

Figure 11. Colour infrared film can be useful to detect poorly camouflaged military equipment. The camouflage net in this photograph does not match the spectral characteristics of the surrounding vegetation, making it visible in the photo. (Courtesy of David Dorschner, Aerial Intelligence Specialists)