Lady Harris, wife of the governor of Bombay, shares her husband's love of cricket. Last month at the hill station of Mahabuleshwar—the seat of the Bombay Government in the hot season—she captained a team of six ladies and six gentlemen, who were pitted against a similarly constituted team, also under the leadership of a lady. The conditions of the game were that the gentlemen should play left handed with a broomstick and bowl and field with the left hand, while the ladies should play in the ordinary manner. In the end Lady Harris' team came off the winners, scoring 63 runs to their opponents' 58.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 12.—The House sat about two hours to-day, but there was little business done. A batch of private bills were introduced. Among others:

By Dr. Montague—Respecting the Niagara and Grand Island Bridge Company. Respecting the St. Clair Railway Bridge and Tunnel Company.

By Mr. Trow—Respecting the Temiscamingue Railway Company.

On the motion of Mr. Bergeron it was resolved that the time for presenting private bills be extended until Friday, the 29th instant.

instant.

There were two public bills introduced—one by Mr. Charlton to amend the Dominion
Franchise Act, the other by Sir John Thompson, an act to codify the criminal law of Canada. The first reading of Mr.
Charlton's bill was agreed to without discussion.

ation of the measure to codify the criminal law.

Sir Richard Cartwright—I would like to ask the Minister of Justice whether he proposes to introduce any alterations, more or less, to the existing criminal law in this bill, or whether it is to be confined simply to a codification of the law as it stands.

Sir John Thompson replied that there were some changes, but he did not indicate their nature.

"Are they of importance?" inquired Sir Richard.

The Minister answered that the changes

"Are they of importance: Inquires of Richard.

The Minister answered that the changes were only such as would be necessary in the codification. There were some changes which had been discussed in the press for the last few months, but these were not yet incorporated in the measure. They would, however, be introduced at a later stage.

A question was asked by Mr. Flint whether it was the intention of the Government (her Majesty's birthday this year falling upon Sunday) to fix by proclamation the 25th of May, or any other day, for the celebration of the birthday of her Majesty. Mr. Haggart, Postmaster-General, complained of the small receipts from postage in Prince Edward Island. His department looked upon the receipts as the standard for judging the needs of the island.

Mr. Perry indignantly asked if the Postmaster-General was outlining the policy of the Government. If he was, the Intercolonial Railway would have to be shut up because its receipts were less than its cost.

Mr. Welsh interjected, "And all the canals in the country," whereat there came to the minds of members the canal from Perth to the Rideau, in the honorable Postmaster-General's constituency, which has cost the country $500,000, and up which it is said no craft sail but now and again a pleasure boat.

Mr. Perry, with much warmth, said Prince Edward Island paid a fair share of the interest on the debt incurred for improvements in their part of the country, and the discomfited Minister collapsed.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. Edgar complained that the counties had not been set to work. Sir Hector Langevin, who was leaving the House, promised amendment, and the House adjourned at 4:45.
