D. C. Rosa, catechist, labouring in the Conquerall and Bayapring Mission field gave a verbal report of his work in that field. The people are doing lotter than ever before and are looking forward to having an ordained missionary over them in the near future. Much credit is due to Mr. Rosa, who has laboured here for two summers, for the improved condition of the mission. Presbytery regretted to hear that Mr. Ross would be compelled by threat trouble to rest for a year. Messrs. D. Mactillinray and J. W. Crawford were appointed a deputation to visit the three congregations in the west ern section of the Presbytery. It was represented to the Presbytery by Mr. Henry Crawford, a former justor, and Mr. S. G. Lawson, at present in the Riverslale Mission field, that the unfurnished condition of the Presbyterian hall in the New Germany section was a serious hindrance to church growth in that growing community. And an earnest appeal was made to the Presbytery for help from the various congregations in the Presbytery's bounds. Presbytery expressed every sympathy with that weak mission field, and decided that after Mr. Lawson had thoroughly canvassed his own tield, he, associated with Henry Crawford, might visit the several esugregations for the same purpose. There were other items of business disposed of, but the foregoing are themeat important. Next meeting of Presbytery to be held at New Glasgow during Synod.—J. W. Crawford, Clerk.

Ix this age when there are so many arennes for expenditure which cannot be terried at all extravagant the need of an inducement to economise is certainly more necessary than ever before. Perhaps, to near does this apply with greater force than to the ordinary wage carnor; hence Savinga Banks, low rate Insurance and Loan Companies of various kinds suggest exceedingly good avenues. There is, however, one Compuny in the city which to those who aspire to be owners of their own homes, offers special inducements. This Association may well be called the Workingmon's Company as it appeals more capically to those who desire to own their own homes. For instance, a person owning a small lot and wishing to build a house for their own occupation can from this company propers the recently finds and repay the amount in mouthly or weekly payments containing both principal and interest, at the same time having the privilege of paying it in larger installments and thus lossessing not only the puriod required to pay the amount but also lossessing the interest upon the remaining meansbrance. With reference to the system we quote the following from their curront circular.

"Every shareholder of "Class B" is entitled to a lean of $100.00 for each and every share named in his Cartificate, previded be has been a shareholder for three meeths, and can jumish the required severily, and leas made applications for the same on a blank furnished by the Company for that purpose AH applications for beans are examed, and accepted or rejected in the regular order in which they are received, and if approved, the shareholder will receive a lean on the mane in his regular term. Leannare ende at a uniform rate of interest of six per cost, per cost, incurrent and promises being stapped or each hundred dullars of the principal returned. The minimum payment required from the bergurer on a $1,000 term being $3.50 per month, or $2.29 per week." To those, however, who are i erested in saving and do not require the money for building purposes, their weekly investment stock is an exceedingly safe and at the same time advantageous system. There are very few boys, who can not save at least ten cents a week and this invested under Class E. would give the shareholder at the end of ten years, $75.00. What a nice thing this would be for the average youth starting to work at 14 or 15, who when he grew to be a man, would find this $75.00 helpful to him in commencing his trade or business, or should the young man or woman be in a position to lay aside 50 cents a week, at the end of by years, $200.00 would remain to their crollit.
