Do You Love Railway Stations?

By RUTH CAMERON.

There are some kinds of eaves-dropping that are really quite excusable, don't you think so?

The crowd held me close behind two young people in the railway station the other night, so close that I couldn't help hearing all they said; and what is more I wouldn't have if I could. For that was the kind of eaves-dropping that I call harmless.

He was tall and broad shouldered and fine looking, the kind of young man we like to call typically American. She was a little person, not at all pretty, but with a piquant radiant face that fairly shone with the love of living. Just then it was tilted up to his, and she was saying with a voice as radiant as the face, "Oh, my dear, isn't this place lovely?"

He laughed—a hearty, infectious laugh that was also typically American.

"Well, I don't care," she protested. "It's so exciting and interesting. Everybody's going somewhere and it makes you feel kind of important and alive, and you wonder who everybody is and where they are going and if they are as happy as you are. I just love railway stations."

The crowd suddenly shifted and I was swept in another direction and rudely interrupted in my shameless eaves-dropping, but not before I had heard the man laugh again. Did you ever realize that a laugh can be as loving as a caress? It can.

"The little person," as I said before, was not in the least pretty, while her big lover was tall and clean and handsome, the kind of man that all women just naturally fall in love with. And he had chosen her and was evidently about as much in love as a man can be. Do you want to know what I think was the charm in her that won him away from the prettier girls he might undoubtedly have had?

The fact that she loved railway stations. You are laughing at that? Well, of course, I only meant it symbolically. That little speech of hers was symbolic of the zest that she evidently found in living. She was undoubtedly one of those blessed folks who are always full of relish of life, who are so interested, so alive and awake, that even a railway station is an absorbingly interesting place to them. Consequently I did not wonder how the man happened to fall in love with her. I only wondered if he realized how fortunate he was.

A zest in living, such as that which made this little person's face and personality radiant is partly inborn; it also has something to do with one's supply of health and vitality; but again it is partly the result of deliberately refusing to grow up, of keeping the child heart always alive within one, and of opening wide the windows of one's heart and mind to the happiness and meaning of life.

No one who has even the least share of this charm can fail to be attractive. No one, no matter how beautiful or brilliant, is complete without it.

Do you love railway stations? Is it too late for you to learn to?

Ruth Cameron

Household Notes

Leather-covered furniture should be wiped over with a clean cloth wrung out of warm, soapy water, and when dry rubbed over with white of egg.

When the polish on furniture has a dull, sticky appearance, it should be washed in warm water, having vinegar added in the proportion of a teaspoonful to a pint. Dry Well, and leave a few days before polishing with furniture cream.

Tapestry-covered chairs can be cleaned by means of a mixture of dry bran and calcined magnesite. It should be rubbed in and left some time before being brushed away.

Old oak, if shabby, should be brushed with warm beer, and later polished with beeswax and turpentine. When polishing always work the way of the grain, and always finish with an old silk handkerchief.

Whitening dissolved in warm water will easily clean white enamel furniture, and help to keep it a good color. White marks caused by hot dishes, etc., upon polished surfaces can be removed by applying a little olive-oil and salt over the marks. Leave this on for some time, then remove it and polish.

Vary the ordinary cornstarch pudding with caramel flavoring instead of vanilla.

A sauce of mashed bananas, beaten with white of egg, is good with cornstarch puddings.

Caramel custard is an agreeable change from the ordinary sort. Grape-juice is a good flavoring for custards.

Gelatine with any fruit flavoring makes an excellent summer dessert. A biscuit-top over blue berries, peaches, apples or strawberries, the whole steamed and served with hard sauce, makes a delicious pudding.

Economy is the first claim for any good fireless cooker—economy both in fuel and food.

The best foods to choose for cooking in the fireless cooker are those which take a long while to prepare—soups, potroasts, beans, etc.

To make "lemon honeycomb" sweat the juice of a lemon and put it in the dish you wish to serve it in. Mix the beaten white of one egg with a pint of rich cream and a little sugar. Whisk it, and as the froth rises, put it on the lemon juice. Do it the day before it is to be used.

Trays are such pretty things and so very convenient that every room in the house should boast of two or three. A bit of brocade ribbon, printed pongee or Oriental embroidery will be delightful with glass over it and framed in appropriate wood.

To get any sort of thickening smooth stir it with an egg-beater or perforated cake-spoon.

If clothes are yellow a tablespoonful of peroxide of hydrogen put in the water in which they are soaked will bleach them.

A water-proof apron is a good investment for wash-day. An old raincoat may be used for it.

If you wash or clean your gloves yourself, a flat wooden form to stretch them over is a great resource.

Choose sunny, windy days on which to wash the blankets. They will be dry and fluffy by night, with a delicious open-air smell.

Dear Sirs,—This fall I got thrown on a fence and hurt my chest very bad so I could not work and it hurt me to breathe. I tried all kinds of Liniments and they did me no good.

One bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT warmed on flannels and applied on my breast, cured me completely.

Stars Defeat the Casuals.

A ONE-SIDED GAME.

The Stars defeated the Casuals in last night's football match by a score of 3 goals to 0.

The game was not a very exciting one, as the Stars had the best of play from the start, still some good individual play was given out by the players of both teams.

The game opened at 7.15 with the Casuals defending the western goal. And when the ball was set in motion the Stars made a dash up field, with the result that Caul sent in No. 1 for his team after one minute of play.

The Casuals then became aggressive, but very rarely secured a chance to score, and when half time was called the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of the Stars.

SECOND HALF.

The second half opened rather lively, and after about 2 minutes of exciting play Caul sent in No. 2 for the Stars, which was followed shortly afterwards by a swift shot from Adams that beat Noseworthy, and recorded No. 3 goal for the Stars.

Shortly after this, Hartley, of the Casuals, was injured, having sprained his wrist. He had to discontinue playing, and Stevenson replaced him as full back, S. Kendrick replacing Stevenson as centre half.

All during the remainder of the second half play was in favor of the Stars, who sent in some good shots that were splendidly saved by Noseworthy.

When the final whistle sounded the score stood 3 to 0, the Casuals having made no score.

Mr. E. S. Piment referred the game and the line up was as follows: CASUALS.—Noseworthy, goal; Hartley, Bradbury, backs; Chancey, Stevenson, Wall, halves; Chancey, Squires, Smith, Garland, Marshall.

STAR.—Whelan, goal; Thompson, J. Hart, backs; Christopher, Kavanagh, Brien, halves; F. Whelan, Adams, Power, Morgan, Caul forwards.

NOTES ON THE GAME.

Caul, Brien and Power played a fine game for the winning team. The Casuals put up an excellent defence in the second half.

Many good chances to score were lost by wide shooting. Noseworthy, of the Casuals, showed his ability as a goal keeper in last night's match.
