Medical men have done much in recent years to enlighten people as to the American quarantine on Canadian the nature of consumption, and no praise is too great for those philanthropic citizens who have interested themselves in the sanatorium movement. The campaign of education ear. ried on has changed the popular view of consumption. People no longer feel Lopeless and helpless before the scourge of tuberculosis, but have been led to understand and believe that it is and that consumption in the race may be eventually grappled with as sucwhich once ravaged every country.

This notion could not survive when the true functions of money became known, but the idea that exports are to be placed on the right side of the national ledger and imports on the wrong side, is still influential, and is responsible for such crude legislation as the beetsugar bounties, which enabled Englishmen to buy sugar from Germany. A Scientific Tariff

President George, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other speakers at the Manufacturers' banquet had a good deal to say about a scientific tariff, but no one defined it exhaustively. A truly scientific tariff is one which would give home producers the home market, without requiring consumers to pay more for what they buy than under conditions of free competition. At the same time this tariff would greatly promote foreign trade and in Canada's case increase the importation of British goods in particular. Not only would Western Canada buy all its manufacture.

CONTRACTOR IS DOING HIS BEST

That's What Aldermen Thirk After Inspecting Objectionable Fence.

The board of works, with several other aldermen and the city engineer, this morning inspected the fence at streets. They came to the conclusion that under the circumstances, Contractor Wilson is doing the very best he can, and though no final action was taken, it was practically decided to the fence to remain, and to have the contractor remove it as soon as the stonework of the building is completed, which, it is understood, will be in about a month. The city solicitor was consulted, and he will give his opinion in writing to the board. It is understood he pointed out that the police magistrate has no power to order the fence taken down Wilson every time the contractor is hauled before the court by the people wno object to the fence, And if Mr. Wilson so desires, it is within his provnce to appeal the case to a higher

> FUNERAL OF MRS. HOSSACK Remains of Prominent Lucan Lady Laid Away at Mt. Pleasant.

The remains of the late Mrs. (Dr.) Hossack, of Lucan, were laid at rest in Mount Pleasant Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral was held from the residence of the deceased, where services were conducted in the morning by the pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Lucan assisted by two other clergymen. Many residents of the village, as well as of the surrounding country, assembled to pay their last respects to one whom they had known for many years and admired for her excellent qualities. The services were exceedingly simple, but impressive. The pallbearers were six residents of Lucan-close friends of Dr. and Mrs. Hossack. At the grave also, a brief service was read in the presence of a large number who had accompanied the remains from Lucan. There is general regret throughout North Middlesex over the death of Mrs. Hossack. The latter had been a resident of Lucan for over 30 years, and during that time she had been very prominent in all branches of church work. Her bright, genial disposition made for her a host of warm friends, who will mourn her death. Mrs. Hos-sack was a daughter of the late Orange er, Mrs. Smith, wife of Rev. E. B.
