MAKING STEAMSHIP TIME.

The Big Ship "Lynton" Crosses From Yokohama to This Port In Fifteen Days.

Steamship time between here and the Orient was established by the British four-master Lynton, Captain Fraser, which made the Royal Roads last evening in tow of the Lorne. The Lynton just 32 days from Shanghai, in ballast for orders, and of this time 17 days were occupied in getting as far north as Yokohama, the remainder of the voyage being covered in just the ordinary time required by several of the big steamship liners plying regularly on the route. The Lynton is a handsome type of craft. She is a Liverpool bottom craft. She is a Liverpool and was launched on February Her first voyage was the way. From Boston she towed to New York, where she loaded for her last port of call. The ship is 2,324 tons register and is modernly and palatially appointed throughout.
