

NEWS OF THE PROVINCE.

Large Numbers of Colliers Loading at Nanaimo—Gallant Rescue by Capt. Freeman.

Seizure of Smuggled Chinese Wines in Vancouver—Fraser Canneries Ready to Make Cans.

(Special to the Colonist.)

VANCOUVER, April 27.—The coroner's verdict on the death of Mrs. James Edwards was "Died by her own hand."

A row boat was swamped by the steamer Cogitamus yesterday, the single occupant rowing into her stern. Capt. Freeman plunged into the water of the steamer and held the man up until a boat came alongside.

W. G. Elliott, of this city, and Miss Ennie M. Peet, of Mission City, were married yesterday.

A logger was knocked down by a C. P. R. yard engine on Wednesday but miraculously escaped injury. He was drunk.

The steamshipman's union gave a successful smoker last evening at the Casino. The Pythias drill hall. Songs were sung by Messrs. Noonan, Urquhart, Leslie, Gorman, Clark, Wylie, Wm. Elliott and Sperring.

Swan and Sperring married and J. Courland (Belfast) and Lewis, three rounds. Two steamships (a tug of war team) pulled two longshoremen. The file and drum band of the longshoremen supplied music.

VANCOUVER, April 28.—The steamer Courser and two scows are raising the immersed engine at Sea Bird Bluff.

A Siwash found a vest, watch, chain and trinkets in Nicomen slough. The vest proved to be the one worn by Albert Grant, the C. P. R. brakeman killed on November 11, 1891. An old fellow's badge was on the vest. On a search being made, no trace of the body could be found.

The Sugar Refinery and building, now wharves and repairing the old one. Tenders are advertised for.

The members of the Pacific Council No. 4, B. T. of T. held an open meeting in the Knights of Pythias hall last night. Rev. Mr. McMillen addressed the brethren.

The funeral of the late Mrs. James Edwards took place here yesterday afternoon. It was the largest seen here for some time. The deepest sympathy is felt for the bereaved relatives.

A box pit will be built in Stanley park. The remains of the late W. B. Benson were shipped East on yesterday's express. Deceased was a prominent Forester, and Com. Pacific had the funeral, a number of the Foresters accompanying the remains to the station.

A scheme is in its incipency to invite the Victoria, Westminster and Nanaimo soldiers to Vancouver on Dominion Day for a military display.

The Leederkrantz held their last ball of the season at the Imperial opera house last night. It was a success financially and socially.

John Fraser, a deaf and dumb boy, stood in front of a lumber chute at Hastings mill yesterday when a heavy piece of lumber was coming down. The boy was shouting at him, but the poor deaf boy did not hear and the lumber struck him, breaking his legs. He is doing well at the Alexandra hospital.

A conversation and sale of work at the First Congregational church took place yesterday. It was a success financially and socially.

Mr. P. H. Horne, secretary of the Okanagan Land Development Company, formerly of Westshore Crescent, Hyde Park, London, was married yesterday at St. Paul's church to Miss Florence Horne, youngest daughter of the late Mr. George Grant McKay, formerly of Inverclyde, Invernesshire, Scotland.

Robert Kerr, general passenger agent of the C. P. R., says that the first arrangements towards the establishment of the direct line of steamers between Eastern Canada and Vancouver have been made. The first steamer will leave on May 11, and the second on June 8. The first steamer will leave Vancouver and Victoria on May 11, and the second on June 8. The first steamer will leave Vancouver and Victoria on May 11, and the second on June 8.

Twenty thousand pounds of fresh salmon were shipped to New York to-day. It is leaked out to-day that the Customs authorities at Vancouver last week raided a big Chinese general store in that city, and seized several thousand dollars worth of Chinese money. The affair was very quiet, in order to trap other Celestials. The raid was made on the ground that the firm in question for some time past has been importing Chinese money in such a manner as to defraud the revenue. The wine is usually packed three gallons to the case, and was entered in this quantity, but for a long time the cases have been increased to four gallons each, thus defrauding the customs out of 25 per cent. duty. A fine of five thousand dollars was imposed.

WESTMINSTER, April 28.—Prof. John Macoun, naturalist of the Dominion Geological department, arrived in the city to-day by the delayed Eastern train. Prof. Macoun has been engaged for the last four years in making scientific examinations of British History (including the botany, birds, fishes and mammals) of the mainland portion of the Province, and will spend this season in a similar research on the island of Vancouver next week.

A boy named Land, while sliding down a balustrade at the Central school yesterday, fell off the railing and broke his left arm in two places.

Miss Beryl Briggs, niece of Captain John Irving, will be May Queen this year.

NANAIMO, April 27.—The Odd Fellows' ball, in the Opera house last night, was fairly well attended. Dancing was kept up until the early hours of this morning. Those present enjoyed a thoroughly good time.

Ald. R. Quennell is extending his large batching business. He is now having erected at Wallington a new building which will be occupied as a branch store.

Forester & Sutherland have the contract for a R. Johnston & Co.'s new frame building.

There are now eight vessels in Departure Bay loading or waiting to load. Wellington coal, while there are five loading New Vancouver Coal Company's coal, with several more due on the way up from San Francisco.

The Wellington Odd Fellows celebrated the 74th anniversary by a grand hall in the Institute hall, which was of course, well attended. The Cortese brothers supplied the music.

Complaints are becoming general at the wretched drainage in the city. On several of the principal streets the absolute lack of adequate drainage is a disgrace to the corporation. Front street is in a particularly bad state and considering that to improve matters would only necessitate the outlay of a comparatively small sum, the negligence of the city fathers is causing much adverse comment.

Two masked men held up George Barlow, clerk in R. Johnston & Co.'s store, at midnight last evening at the Casino. Barlow had in his possession a large sum of money, but apparently the waylaiders were not aware of this, as after looking at him carefully for a few moments, they ordered him to go on. They were probably waiting for another party.

Steamer Bertha, Costa Rica, sailed this morning for New York.

NANAIMO, April 28.—Carolyn Gage was accorded a hearty welcome last evening on her re-appearance here in "A Celebrated Case." The fair Carolyn is a great favorite in Nanaimo, as also is "Pop" Keene and Kent Thomas.

The evening "The Honey Moon" was well presented to a good house. To-morrow evening "A Double Way" will doubtless be witnessed by fully as large an audience.

The following have been elected officers of the O. W. G. T. for the coming year: H. H. Temple, Sec. for the old (re-elected); Vice-Templar, St. Wood; Secretary, Bro. Strain; Fin. Sec., Bro. R. Scott (re-elected); P. G. Temple, Bro. W. Brown; Chaplain, Bro. W. Jeffrey; Treasurer, Bro. J. Campbell.

A sermon preached last Sunday evening by Rev. W. W. Bear, pastor of the Wallace street Baptist church, has caused a good deal of fiction in town among the dealers in soap. The reverend gentleman stated during his discourse that he had recently bought a box of soap for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

his intention to run a cross cut tunnel to tap the ledge on the 1,000 foot level. The low level tunnel is started and a shaft will be sunk on the ledge from the present workings to meet it. Power drills and hoisting machinery will be used in the work of opening up the lower levels of the mine will be pushed in a way that will make outsiders open their eyes. The method which they have chosen for opening up their property shows the faith the owners have in the Washington as a mine.

The steamer Spokane has been overhauled, repainted, lengthened 22 feet and now the largest boat on Kootenay's waters; has a capacity for 125 passengers, and 100 tons of freight; will ply between Kalo and Bonner's Ferry direct. Being an American boat she will do no coasting in British Columbia.

Lake R. Walford reports the Dardanelles property deal in the Kootenai-Slocan camp. Joseph Coleman, late of Sprague, Wash., who has made large investments in Kalo realty, is arranging to engage in mercantile business.

Charles Kennedy, who represents large San Francisco capital, is at the Hotel Slocan and will soon go into the hills. He is not a stranger to the Slocan, which has been his home for some time, and he is being counted on as a hotel and jewelry store.

Two masked men held up George Barlow, clerk in R. Johnston & Co.'s store, at midnight last evening at the Casino. Barlow had in his possession a large sum of money, but apparently the waylaiders were not aware of this, as after looking at him carefully for a few moments, they ordered him to go on. They were probably waiting for another party.

Steamer Bertha, Costa Rica, sailed this morning for New York.

NANAIMO, April 28.—Carolyn Gage was accorded a hearty welcome last evening on her re-appearance here in "A Celebrated Case." The fair Carolyn is a great favorite in Nanaimo, as also is "Pop" Keene and Kent Thomas.

The evening "The Honey Moon" was well presented to a good house. To-morrow evening "A Double Way" will doubtless be witnessed by fully as large an audience.

The following have been elected officers of the O. W. G. T. for the coming year: H. H. Temple, Sec. for the old (re-elected); Vice-Templar, St. Wood; Secretary, Bro. Strain; Fin. Sec., Bro. R. Scott (re-elected); P. G. Temple, Bro. W. Brown; Chaplain, Bro. W. Jeffrey; Treasurer, Bro. J. Campbell.

A sermon preached last Sunday evening by Rev. W. W. Bear, pastor of the Wallace street Baptist church, has caused a good deal of fiction in town among the dealers in soap. The reverend gentleman stated during his discourse that he had recently bought a box of soap for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

The Rev. Bear mentioned the soap which he had bought for a cake of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents. The soap was a good deal of soap which he had afterwards found on sale at another store at 171 cents.

THE ADAMS WILL CASE.

Mr. E. V. Bodwell, for McBeath, Presents His Argument in Defence.

A Five Hours' Speech—Summary of the Points—Matters of Fact and Law.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

of relations of fact. Reviewing the circumstances of the making of the will, Mr. Adams went of his own consent to McBeath's house. McBeath never spoke to him of the will. His object was not to get hold of the property, but to nurse and care for the old man in his illness, and every action had been corroborated. That Adams knew the letter of a literary man, not the letter of an educated man, nor the product of a man accustomed to correspondence, and if it does not read with that smoothness which a well written letter should, no one need be surprised. The expression used, "what little is left," was one which had been common between Adams and McBeath, and it was not at all unnatural that McBeath should use it. But, even suppose that McBeath, in a moment of weakness, had undertaken to ward off an enquiry by writing the letter, what force would it have by litigation. To sum up the whole case, on the one side there is direct, trustworthy and independent evidence, first, of Mr. Milne and Mr. Hall, and afterwards of the defendant, Mrs. McBeath, Mr. Modland and Mrs. McBeath.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBeath, an action brought to set aside a will on the ground of undue influence and to rescind a probate.

Mr. Justice Crooks sat yesterday in the Supreme court to hear argument in the now celebrated case of Adams v. McBe