HOCHELAGA CONVENT.

On Wednesday last, the annual distribution of prizes took place in the above Convent. An address was given by Miss E. O'Brien, after which the Gold medal was given to the following young lady graduates:—Misses Marie Gagnon, Abbie O'Brien, Corinne Walker, Estelle O'Brien, and Matilda Moreau. Numerous prizes were given to other pupils. During the distribution several pieces of music were delivered in excellent style by some of the pupils, and at the conclusion an address in French by Miss Marie Gagnon. Among the specimens of work taught in the Institution are the following subjects, which were on exhibition in the Convent until 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, and they were much admired by a large number of visitors.

DRAWING AND PAINTING.

Album containing handsome pieces in drawing painting, by Miss Minnie Cook, Spenser, Regret (a piece in black crayon), by Miss Minnie O'Meara. Canoe Building at Pappero Island (a piece in pencil) by Miss Cornelia Williams. Indian Scene on the St. Lawrence (a piece in pencil) by Miss Abbie O'Brien. Roses and Camellias (a piece in water colors) by the Misses Minnie O'Meara and Estelle O'Brien. Flowers and Monograms, by the Misses Mary Ann McGrath and Erva Payne. Anchor and Flowers (oil painting on rice paper) by Miss Marie Lechevalier. Sketches in black crayon, by Misses Maggie Breen, Fannie Pardee and Rosalie Brown.

NEEDLE WORK.

Embroidered nightdress, by Miss Melanie Poupert. Embroidered morning wrapper, by Miss Marie Lechevalier. Pillow slips, by Misses Lorange and Ella Haines. Table cover, by Miss Lucy Cook.

KNITTING.

Quilt and crochet, by Miss Florence Wurtel. Shawl and sack, by Miss Justine O'Meara. Opera cape, by Miss Josephine Mount. Sack, by Miss Minnie O'Meara.

EMBROIDERY IN WOOL.

King John, by Miss Hattie Brady. Screen and sofa pillow, by Miss Julia Casey. Chair, by the Misses Sarah Stephens and Rosalie Brown. The above pieces of work give a good proof of the untiring devotion of the Sisters to the advancement of the pupils placed under their charge, and also reflect great credit on the pupils themselves.

BELLEVUE CONVENT, QUEBEC.

CLOSING EXERCISES.

A few weeks ago the echoes of this delightful spot resounded to notes of joyous greeting, when His Excellency Dr. Conroy visited Bellevue Convent, and caused its inmates to rejoice by his condescension and blessing. On Thursday a new gem was added to Bellevue's well-won laurels. The annual distribution of premiums, medals and floral honors to the pupils of this convent took place, an event which is counted among the most brilliant of the season, being visited by the elite of Quebec society, eager to enjoy the treat there offered to the admirers of beauty, art and talent. This year the distribution possessed its usual eclat. The spacious hall was decorated with artistic taste; festoons of evergreens, intertwined with appropriate mottoes; and beautifully wrought scrolls lent an additional splendor to the scene. The room was crowded to excess, there being present His Honor Lieut. Governor and Miss Letteller, Mgr. Cazeau and all the leading Roman Catholic clergymen of the city, Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Cauchon, Joseph Shebyn, M.P., Col. and Mrs. Rhodes, Judge and Mrs. Bonthier, and a number of leading citizens, including a large proportion of ladies. Two magnificent harps occupied the front of the stage, and completed the delightful coup d'œil. At a glance on the intelligent countenances of the young ladies, attired in spotless robes of white, sweet simplicity, lending charms to their grace and elegance, the distinguished audience knew that a rich treat awaited them; they were not doomed to disappointment, on the contrary, while the programme unfolded before them, the beaming smiles on all sides, spoke naught but surprise and satisfaction. The musical performances exhibited remarkable proficiency and the many fine voices, at Bellevue, show the care with which natural gifts must have been cultivated. Both harps and pianos were touched with so much perfection that the air was actually redolent of the gems of art from the genius of the most celebrated artists.

In a beautiful French dialogue, entitled "Nos Souvenirs," the audience was made cognizant with the principal events of the past year of convent life, and in elegant and graceful language the gifted young ladies lead all present through the spacious halls of their Alma Mater and even invited them to stroll in the delightful avenues which surround the vast edifice, to there witness the pleasant moments spent by the favored inmates of Bellevue, in that tranquil and charming solitude. Among those present who took prominent parts in this dialogue were Misses Mary Sharples, Annie Rockett, Statia Hogue and Stella Green.

This institution gains great celebrity by being under the direction of Rev. L. H. Paquet, D.D., whose rare attainments and qualifications are well-known throughout the country.

In the splendid cantata, entitled "Warblers of Bellevue's Groves," several young ladies came gayly forward to the sound of brilliant strains of music; each one bore an emblem of the warbler personated, this she gracefully waved to and fro. Birds in cages emulated the music of the orchestra and mingling the notes of nature with the notes of art, greatly enhanced the beauty of the scene. During the course of this well-imagined and beautiful cantata, a very agreeable half hour was afforded all present, who were spell-bound by the grace and ease displayed by the youthful performers. As the fairy-like beings vanished, after having vainly sought the victor's palm—we saw them go with regret—'tis ever thus with life—it pleasures are evanescent, a thornless rose is rarely culled. In this cantata, we were favored with a glimpse of Miss Labelle, Bellevue's nightingale. Her clear, rich voice enchanted the cultivated audience; the fairest songsters of the grove accompanied her. Among the many fine voices we particularly remarked Misses Rockett, Johnston, Pentland and Leonard—these young ladies vied with each other in the conquest for fame and power—but they enjoyed not the contest alone; the mocking bird joined perfectly imitated by Miss Carbray, aided by birds of various plumage the claims of which were ably vaunted by charming young ladies, whose elocution pleased those who had the privilege of listening to them. Miss Rose Mary Connolly, a charming little girl of five, represented the humming bird, and Miss Emma Bogue, the dove. The brilliant accompaniments on harp and piano rendered this cantata the musical gem of the entertainment, and elicited for it frequent and enthusiastic applause.

The presentation of medals and the distribution of premiums was the moment most favorably received by the pupils themselves. Golden wreaths encircled the brows of the young ladies who had finished their course of studies, and the plaudits that greeted each as His Honor conferred them, told how well these honors were recognized.

Among the musical selections was a splendid duet, beautifully rendered by the Misses Labelle. The composition was a difficult one, so that the fine high soprano of these young ladies had ample room for play.

TO SCHOOLS and COLLEGES

The happy recipients of gold medals were Miss Alice Johnston and Miss Laure Lapointe, of Quebec, and Miss Marie Boly, of Chicoutimi. Congratulatory addresses were read to these young ladies by their schoolmates, who presented them with bouquets, wreaths and scrolls. On the latter were inscribed maxims to guide their steps along the shoals and quicksands of life. For these priceless treasures, the youthful graduates, with feeling and pathos in every tone, rendered lively thanks to their companions, telling them that the sweetest souvenirs were attached to their convent home, and long would memory love to linger on its beauties and its charms.

These honors having been distributed a very beautiful melody styled "A la Mer de Dieu," was sung by Miss Boly; as the words conveyed, the expression was that of a soul languishing for a passage to heaven.

The programme might have been here considered complete, but a pleasing feature was yet to come. The Rev. L. H. Paquet arose and proclaimed the winners of the highest distinctive honors, the medals for general proficiency, presented by His Excellency the Earl of Dufferin. In eloquent terms this rev. gentleman lauded the constant efforts the incessant toil of these young ladies who had vied with each other in gaining this noble prize. The silver medal was equally merited by the two graduates, Miss Alice Johnston and Miss Marie Boly but as Miss Johnston had already received this magnificent and precious reward, she had relinquished all right of competition and left the coveted prize to Miss Boly, of Chicoutimi. In the contest for the bronze medal, Miss Nellie Green, of Quebec, was the successful candidate; in a class of 17. The happy recipients of these well won laurels were congratulated in a beautiful poetic address by Miss Rockett. She presented them Flora's most lovely gem, and expressed fond wishes for the friends whose path was to-day strewn with fairest flowers.

Miss Johnston in English, and Miss Labelle in French, addressed the Lieut. Governor and the audience, thanking them for their attendance. We may take this opportunity of testifying to the excellent accentuation of the pupils of the convent both in the French and English languages.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor replied both in French and English to the young ladies, congratulating them on the favorable impression they had made and the laurels they had that day earned, and alluding to the very practical and excellent manner in which they were trained in the institution to take their places in society. Suitable replies were also made by Mgr. Cazeau and Rev. Father Burke, and the proceedings were brought to a close with the performance of "God Save the Queen," at half past one o'clock.—Quebec Chronicle.

ST. MARY'S ACADEMY, WINDSOR.
Last Wednesday evening, the 20th of June, the closing exercises of the Windsor Convent were held at St. Alphonsus Hall, under the supervision of Prof. Mazurette, who gives instruction in the higher class of music in that institution. Miss Simoneau, of East Saginaw, received the Bishop's gold medal for general proficiency. The other three gold medals were awarded to Miss Suter, of Chicago; Miss Fitzgerald, of Cleveland, and Miss Matilda Simoneau, of Saginaw. In Prof. Mazurette's piano class, Miss Walsh, of Detroit, received the first silver medal, and Miss Baby, of Sandwich, the second. The first and second prizes in singing were given to Miss Schull and Miss Fitzgerald, while the Misses Jacques, Hurt and Sigler obtained the first, second and third prizes in reading music.
