AN ENTIRELY NEW WORK BY
FRANCIS PARKMAN,
THE EMINENT HISTORIAN

A HALF CENTURY OF CONFLICT

In two Vols. 8vo, Cloth $5.00.

This work, upon which Mr. Parkman has been engaged for a number of years, takes up the narrative at the close of the author's "Count Frontenac and New France Under Louis XIV.," filling the gap between that work and "Montcalm and Wolfe." It completes the series of historical narratives, "France and England in North America," the publication of which was begun in 1895.

WESLEY BUILDINGS, TORONTO.

There are no books more interesting than bound volumes of good periodicals. Harper's, The Century, Scribner's, Sunday at Home, Leisure Hour, The Sunday Magazine, etc., etc., all make the best of reading, if neatly and strongly bound. Don't let your periodicals lie around the house till some of the parts are lost, but send them at once to The J. E. Bryant Company (Ltd.), 58 Bay St., Toronto, to be bound in good, inexpensive, but attractive styles. The prices you will find to be moderate, and the work satisfactory.
