

NO LEG NO LIMP.

Under the heading "A True Story," the Denver Medical Times tells the following:

"In the city of Denver there lives an old veteran with a wooden leg. One of his neighbors is a female 'Christian Scientist,' who is de facto a 'healer.' She had remarked the old man's imperfect gait, and at once set about on the sly to effect a cure, à la Mrs. Eddy: 'No such thing as a leg; hence, no such thing as a limp. Avaunt, limp, thou delusion of mortal mind!'"

"What was the healer's joyful surprise, a few mornings later, when she beheld our militant friend passing by with scarcely a sign of a limp. She eagerly hailed him on his return and said: 'Oh, my dear Mr. Blank, I have been constantly thinking and praying for your recovery, and it appears that my prayers have been answered. Now, what do you think of Christian Science?'"

"The old warrior, stared, reddened, grinned and replied: 'Wal, marm, you see my old wooden leg was mighty wabby, but this new piece o' timber that I got yesterday goes a damsite better.'"

It is in favor of the Christian Scientist that she gave her professional services free, at any rate.
