Routine Business.

The first routine business of the day was the work pertaining to the organization of the association. The constitution and bylaws which had already been drawn up by a special committee, were presented to the general body, and they were passed without any changes. The constitution provides that the object of the association shall be to promote better social Advertising R. A. Baker, of the Baker Advertis-R. A. Baker, of the Baker Advertising Agency, was the first speaker after the noon adjournment, giving an address on "advertising." Mr. Baker pounded home the value of good advertising. He advised every dealer in attendance to apportion as high as five per cent. of his total earnings to advertising. Advertising, said Mr. Baker, could be divided into two parts. The written and the spoken. The written message was every bit as valuable to message was every bit as valuable to the merchant as the spoken message and it would reach more people.

Window display was another large item in promoting sales, said Mr. Baker, and he said that nearly every store-than 50 per cent. of the true value of his window advertising. In concision Mr. Baker made a strong appeal for honesty in advertising. "If one man, woman or child is fooled,"

they will tell a thousand."

Should Systematize

"Making Your Business Pay," was the topic on which F. W. Stewart of the Cluett-Peabody Co., Montreal,
spoke, In outlining his address Mr.
Stewart said that nearly 90 per cent.
of the failures in business in Canada were due not to lack of business, but lack of knowledge of business methods.

A paper on "Fire Insurance" was sive by W. G. Wright, insurance editor Saturday Night, contained a he dealers on what kind of fire insuracce they should invest in. Fire in-surance, said Mr. Wright, was a con-tract of indemnity which was fulfilled by the companies when all conditions were complied with. He advised the shoe men of a number of jokers which might be let go by unnoticed.

A number of questions on purely thop topics were discussed when the question box was opened and answered by Capt. Howard C. Blachford.

Other papers read were:
"Exchanges and Returns," H. W.
Rising, St. John N.B.; "Retail Shoe
Rivers Credits," Fred Argall, Three llvers, Que.; "Standard Cartons," led by Mr. J. W. Jupp; "Transient Traders," W. C. Miller, secretary Ontario ganization," Wm. A. Smith, Hamil-view of the Canadian forces generally, has given high meed of praise of the work of the Canadian as of all "Y's," and points out that the organization which attended to both the material and spiritual needs of the men at the front faced almost insuperable difficulties with that resource which has won admiration on all sides.

WILL PREVENT DISCRIMINATION

Veterans league officials have requested the C. N. E. officials to permit representatives of all soldiers' ack of knowledge of business methods.
The speaker gave an elaborate outline of how a small merchant should systematize his business methods and members of organizations may be well as the men who wear the war service button. They pointed out yesterday that there were many veterans of other wars who could not show the war service button for the present, who were nevertheless campaign men of the best type, men to whom permission should be accorded as heartily as to any others. If their suggestion is carried out, undue discrimination will be
