DISTRICT MEETING.

Arranging for Missionary, Educational and Other Services.

The annual financial meeting of the Hamilton District of the Methodist Church opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon in Emerald Street Methodist Church.

Rev. R. J. Treleven, chairman of the district, presided. Rev. H. G. Livingston is the secretary. With one or two exceptions all the ministers of the district were in attendance. One layman for each minister should be at this meeting, but in this respect there is usually quite a deficiency. The business of the meeting is to arrange for the missionary, educational, temperance, and other reform meetings, on the various circuits, to inquire into the spiritual condition of the work of the district and devise means for furthering the work of God on all the circuits. It is expected that the missionary meetings will be largely held simultaneously. An effort is also being made to raise, during the year, the balance due from the circuits on the Union Church Relief Fund, and thus to close it up entirely. This fund was made necessary by the late Methodist Union.

The ministers from outside of the city were fitted with the Emerald Street Church people.

Dr. Coleman. After the programme, ice cream, cake and fruit were served. Ten candidates were initiated making the total membership 300, with a surplus of $1,500.

HEROISM OF A MOTHER.

She Jumped From Boat to Save Her Son's Life.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—A story of a mother's heroism as shown by her readiness to risk her own life in order to save that of her child has come to Toronto from the Lake of St. Lawrence. Mrs. S. N. Robson, a resident of the district, had gone out with her little boy in a punt, and the boat, spring a leak, was in great danger of sinking. Mrs. Robson, thinking that if retained of her weight the punt would relieve sufficient buoyancy to sustain her, jumped into the water, carrying with her a plank to keep her afloat.

She was unable to keep that slender safeguard beneath her, however, and would have been drowned but for the assistance of her collie dog in keeping her above water until assistance came. Fortunately Mrs. Geo. S. Trent, of Deer Park, Toronto, and Miss Lillian Shields, of 237 Beverley street, who were staying at the former's summer cottage on the lake side, saw the accident, and, putting out, were able to rescue both mother and child.

NEW FOREST RESERVE.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—A new forest reserve has been created in eastern British Columbia and western Alberta by an order in Council passed last Saturday. The new reserve, which will be known as the Jasper Forest Park of Canada, comprises a large block of forest land lying along the eastern slope of the Rockies, extending east and south fifty-three miles from where the parallel of latitude fifty-three degrees and thirty-five minutes north intersects the boundary between British Columbia and Alberta, to the base of the foothills.

FIRST FALL OPENING AT THE NEW STORE.

Splendid Autumn Display Admired By Large Crowds at This Popular Place.

One of the finest displays to be seen was at Finch Bros., which was very noticeable in their large showing of pattern hats in Paris, London and New York models. It was very successful, being their first autumn opening in their new store. Among the many handsome hats to be seen was one of Cester Meyer's patterns in a large mushroom shape, made of old rose velvet with a shirred edge of black silk. It had a white felt facing and was beautifully trimmed with brown and old rose roses.

Another of the new styles was a large rolling brim in the 1830 style, with a green Bengaline brim, with a shot brown and green velvet pattern, trimmed with two handsome shades of complete. Among them was a black velvet bonnet with a large Alstian bow across the front, with a handsome white ostrich aigrette standing at side front. Another pretty one was a reseda green velvet bonnet, with a shirred edge of blue and pale green silk arranged on the bonnet, and in the front was a handsome chow of velvet, caught with a handsome ornament in a peacock shade. A beautiful pale blue osprey came from the centre of the chow.

Outer Garments. The outer garment section presented a fine display of the newest styles for autumn and winter wear. An exceedingly large display of fur lined coats were shown in navy, brown and black chiffon broadcloth, in the new Gibson shoulders, with full ripple backs and large sleeves, with high storm collar of sable, Persian lamb, Isabella fox and opossum lined throughout, with Rempter lock and metal and musk. Fur coats also were shown to a great extent in Persian lamb and navy seal coats in the new military styles with self and mink collars and reverses. Finch Bros. have gone into furs more extensively than ever this season, and are prepared to show you all the latest in mink, grey and brown fox, black and grey Persian lamb, natural sable, opossum and near seal stoles, trunks, capes and large pillow muffs. Women's coats in black, blue, navy, and broadcloth, in pleats and large quantities in the military, tight fitting and loose styles, with new Gibson shoulder and ripple backs.

Exceedingly large also was the display of new dress skirts, tailored after the latest New York models, in pleats and silks and laces, trimmed, shown in black and colored Panama, voile, Venetian and broadcloths.

Another vogue of the season is the silk and net blouses with applique and intricate trimming and fine trims, delicately trimmed with Val. and lady Irish lace.

Dress Goods. The dress goods departments presented a bewildering display of all the latest fabrics and novelties from abroad. Handsome costumes in English and in French designs were shown for the first time in mostly silk and wool stripes on shadow plaid grounds. Large varieties were also shown in broadcloths, mass, velvets, Venetians, broadcloths, Panamettes, etc. A visit should be made to this section to reveal the beauty shown, their exclusiveness and high grade qualities. The black dress goods were right in line with a large display of exclusive costumes in the new silk and wool stripe designs.

The silks came in for great praise. Among the most notable was a handsome collection of blouse and costume lengths in exclusive designs in the very spots in leading colors of brown, navy and green. Among the costume silks shown for evening wear are Dresden designs in light and dark grounds, with handsome floral designs in the new styles for handsome evening costumes were seen here; it is the net costume shown in all black in an insertion and spot design and white grounds with pale pink and sky floral design, the very latest Paris fashion.

The trimming section was alive with new novelties, among them being handsome real Duchess rose point berthes and colors and Boleres in the new kimono sleeve style. New designs in Guipure, baby Irish and fillet lace and insertion were shown. Smart styles in ladies' neckwear, made of chiffon and lace with long silk bows, Spanish lace, fancy and plain, crepe de chine scarfs in black and white and Dresden designs are New York's latest fashion.

Perri's gloves were shown in all the new fall shades of brown, tan, navy, green and wine, and in evening shades of pale sky and pink, flesh and white, in long and short lengths.
