The birthday has been a movable festival, in order to make the festivities coincide with the eve of the birthday of the Scottish bard, Bobbie Burns. But not very much straining of accuracy was required to bring about the happy conjunction. The Loch Lomond Chapter actually was organized on Jan. 23rd, 1922, in the home of the regent, Mrs. R. M. Tagg. Enthusiastic Daughter of Scotl that she is, Mrs. Tagg had gathered around her a group of friends who shared her view that some organization of women should be formed in Canada to render patriotic service while perpetuating the ideals of the bonnie land of their birth or that of their ancestors. They wanted, fur-ther, to honor Scottish heroes who gave their lives in the great war, either from the old land or those who had gone overseas from Canada or other parts of the world.

The Solution. A chapter of Daughters of the Empire seemed the solution, and the Municipal regent, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. Mary Hurd, 736 King street. Regina, Sask., former president of the Parkdale Women's Club and wellknown in society circles, is among the latest residents of Regina to give a public statement on behalf of Tanlac. She said:

She said:

"I have never spoken publicly about a medicine before, but since I have derived such great benefits from Tanlac, it is a pleasure to recommend it. I suffered several years from stomach trouble, was extremely nervous and had awful headaches. My food always discovered with me and food always disagreed with me and many nights I could not sleep because the gas on my stomach was so bad I would be all filled up with it, and felt like every breath would be my last.

"I took three bottles of Tanlac and all my troubles disappeared. I am now feeling better than I have in years, never have a sign of indigestion, am full of energy, and always ready for my duties. Tanlac is simply
