A SPLENDID LAXATIVE FOR THE BABY

Mothers should constantly be on guard to keep baby's bowels working freely and his stomach sweet, for nine-tenths of the ailments from which little ones suffer are caused by derangements of the stomach and bowels. Baby's Own Tablets are a splendid laxative for the baby. They are mild but thorough; contain neither opiates nor narcotics, and are absolutely guaranteed to be safe and efficient for either the newborn babe or the growing child. By their action on the bowels and stomach they drive out constipation, and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and make the dreaded teething period easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Courteous Driving Would Solve Many Problems

Manners of Many Motorists Badly in Need of Mending—Arrogant Driving
Cause of Many Accidents and Not a
Few Traffic Problems—Ontario
Motor League Campaigns for Safe Driving.

Why is it necessary for an automobile club to plant its road signs, bearing the phrase, "Courtesy Makes Safety," throughout a locality in which we know traffic to be very heavy?

Why do we see articles in magazines and newspapers with titles like this: "A Little More Courtesy, or a Lot of Trouble?"

What happens to a man when he gets behind his steering wheel? In many cases, some psychological change seems to take place in him, for he displays a woeful lack of courtesy toward his fellow-motorist. He does things as a motorist that he would never dare do as a pedestrian.

For instance, it is not our custom to ram people as we pass them on the side-walk; we do not cut a man off as he crosses the street; we do not deliberately try to steal another man's seat in the trolley car; yet we see analogous actions on the part of the motorist every day.

The other day, we saw a motorist making a parking, and this is what happened—he had pulled up alongside the car immediately in front of the space in which he wished to park, preparatory to backing into this space. Another, but smaller car, pulled up and tried to "sneak" into the same space before the first car could back in. An accident might have occurred, and naturally the first driver was incensed at this act of discourtesy, and he did not hesitate to tell the other man just what he thought of him.

The exceedingly human desire of wanting to "get even" exists in all of us, and we do not doubt that this act of discourtesy caused this man to know that he would "get even" with the next man who tried such tricks on him. If both men would apply the Golden Rule, many unfortunate accidents might be prevented. It is noteworthy that the Ontario Motor League has campaigned for courteous driving since its inception.

The desire to make time in many cases leads to acts of discourtesy and sometimes disaster. This was brought home to us recently when we were driving with a friend.

The east and west-bound traffic had the right of way and no one slowed up to give the drivers going north and south an opportunity to go through—which made a bad situation worse—but, then it was "Me first." We were the third car on the left of the north-bound traffic, but we wished to swing across the avenue and go left to the west, but it was necessary for us to wait until we could edge our way through the east and west-bound traffic.

Finally an opening occurred—the two cars in front of us did not seize the opportunity to go through, so my friend swung around beside the car in front of him, and started across the avenue thereby cutting off a car which was crossing the avenue from the north. This south-bound car hit the rear right fender of our car—he could do nothing else, for we had cut him off.

The man with whom we were driving not only violated a traffic rule in passing the two cars abreast, but he acted discourteously to the other motorist by cutting him off, and actually endangered lives—not to speak of the traffic tie-up which resulted from his discourteous act, prompted by his desire to make time. As it happened, he lost more time than if he had observed traffic rules and the courtesy of the road.

We have all seen such acts of discourtesy on the part of our fellow-motorists, as cutting corners without signalling; speeding up when another motorist attempts to pass; cutting in too sharply after passing a car, and last, but not least, the indiscriminate use of the horn.

Human nature is just stubborn enough not to stand for being brushed aside by such acts, and stubbornness and irritation resulting from discourtesy make the right combination for trouble, and motorist in general suffers as a consequence.

"We have reached a point in motorist where, unless courtesy in driving receives renewed and serious attention," says Frederick C. Russell in Motor Life, "the piloting of an automobile will become a free-for-all, in which everyone will aim to make it just as inconvenient as possible for everyone else."

The whole question apparently resolves itself into this: Every act of discourtesy encourages a more serious act of retaliation with resulting train of annoyances and accidents. Why not, therefore, infer that every act of courtesy will bring forth a better act of reciprocity? Furthermore, why not try it? Automatically, others will follow suit.

Mr. Russell is right. With the great increase in the number of cars on our roads, and the corresponding increase in the complexities of driving, old-fashioned motor courtesy, it seems, has pretty well gone by the board. Many of our traffic tie-ups and accidents are laid to the score of too many automobiles on the streets. The capacity of our streets has not been reached—they will accommodate many more automobiles without any trouble if we are considerate of the other fellow, and the other fellow is more considerate of us.

Let us stop talking about horrible traffic conditions, congestion and accidents, and act on the supposition that courtesy makes safety. We feel sure that the daily application of this rule will do away with many of our traffic problems.

BOTTOMS—ARNUP

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Thursday, May 1st, at College Avenue Methodist Church, Woodstock, when Mildred Ila, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Arnup, became the bride of Redvers William Bottoms, of Chatham. Rev. H. M. Roadhouse, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride, given away by her father, was charmingly gowned in a French beaded dress of cocoa brown, crepe Romania and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Miss Jean Dancy and L. Leeson, both of Aylmer, attended the couple. Miss Dancy wearing a gown of sand crepe, trimmed with steel beads.

During the signing of the register Miss Eleanor Bottoms played. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents, following which the couple left on a wedding trip to Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Bottoms will make their home in Chatham.

Childhood Dangers

Can Be Avoided by Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure

The anaemia of young girls may be inherited, or it may be caused by bad air, unsuitable food, hasty and irregular eating, insufficient out-door exercise and not enough rest and sleep. It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to exertion and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes palpitation of the heart and headaches. In the majority of cases constipation is present, and the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor. The treatment is quite easy and simple. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just the tonic to remedy this wretched state of health. They act directly upon the blood, and as it becomes rich and pure, strength and activity returns, the glow of health comes to the cheeks, and soon the trouble will disappear and good health follow.

Pearl Parks, R. R. No. 1, Reabro, Ont., has proved the value of this medicine, and her statement will point the way to health to all other weak girls. She says: "I was very ill with anaemia. I could not sleep at night, my appetite was poor, and my face and lips were very pale and my eyes all I got so weak that I could not go upstairs without resting. I took dizzy and fainting spells, had no ambition whatever, and did not care to go about. I was in this condition for nearly a year. I had treatment from two doctors; but did not regain my strength, so my mother, who was very uneasy about me, decided I should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

After using the pills for a while I felt somewhat better, and continued taking them until I had used about a dozen boxes, when I was again well and strong. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the treatment of any suffering from anaemia."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WHEN any means of saving money has been perfected, it is wise to continue the wasteful methods?

McClary's Electric Range saves money by saving current on the "stored heat" principle.

You can bake for hours in McClary's Electric Oven after the current is turned "off"—because the oven has double insulation.

You can do practically all your boiling or frying on "low" because "TOR-RED" Protected Elements retain heat.
