

Natural Resources—Development

revolutionize the whole set-up. There will be a reasonable approach to the problem which must be taken if Canada is to provide employment for the young people of this country.

With the natural resources which we have, with our young people who are with us, we must meet that challenge. That is the challenge facing the government of Canada. If it is met, Canada will become one of the great nations of the world. If it is not met, Canada will languish and always be a secondary power depending upon the economy and spending of the great country to the south.

On motion of Mr. Lesage the debate was adjourned.

On motion of Mr. Harris the house adjourned at 9.56 p.m.
