disputes, or refer them to accredited arbitrators.

Sir Christopher's hearers declared that they must examine the proposals in detail before expressing an opinion.

JEWS VICTIMIZED.

Vagrant's Scheme For Making His Living Expenses.

Toronto despatch: The only thing which could be proved against Harold Harford in the Police Court yesterday was that in the Police Court yesterday was that he had a neat scheme for defrauding Jewish second-hand dealers. He got a number of rings made out of cheap metal and gold washed. They were plain bands, and beside having initials cut in them had a 14-karat stamp. They cost him about 25 cents each, but looked like gold wedding rings.

When offering them for sale Harford would give unsatisfactory accounts of wedding rings.

When offering them for sale Harford would give unsatisfactory accounts of them, but offered to take about $8 as peyment. The second-hand dealers thought the young man had good reason for selling valuable rings at such a price, and bought them without testing them to melt down. The melting process disclosed the fraud.

About ten dealers were victimized in this way. They did not report to the police that they had been taken in when they thought they were buying stolen goods. Harford was convicted of vagrancy and sentenced to the Central Prison for six months.

HEARTS TOUCHED.

Pathetic Scene Witnessed In Toronto Police Court.

was enacted in one of the waiting rooms adjoining the Police Court yes, terday morning, while Nelson Yake, a young married man of 104 Euclid avenue, with shame-struck mien and downcast head, was being sentenced in the court room to serve five days in jail for stealing a bottle of milk from a College street doorstep at an early hour this morning.

After Yake, who was undefended and had pleaded guilty, had disappeared down the dock stairs, his grief-stricken wife and three young children, who had been waiting outside the court, broke into pitiful tears. Between her sobs the young woman told some sympathetic spectators the sad story of her husband's fruitless efforts for several weeks past to obtain work, and how at last he had gone out determined to get milk for their infant child by any means.

Her story evidently touched many hearts not unused to the heartrending scenes of city life, for when he thought no one was looking, one man—he was waiting his turn to face a charge of keeping a gambling house in the city—called the woman's little Big Shooting Trophy Was Captured

Mr. Runnels volunteered to go for assistance. Breathlessly his companions watched him atruggle through the rapids, never expecting him to rath the shore. Then, after a four days walk across the mountains without food, he dragged himself into the main camp of the expedition. It was on the tenth day after his departure that he brought help and food to the famished Canadians, who were found utterly extanted. A delay of another day would have proved fatal. Mr. Runnels has not yet recovered from his heroje act.
